House Approves Roosevelt's Labor Dispute Bill

MEASURE IS SENT TODAY TO SENATE

Resolution Provides That President Establish Boards for Mediation.
GREEN NOT OPPOSED

Resolution Called Up in Senate on Unanimous Consent of All Present.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—The House approved today the administration's proposal for dealing with the rapidly widening threats of serious labor disputes. The joint resolution was sent to the Senate where it was first introduced after days of wrangling as a substitute for the highly controversial Wagner Labor Disputes bill.

The House considered the bill only about 10 minutes.

The leadership brought the measure up unexpectedly in the House, previously having indicated Senate action should come first.

The resolution authorizes the President to establish a board or boards to deal with capital-labor controversies developing out of interpretations of the famous "Section 7-A" of collective bargaining provision of the National Recovery Act.

A board under the resolution would be empowered to order and conduct secret ballot elections for collective bargaining purposes in industrial units.

House passage of the resolution left the chamber in a position to agree to conference reports on other "must" measures having completed passage of the long list of legislation demanded by the administration this session.

The resolution was called up by House Majority Leader Joseph W. Byrnes who asked unanimous consent for immediate consideration. Various members "reserving the right to object" asked a series of questions before agreeing to have the measure considered. No debate followed, and the resolution was approved without a division vote.

Chairman William P. Connery of the House Labor committee said he had just talked with President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and that Green "while preferring the original Wagner bill is not asking Federal friends to vote against this resolution."

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 16.—(UP)—Two bandits who obtained $600 from the Elk Grove branch of the Bank of America were believed to be hiding in the Sierras between here and Reno today.

Peace officers throughout the mountainous regions and in other sections of northern California kept a watch on highways but found no trace of the men.

The bandits entered the bank just before closing time yesterday. While one forced August Rutschhauser, teller, to hand the money to him, the other warned George M. Tavenner, vice president, to remain in the rear of the bank.

Rutschhauser and two druggists chased the bandits, who escaped in a car registered to Albert Heizer, Oakland, but lost sight of them near Wilton.

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(UP)—A blonde young woman identified as Lucille Young, 30, fell or leaped to her death from the fourth story window of her apartment early today. Police believed she killed herself.

Her unclad body was found by other tenants, aroused by a scream. The apartment house manager told police the victim, with another girl and two men, rented the apartment early yesterday, stating they had just arrived from San Francisco. The other woman and the two men left almost immediately, declaring they would return, officers were informed. The manager said Miss Young appeared nervous and tired.

Communications in Path Of Storm Disrupted; One Reported Killed

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—(UP)—Communication with towns in the path of a hurricane was disrupted this afternoon when the fury of the storm swept in from the Gulf of Mexico.

The wind reached a velocity of 75 miles an hour at Morgan, La., sweeping telephone and telegraph lines from poles. One man was reported killed at Grand Isle when a telephone pole was blown down.

Homes were abandoned. Townsfolk took shelter in downtown buildings.

Trees were laid flat and communication systems disrupted.

Rising tides were reported all along the gulf coast. At Pensacola, Fla., the tide was nearly two feet above normal.

The weather bureau predicted no more than moderate to strong southeast winds for New Orleans. A driving rain fell intermittently. The barometer dropped to 29.32.

The Bascabel, a tug with a tow of barges en route from Mobile to Houston, was reported in the path of the storm.

The present storm appeared east of Yucatan June 8, and then moved slowly across the peninsula and centered in the western Gulf of Mexico until June 13, when it took a northeasterly course headed toward the Louisiana coast.

All frame homes were abandoned at Morgan, Ferriday, Franklin and New Iberia and frightened families congregated in brick buildings.

Several buildings, including a

PREDICTS SCANDAL IN WAR DEPT. PROBE

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Prediction that the house military affairs committee investigation of war department purchase methods would bring to light "a scandal which will arouse the people," were made in the house today by Rep. John J. Cochran, D., Mo.

"The things this committee is finding out probably will open the doors of the pentagon to some government officers," added Cochran, saying he was "not at liberty" to disclose details.

MUSSOLINI AND HITLER PARLEY HELD SUCCESS

Austrian Independence Is Believed to Be Greatest Achievement

VENICE, June 16.—(UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, seemingly a bit dazed by it all, left by airplane today for the peace and quiet of Nazi Germany after a bewildering two-day visit to Premier Benito Mussolini which may prove of diplomatic importance.

Rising early from the Barbara Hutton-Alexis Midway honeymoon bed at his suite in the Grand hotel, Hitler left Lido, airport at 8:17 a. m. on the two-hour flight to Munich. There were two planes for his party of 16, including Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath. Mussolini was waiting at the airport.

During their two-day discussions, the Nazi chancellor and the Fascist dictator reached purely informal agreement that:

1. Austria shall maintain its independence.

2. The European armaments situation should be stabilized before actual disarmament is attempted, and Germany should be permitted to build up its armaments toward equality with its neighbors during a six-year period.

3. Mussolini's battered four-power peace treaty intended to bind Italy, Germany, France and Great Britain to keep the peace for ten years should be the framework of security treaties.

The agreement on Austrian independence probably is most important.

Austria has complained that Germany is sheltering Austrian Nazis who are conducting a campaign of terrorism and would like to start a revolution in Austria.

Italy is determined that Austria shall remain independent.

Mussolini plans next to have a conference with Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, and he hopes that the Hitler and Barthou conferences will open up a way for Germany to return to Europe's diplomatic councils, which she left last October 14.

PORT PROJECT WORK TO START EARLY MONDAY

Test Borings at Newport Harbor Are Ordered by Major Stickney

FIRST ACTUAL development work upon the Newport Harbor project as a federal government undertaking will start on Monday, when test borings will be undertaken throughout the harbor area, according to word today from Major Stickney, U. S. engineer at Los Angeles, in charge of the harbor development work.

The contract for the boring is held by the Standard Dredging company of Los Angeles, which, it is reported, plans to start work on the county channel north of Lido Isle and gradually be extended over the entire harbor.

Approximately 150 test holes will be drilled for the purpose of determining the kinds and quantities of materials to be dredged to attain depths of 20 feet at low tide in the main channels, 15 feet in the yacht basin, and 10 feet over the entire remaining area of the bay. There will be approximately 100 hours of drilling, it is reported, according to C. S. Hildebrand, resident engineer for the government.

Following completion of the dredging operations, the results will be checked and specifications drawn up for the dredging operations, for which bids will then be called.

Recently-submitted bids for jetty extensions and repair have been checked and forwarded to the district engineer at San Francisco, and the contract will be awarded immediately upon definite appropriation of money for the work in Washington, according to word today from Major Stickney's office.

Escaped Prisoner Caught in Illinois

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., June 16.—(UP)—Randall E. Norwell who escaped while serving a life term for the kidnapping of August Luer, was recaptured here today.

Norwell was captured in the three-room cottage of Peter Couch in a surprise raid.

He surrendered peacefully as officers threatened to "come and get you with a machine gun." He was taken immediately to the county jail at Belleville.

Norwell escaped April 28 by crawling through a sewer. He and two others were given life sentences on September 30 for abducting Luer, 77-year-old Alton, Ill., banker and holding him a prisoner for six days and nights. Two men involved in the kidnapping received five-year sentences and another a 20-year term.

Compromise To Be Sent Roosevelt

Workers Listen to Appeal Of President Green to Put Off Walkout

PITTSBURGH, June 16.—(UP)—Threat of an immediate paralyzing steel strike was ended today, pending reception of labor's compromise proposals which are to be placed directly before President Roosevelt in Washington.

A committee representing the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, dominant labor organization, will submit the proposals to the president. If the suggestions entailing setting up a commission to supervise all transactions between the companies and the men are rejected, the strike will be called immediately.

It was emphasized that the union "is abandoned only temporarily. If a strike comes, union strategy will be to take the men out of the mills without notice. No further meetings will be necessary. The leaders have the authority, voted them overwhelmingly, to declare the walkout."

Offers Compromise

Michael F. Tighe, conservatively-minded president of Amalgamated, will present the compromise plan to Mr. Roosevelt on Monday. In brief, it includes setting up an "impartial labor board" of three members to be appointed by the president, which will rule on all complaints arising from alleged violations of section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act, and more closely defines the right of employees to bargain collectively through their own organizations, chosen by vote "off company property."

The forceful oratory of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, saving the men back of the new plan and overcome a decided atmosphere of bitterness and insistence upon an immediate walkout. Green's argument that the mill owners should not be permitted to choose their own time and their own battlefield was one of the most effective points of his address.

Green's Proposals

Under Green's proposals, the president would appoint a board of three members which would have four duties and powers. It would:

1. Receive complaints and investigate and adjust violation of the labor provisions of the code.

2. Mediate and conciliate any dispute arising between employers and employees under the code.

3. Offer its service as arbitrator in any dispute between employers and employees "provided such dispute is voluntarily submitted for arbitration by both parties."

4. Hear and determine any matter of discrimination against or discharge of any employee in violation of section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act.

The board also would be clothed with authority to order elections by the men and to supervise such elections.

Finally, it would have the highest authority in determining issues of hours, wages and conditions of employment, when such matters cannot be determined through collective bargaining.

AGREEMENT SIGNED AT NOON TODAY BRINGS TO END STRIKE OF PACIFIC COAST DOCKMEN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(UP)—An agreement was signed today which ended the Pacific Coast Longshoremen's strike, it was announced here by the industrial association.

The signers were Joseph P. Ryan, president of the I. L. A.; Michael Casey, head of the San Francisco teamsters, and representatives of the Waterfront Employers' association and the industrial association. Ryan was the last to sign.

The signing of the agreement, which he believed all cities will be affected by the settlement.

The strike was called May 9 and gripped ports from Seattle to San Diego, Los Angeles, although affected by the strike, was not as seriously affected as other ports and managed to load and unload cargo by strike-breaking methods. Most of the traffic with Oriental ports was conducted through Los Angeles.

Huge freighters lay idle in San Francisco Bay and along the waterfront docks. The same condition existed in Oakland, Portland and Seattle.

Bloody clashes occurred almost daily between police and strike-breakers on one side and union men on the other. Several lives were lost and scores of men and women were injured. Gas bombs, revolvers, clubs and stones came into play as weapons.

Mayor Rossi was of the opinion the agreement would end immediately the 35-day strike which had paralyzed shipping in Pacific coast ports. He said the peace proposal had been discussed with leaders in other coast ports and

HUGH JOHNSON OUTLINES WORK OF PAST YEAR IN CONFERENCE

Tells of Hopes for Future Progress of National Recovery Program

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON
National Recovery Administrator (Written for the United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—"One year ago today I was asked by President Roosevelt to take charge of the boldest economic experiment in modern times. The progress we have made is written in stirring words that will not be erased, in our generation, from America's business history."

NRA offered industry a flexible ladder on which to climb out of the apparently bottomless pit of depression. The intertwined ropes of that ladder were shorter hours and increased pay for all workers; reemployment for millions; increased purchasing power; and regulation of competition by adopting codes of industrial self-government.

The blue eagle was chosen as the banner to be displayed by business firms to show that they had joined in the onward and upward march to national prosperity. The consuming public was asked to do its part by meeting slight increases in prices and share the added labor cost.

Under the blue eagle, permanent jobs have been found for more than 3,000,000 workers. National payroll income has increased several billion dollars. Basic wages of factory workers, miners, retail store clerks, and employees in hundreds of other industries and trades have been raised while maximum working hours have been drastically reduced.

Sweat Shop Out

Codes fixing maximum work weeks, minimum rates of pay, and eliminating destructive trade practices now cover 95 per cent of all industry and affect 24,000,000 workers. Profound changes have been wrought in working and living conditions, featured by abolition of discrimination against or discharge of any employee in violation of section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act.

The board also would be clothed with authority to order elections by the men and to supervise such elections.

Finally, it would have the highest authority in determining issues of hours, wages and conditions of employment, when such matters cannot be determined through collective bargaining.

SENATE AND HOUSE RUSH LEGISLATION

PRESIDENT WATCHES Chief Executive Announces He Will Leave on June 30 for Trip to Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Congress in a bill-a-minute burst of speed reached the half-way mark in today's adjournment race shortly after 1 p. m., when the senate passed the administration $1,000,000,000 housing bill and the house completed legislative action on the $1,750,000,000 deficiency appropriation.

Adjournment tonight seemed certain.

The senate immediately began consideration of the labor disputes bill designed to prevent a steel strike and generally to calm restless labor.

The house continued through mid-day to lead the senate toward adjournment. Strict house rules discouraged discussion. Only the foreboding of senators prevented windy debate.

Rep. Tom D. McKeown, D., Okla., tossed into the house bill a controversial and complicated bill to amend the bankruptcy bill to permit farmers to avoid foreclosures by small payments over a six-year period.

President to Sail

President Roosevelt followed the show from the other end of Pennsylvania avenue. Two hours convinced him that congress was going home. He announced he would depart for his Pacific ocean cruise June 30.

Sen. James P. Pope, D., Idaho, moved to increase the senate's adjournment lead with a favorable report from the agriculture committee on several AAA amendments. They would permit refunds of processing taxes on floor stocks of commodities when the AAA decreases or abandons any levy.

The senate hurried through adoption of a conference report on the Wagner-Hartfield bill to establish old age pensions for railway employees. It still requires house assent but is not classed among major legislation.

Simultaneously came the first threat to adjournment plans when Sen. Edward P. Costigan, D., Colo., said he would attempt to

DOTSERO CUT-OFF IS OPENED TODAY

BOND, Colo., June 16.—(UP)—Another victory over the mighty Colorado Rockies was recorded by man today when the Dotsero cut-off was opened, giving the nation a new transcontinental rail route.

Built by the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, the cut-off supplies the link in the transportation system which puts Denver on a through coast-to-coast route and brings the two capital cities of Utah and Colorado 175 miles closer together.

While 3000 persons stood by, the clear tones of a locomotive bell pealed through the signal that the 38-mile long Dotsero cut-off was officially ready to receive its cargo of trains.

FIRST SUMMER ACTIVITIES IN UNION SERVICE WASHINGTON TO BE DISCUSSED

Santa Ana's summer schedule of union church services will start tomorrow, with the opening service in the Spurgeon Memorial church at Church street and Broadway, where the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will deliver the message.

These Sunday evening union services will extend to September 2, located each Sunday at a different church, and with the various ministers or laymen presiding and preaching.

The general theme of the union services this summer is "The Message of Jesus For Today." This theme will be divided into three subjects. From June 17 to July 5, the subject of "The Message of Jesus to the Church" will be discussed. From July 15 to August 5, it will be "The Message of Jesus About Social Questions." From August 12 to September 2, the subject will be "The Message of Jesus to Special Groups."

The Rev. Owings will choose as his sermon subject tomorrow evening, "The Message of Jesus to The Local Church." The Rev. E. W. Matz, pastor of the Evangelical church, will preside over the service tomorrow evening.

Music will be provided by the host church.

J. F. Burke, who recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he conferred with high governmental officials and members of the president's cabinet and congress concerning matters of vital importance, will be the speaker at an open public meeting Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building, it was announced today by Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary of the Y.

Smedley said that he asked the publisher particularly to discuss the momentous statements made by President Roosevelt in his recent message to the congress on security of homes, jobs and old age.

It is expected that the speaker will pay particular attention to an analysis of the present plans of the national administration, including the much-discussed old age pension plan and unemployment insurance. The speaker also will discuss the general "situation as he sees it in the nation at the present time and what he believes the administration plans are now.

The public is invited by Secretary Smedley to attend the meeting.

URGES CHECKING ON SANITATION SYSTEM

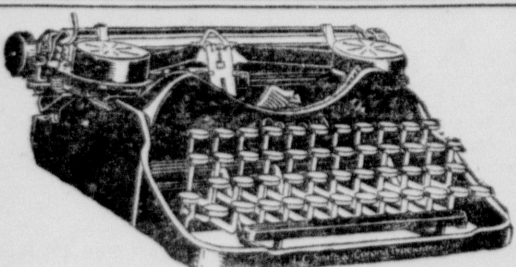

During slack periods of regular farm work, the sewage disposal system should be checked up on, according to W. M. Cory, assistant county farm advisor, to see that it will not cause trouble in the near future. "Perhaps by so doing inconvenience and lots of time will be avoided," he said. "Cesspools, sewer lines and even drainage lines from septic tanks have a habit of stopping up occasionally."

"It is better to anticipate trouble when the time can be spared than to wait until time can be taken very inconveniently from other tasks."

"Plans and specifications on the construction of household sewage disposal systems can be obtained from the farm advisor's office. Recommendations on the installation of such systems will be given upon request."

DISTRICT WILL SHIP 400 CARS IN WEEK'S TIME

Approximately 400 cars of citrus fruits will be shipped from this district during the coming week, comprising close to 200,000 boxes of packed fruit, according to estimates today following release of pro-rate figures.

Total shipments of Valencia oranges and grapefruit as fixed by the California-Arizona pro rate committee provide for 1490 cars from Southern California and ten cars from Tulare county. This figure does not include lemon shipments, which are not covered by the pro rate agreements.

Houses affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange will ship 307 cars of oranges during the coming week, one car more than last week's figures. It is estimated these houses will also ship more than 40 cars of lemons to the eastern markets.

The four M. O. D. houses in the Orange district, located at Orange, Olive, Tustin and Garden Grove will have combined pro rate shipments of some 50 cars of Valencia, divided as follows: Orange Mutual, 22 cars; Olive Hillside Grove, 8 cars; 37 boxes; Garden Grove Mutual, 7.2 cars and Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual, 13 cars.

Total shipments exceeding 10 cars are in prospect for the Garden Grove Mutual, according to Manager E. J. Smaile, including this week's pro-rate of 7.2 cars of Valencia, two cars held over from the past week, and export shipments of 825 boxes. The Orange Mutual Citrus association plans to ship four cars of lemons, in addition to the 22 cars of Valencia provided in the pro rate, according to Manager L. F. Finley.

The American Fruit Growers' house in Orange shipped nine cars of Valencia the past week, according to Manager F. R. Valentine, and will ship an approximate amount during the coming week. The American Fruit Growers' plant in San Juan Capistrano will probably ship seven cars of fruit during the coming week, according to Manager F. W. Rogers.

GETS JAIL TERM ON CHECK CHARGE

Mrs. Dorothy Sullivan who has a penchant for political clubs and bogus checks, and who occasionally has combined the two activities, received a sentence of six months in the county jail late yesterday from Superior Judge James L. Allen, as punishment for her latest lapse in the matter of bad checks.

Mrs. Sullivan, who first came to notice in Santa Ana through her activities in organizing a Garner club before the last presidential election, became involved at that time in check difficulties, and was forced to serve part of a six-months jail sentence as a condition of three years probation granted her May 6, 1932.

Following her release she went to northern California and has recently been connected with organization of political clubs in San Francisco. She also passed two more bogus checks there, according to information laid before the court here yesterday by San Francisco police. Mrs. Sullivan had been arrested and returned to Orange county for a hearing on the matter of revoking her probation. Judge Allen yesterday lectured her severely, but allowed her to remain on probation, with a six-months jail sentence attached.

HUGH JOHNSON OUTLINES WORK OF PAST YEAR

tion of the sweat shop and outlawing of child labor.

Abuse of child workers had been a blight on the whole industrial era. Law-makers, courts, and humane societies sought in vain to end the baneful practices. Practically every code now directly forbids employment of children under 16 years of age. Industry, labor and government brought about this shining achievement without any express mandate in the law.

The index of factory payrolls which stood at 38 a year ago has risen to 67, a gain of over 72 per cent, touching the highest peak of the last three years.

In hearings on the first 200 codes more than 1,800 unfair and destructive trade practices were disclosed. Worst of all was the expedient of selling below cost. It set up a vicious circle which ended in destruction of the consumer market and hysterical competitive underpayment and overworking of employees. Purchasing power was still further depressed.

"Loss Leader"

Although earlier attempts at rigid price fixing have been abandoned, the present NRA policy outlaws wilfully destructive price cutting and its eventuality of selling below cost. The "loss leader" which formerly lured customers into stores is generally prohibited.

A multitude of favorable reports show that the upward trend of recovery is reaching all types of industry, businesses large and small. The bureau of labor statistics reported in April only two manufacturing industries out of 90 failing to show employment gains over last year. Every one showed pay roll gains which enormously increased purchasing power.

The outbreak of labor disputes which invariably accompanies better times has been immeasurably relieved through efforts of the national labor board which has adjusted disputes affecting 2,000,000 employees.

Industrial Peace

Industrial peace has been brought to many industries, and will come to others, through industrial relations boards functioning under the codes. A special board of this type swung the automobile industry away from a serious strike threat early this spring.

The first anniversary of the day on which the president signed the recovery act sees all of American industry and trade mobilized in a practical plan to bring about complete economic recovery and to assure a more secure future for the whole nation.

The recovery administration, as such, will not go on forever. I shall not always guide the blue eagle's flight. I am absolutely certain, however, that a great many lessons learned in these trenches, warring against the sinister elements of unfair competition and oppression of labor, never will be lost from our guidebooks of business economy.

POLICE WARN ON ALLEGED BEGGAR

Housewives and citizens have been warned by police to watch for an alleged war veteran who represents himself as being deaf and dumb and asks for money.

When the man came to the home of Dr. Elizabeth Tock yesterday, she phoned veteran officials to verify his credentials. He fled from the house and is being sought by officers. It was learned that he secured a free license from the city clerk to sell pencils, but is in no way connected with local veteran organizations. It was said.

He is about 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, is 40 years of age and was wearing a brown suit.

WILL ROGERS says:

HOLLYWOOD, June 16.—(To the Editor of The Register)—Now that the prize fight is out of the road, the American people can settle down to the trivial things of life. The steel strike looks better than it has in weeks. Looks like a mighty fair proposal that Mr. William F. Green, president of the whole American Federation of Labor made, whereby the President is to appoint three disinterested men. Now if the steel men will agree to that, why it looks like that would finish it. Funny how long it takes people to see what to do, when there ain't but one thing to do. If Mr. Roosevelt can just get that strike fixed, and get those Congressmen out from under those government - paid - for electric fans by July 1, he will be sitting pretty.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

It has been the experience of most men who became great that what they planned to do appeared to be frustrated and what they yearned to enjoy was put out of their reach. Amid adversity their souls expanded and they accomplished the seemingly impossible.

Your experience is like theirs and, with God's help, you too will fulfill the mighty tasks which rest upon your shoulders.

WELSH—At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bryan Bostick, near Anaheim, June 15, 1934, Mrs. Nancy Harriett Welsh, aged 65 years. Widow of the late David Welsh and mother of Mrs. Clyde F. Called by Death

Mrs. Nancy Harriett Welsh, 65, resident of California for 26 years and of Orange county for the past six months, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bryan Bostick, near Anaheim, today.

She was the widow of the late David Welsh and mother of Mrs. Clyde F. Blair, of Phoenix; Mrs. Walter Morningstar and Mrs. S. B. Gardner, of Redlands; Mrs. Thomas J. Hunter and Mrs. Bryan Bostick, of Anaheim.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the chapel of the Smith and Tutthill Funeral Home, Sixth and Broadway.

PAYROLL WILL RUN $45,000 EACH MONTH

Developments in the program to put 1000 residents of Orange county to work on the new SERA program came fast today, as the county SERA committee, with Charles Schottland, state field agent, and W. M. Braley, state auditor, agreed on a number of important appointments in various departments of the administrative setup.

At a meeting this morning, W. J. Tway, former assistant director of the CWA program in Orange county, was named manager of the placement bureau. Tway will have charge of placing the persons to be given work relief on the jobs.

Dan Mulherson will be constructive supervisor and his duties will include assisting political subdivisions which sponsor SERA projects in preparing them and to supervise construction projects from the standpoint of requisitioned labor, it was announced.

Harry G. Wetherell, who has had many years of experience in banking and financial institution, was recommended by Braley for the position of assistant auditor. The committee reacted favorably on the recommendation. Wetherell's duties will be to take charge of the accounting for the county SERA project. Wetherell is giving up his other interests, it is learned.

Robert Walker, former assistant disbursing agent with the CWA, following considerable discussion, was named paymaster. Members of the committee pointed out that there had been criticism of Walker's employment on CWA because his wife is employed at the courthouse by the county. However, at the meeting today, Walker told the committee that his wife will either quit her job at the courthouse or take a six month's leave of absence. This was agreeable with all members of the SERA committee. Yesterday the committee adopted a general policy of not hiring anyone for jobs in the administrative positions if other members of their families are working, unless the circumstances are exceptional and are carefully considered by the committee.

Helen Cox, who is employed by the state SERA and who is paid from federal funds, will have charge of case supervision and all investigations of cases.

Using the $45,000 or more a month which the federal government, through the SERA, will spend in the work relief program in Orange county, those who have been on the relief rolls as of May 15 and at the present time, will be given work relief.

Schottland will stay here for about two weeks to act as director until a permanent director of the work relief program is named. Schottland said today that he is rushing the completion of the administrative setup and expects men to be working in about a week.

Yesterday the local committee set the maximum budget for large families at $50 monthly and planned to strike an average of $35 monthly for heads of families employed on relief rolls. Those employed will be paid in cash, while those on direct relief will be given orders.

AIRPORT OWNER GETS TERM IN SAN QUENTIN

W. F. Crawford, owner of a Seal Beach airport, who had pleaded guilty to a statutory offense against a 15-year-old girl whom he had employed in his office, was sentenced to a term of from one to five years at San Quentin, late yesterday after Superior Judge James L. Allen had denied his application for probation.

The court, in denying probation, spurned the excuse of the middle-aged airport owner that the young girl had made advances to him and had tried to sell herself to him. His further plea that he had offered marriage and was helping support her parents, also failed to gain clemency.

"I do not believe this man's story, and, even if it were true, how are we going to build up protection for the young girls and boys of our communities by overlooking such offenses as this?" Judge Allen commented in denying probation.

Louis Trujillo, arrested May 31 for a statutory offense against a 14-year-old American girl, pleaded guilty and asked for probation. Hearing was set for June 22.

Dewey Patton, Long Beach; Edmund Stevens, alias Edwards, and Paul Chisat, alias Carson, both of Los Angeles, were sentenced to a year in the county jail, after being placed on probation for ten years in connection with a burglary charge, based upon theft of chickens from the Max Hoeftner ranch near Talbert.

JUDGE RULES LEGISLATORS CLOSING LAW TALK TAXES AT IS NOT VALID TEACHER MEET

The midnight-closing clause of the Santa Ana city liquor ordinance was declared unconstitutional and in conflict with state regulation of the liquor traffic, in a decision given late yesterday by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, who granted a writ of habeas corpus sought by A. N. Caspari, Hof Brau cafe manager, arrested for violation of the ordinance.

Caspari had violated the midnight-closing clause by arrangement, in order to bring a test of the ordinance before the court. Attorney Z. B. West represented him in applying for a writ of habeas corpus, which was heard by Judge Ames yesterday afternoon.

West contended that the city has no jurisdiction to regulate liquor traffic, which control is vested exclusively in the state by section 22 of article 20 of the state constitution, which was voted by the people of the state as "amendment No. 2" on the ballot two years ago, a companion measure to the repeal amendment.

The attorney further pointed out that the state legislature, acting under authority of the constitution, enacted regulations that provide for closing between 2 a. m. and 6 a. m. and that municipalities lack authority for enacting conflicting legislation. The court upheld these contentions.

City Attorney Clyde Downing, opposing the writ, contended that the general police powers of the city gave it the right to enact regulations that might be more stringent than those of the state. Downing stated today that the court decision is appealable and that it undoubtedly will be carried up to the appellate court for a final decision. He expects to confer Monday with members of the state board of equalization regarding the question.

FIVE AUTOISTS IN COURT ON DRUNK CHARGES

Of five motorists appearing before Superior Judge James L. Allen at yesterday's regular criminal calendar, charged with drunk driving, two pleaded not guilty and demanded trial, while two others pleaded guilty and applied for probation.

The fifth, Joe Silva, had previously pleaded guilty and asked for probation, which was granted him at a hearing yesterday for a period of three years, on condition that he spend Saturday nights and Sundays in the county jail. His driving license was suspended for six months.

The court's ruling with respect to the jail sentence permits Silva to retain his employment during the week. The offense charged against him was committed May 6 at Ocean avenue and Huntington Beach boulevard.

Charles L. Hacker, arrested May 7 on highway 101 near the county hospital, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for July 11. Trial of Thomas R. Griffith, who also pleaded not guilty, was set for July 18. Griffith was arrested May 19 on Pomona avenue, Brea.

Oris F. Scoville, arrested June 8 on the Coast highway, pleaded guilty. Hearing of his plea for probation was set for June 22. William Hall, arrested June 2 at Laguna Beach, also will receive a probation hearing on that date, having likewise pleaded guilty.

Tranquilino Solorio, charged with failure to render aid after an accident in Santa Ana canyon May 20, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for June 25.

JUDGE RULES LEGISLATORS CLOSING LAW TALK TAXES AT IS NOT VALID TEACHER MEET

The state is not spending too much money upon its schools; the question of school finance is how to raise the money equitably, said Assemblyman Ted Craig of Brea, speaking yesterday at a luncheon in Julia Lathrop school cafeteria, attended by the Lathrop faculty and other educators of the city and county.

Craig and Assemblyman James Utt of Tustin, representing the two Orange county districts in the state assembly, both spoke before the 70 guests at the luncheon, discussing expenditures and budget deficits of other states. Those who have referred to a deficit of $140,000,000 mean that there could be such a deficit by the transfer of public utilities tax revenues from the state to the county, and the transfer of the county's school tax burden to the state, without some tax revenue plan to meet such transfers, Craig stated.

Craig complimented the teachers on their service and expressed his favor for tenure or some other plan to protect the teachers from becoming victims of the political spoils system. This protection is not primarily for the interest of the teacher, but for the interest of the child, he declared.

The present make-up of the state legislature, said Craig, is conservative, and he believes it will refuse to repeal such measures as the sales tax, or tenure, until some better plan is shown. He advised clear thinking and careful voting, after sifting out the facts from among the mass of agitation and propaganda of a political campaign.

Assemblyman Utt spoke briefly upon the state budget, saying that less than half of the budget is expended on education, the next largest item being highways. The expense of the legislature itself is only .003 of the whole, he said, so that if the legislature was entirely dispensed with, the saving would be negligible.

Principal H. G. Nelson of Julia Lathrop introduced the speakers. Besides the Lathrop faculty, those in attendance included County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson, Assistant Superintendent Arthur Corey, Principal A. Haven Smith of Orange high school, and others.

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

Veterans of the union labor movement are following the struggle in the steel industry with mixed emotions.

One group of oldtimers that grew up with the American Federation of Labor privately is cheering the belligerent Rank and File Committee on. They feel that some aggressive leadership is being given the workers after a lapse of too many years. They are happy to speak for the element which thinks William Green has been too pacifistic in his direction of the labor cause.

Another group views the situation with grave misgivings. They would turn back to the bloody Homestead strike of 1892 wherein the radical element took charge and public sympathy turned against the steel workers. They are afraid history may repeat itself.

The first school of thought raises a cynical eyebrow in the direction of Mike Tighe, veteran president of the Amalgamated Steel and Tin Workers. They say Tighe has lost so many fights he is far too ready to concede and compromise. Their sympathies are with William J. Spang and Earl J. Forbeck, chief spokesmen for the Rank and File Committee.

Other men, equally well versed in organized labor history, say Spang and Forbeck lack essential qualities of real leadership. Also, they advise that Pat Kush, spokesman for the radical Industrial Steel Workers, has been battling shoulder to shoulder with Spang and Forbeck in the preliminary negotiations. Kush was active in the Homestead strike and in subsequent labor disorders.

These conservative-minded union card-holders do not see how General Johnson was able to differentiate between Spang and Forbeck on the one hand and Kush on the other. All three have been demanding the same thing—recognition by the steel barons on threat of strike.

The riots of the Homestead strike almost assumed proportions of civil war. Radicals took control of the situation away from A. F. of L. leaders. The public finally turned definitely against the strikers when Alexander Berkman, an anarchist, attempted to assassinate the late Henry C. Frick, head of the Carnegie mill. Other disastrous strikes followed in 1901 and 1902, the union falling in its objectives.

Many service-stripped union men are praying ardently that 1934 won't witness a repetition of those walk-outs.

FISCAL
Treasury officials remain mute on the possibility of a further devaluation of the dollar, as predicted yesterday in the New York half of this column.

Secretary Morgenthau will say only—and he does it significantly—that "the Treasury is operating on a 24-hour basis." He declines to speculate on what may happen in the monetary field.

Administration officials are watching with interest the manner in which gold stocks have jumped on the Exchange in the last week. They are watching the British pound much closer.

Morgenthau was a disappointed man the other day. Last Saturday, 5,000,000 ounces of silver purchased in London arrived at New York. It was one of the largest shipments in history.

The Secretary had visions of headlines the following morning telling of the big purchase. Not a line appeared. He had to announce the arrival belatedly himself.

CHANGE
When the Treasury made public the fact that an extraordinary demand for subsidiary coins—half dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and cents—has almost exhausted the government's reserve supplies, Morgenthau told the newspaper men he didn't know the reason why such a demand had developed. More probably he was depending on them to put the proper interpretation on this situation.

It means that small business must be picking up. Five-and-ten stores, grocery stores, etc., are in need of more change all over the country apparently in order to transact increasing business. All three mints are running at capacity, with quarters most in demand.

LUCK
Inspection time frequently are quite necessary in the conduct of Uncle Sam's business. Sometimes they are to such places as to furnish the lucky official making the inspection with a virtual vacation.

Secretary of Commerce D. P. Roper is about to take off for Alaska to look into the salmon cannery situation.

With him will go his Assistant, Chester H. McCall, and Commissioner of Fisheries Frank T. Bell. Also some members of his family, it is understood.

ROOST
Dr. Willard Thorp, the Amherst professor whom the Senate refused to confirm as Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce because he was a Republican, and for other reasons best known to themselves, has landed a job in NRA as predicted in this column.

Thorp is attached to the Consumers' Advisory Board on a per diem basis, which means he draws between $10 and $25 a day. Mrs. May Harriman Rumsey, chairman of the Board, is his chief sponsor. She tried to place him with the National Emergency Council but there was no spot open at the moment.

It is planned to send Thorp out on a speech-making tour in the interests of the consumers.

JAZZ

Vladimir Rounn, correspondent for the official Soviet newspaper Izvestia, just arrived on these shores from Russia, probably knows more popular American songs than most professional singers.

Rounn has never been in the United States before, although he was in Geneva as the Americanized Russian. While in Tokyo as a correspondent several years ago he decided to learn to speak English.

He did so with the aid of phonograph and all the American jazz records he could lay his hands on.

AMBITIONS

The big business men who will meet shortly at Hot Springs have ambitions. They aim to chart a detailed course through conservative channels for Skipper Roosevelt's guidance and then sell him the idea of steering by it.

Most members of this self-appointed steering committee also belong to Secretary Roper's Advisory and Planning Council and many have served a term on the Industrial Advisory Board. Their ideas about New Deal mistakes have crystallized and they figure the time is ripe to set the administration's feet gently on the right path.

Their discussions will embrace all phases of industry's relations to government. They will focus on the theme that Washington's main job henceforth is to encourage private initiative in every possible way as the only sure road to reemployment and recovery. This of course will imply less regulation through NRA and especially greater freedom of employers to deal with labor according to their own lights. The conferees really expect to get somewhere with their recommendations because of a more sympathetic attitude towards their views recently shown in administrative circles.

Keen local observers think they would be wise to take out disappointment insurance to say nothing of due precautions against saying things which could be used against them later.

ADVISORY

The conference is almost certain to recommend creation of a permanent advisory board of business executives reporting directly to the President instead of to NRA. Participants believe the President should be kept posted to the minute on industrial sentiment. "Not on statistics—he gets plenty of those—but the real low-down on what business thinks of his policies without any intermediaries to twist what we say. He can't have recovery unless he learns to play ball with us."

From which you might correctly deduce that large business is feeling its oats again as the works in the national economy.

SHIFT

A number of industrialists who keep in close touch with Washington have the knife out for General Johnson.

They've been maneuvering sub rosa for some time to get him eased out of the picture and replaced by someone more in tune with their ideas. They've thought they had him on the skids more than once but each time he bounced back stronger than ever. Now they're just about ready to call it quits and wait for a complete shift in the NRA setup to eliminate the General.

Insiders expect that shift—when it comes—to bless the Federal Trade Commission with a bigger stepchild than all its other charges put together. But they also predict the transition will not occur until the NRA itself has been more perceptibly softened up.

SPENDING

The informed interpret Mr. Roosevelt's request for $55,000,000 for drought relief as a significant sign of federal spending ahead which will make the proverbial sailor look like a Scotchman on a desert island. They point out that the government has 3½ billion available for spending between now and January and could easily have taken the drought money out of that modest nest-egg if it didn't have definite plans for pouring the cash out elsewhere.

They also anticipate final abandonment of the old self-liquidating theory of public works and substitution of the principle that the only good dollar is a dollar in circulation—for almost any purpose.

CITY

The New York banks are fussing with the city fathers over Fusion just as they did under Tammany. At present both sides are privately calling each other all kinds of harsh names.

It's all because the banks are nervous about the city's load of short term debt and tried to get the city to convert it into a long-term 4½ per cent issue when the yield on outstanding bonds made that possible.

The city balked and its bonds rose to a 4-4½ yield basis. Now the Fusion folks are sore because they think the banks tried to chisel them out of an extra quarter per cent and plan to hold out until they can raise long-term money at 4 per cent. The bankers don't think the city's credit will ever become that good and are not because that good and are not because the authorities passed up a chance for "sound financing."

FARES

But Wall Street is pleased at the smooth manner in which a higher subway fare is being nudged across as a tax for relief pur-

OLIVE EIGHTH GRADE PUPILS GET DIPLOMAS

SOCIAL HELD BY METHODIST CLASS

ORANGE, June 16.—Climaxing a successful membership contest, members of the recently organized Junior-Adult Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, met Thursday evening in the Epworth hall for a social get together. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warner, leaders of the losing side in the contest, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, were hosts. The evening was spent playing progressive ruck. Prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Bell and Walter Adams. Refreshments were served to the following members: Mr. and Mrs. George Horton, Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Clapoff, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Aebersold, G. W. Serr, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Fishback, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nuffer, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Roddeck, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Warner, Dr. Dunning, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilton, Mrs. Lelah Hughes, Mrs. M. L. Smith, Mrs. Jack Van Anglen, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cox, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sipherd, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adams and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Williams.

Bride Is Guest At Shower Affair

ORANGE, June 16.—Complimenting Mrs. L. McCoy (Elsie Wenholz), who was married last week in Fontana, Miss Hazel Carr of 212 South Orange street entertained with a lovely miscellaneous shower at her home Thursday evening. Lovely garden flowers decorated the home for the occasion. Evening hours were spent playing whist, after which a midnight supper, served buffet style, was shared. Miss Carr was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. George S. Carr.

Guests of Miss Carr included Mrs. Esther Brewer, Mrs. Jewell Sudbrook, Miss Anna Winter, Miss Bertha Peterkin, Miss Ethel Suffer, Mrs. Edna Higgins, Mrs. Thelma Des, Mrs. Mabel Reid, Mrs. Mildred Chandler, Mrs. Frances Sorenson, Mrs. Frieda Over and Mrs. Anna Casto and the honoree.

Higher fare advocates believe this will nearly spike the opposition to such a tax for the city's general fund. Anyone who bucks a reasonable solution of the relief problem will have to do a lot of explaining.

Once the subway ante is raised its dollars to fill pickles on strap-hanger's squawk will ever reduce it again. The city's idea of buying the BMT lines as a prelude to unification also fits nicely into the Wall Street conception of a well-ordered world.

Lester and J. E. Riley, and City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake. Mayor Hogue of Brea, a member of the city Lions delegation, was introduced and took a bow, as also did former Councilmen Watson and Dierker, who were members of the city board when the park project was initiated.

The new ball park is said to represent an investment of some $1600 in municipal funds, required to finish the project for use, after preliminary leveling had been done with CWA funds.

The field will be used by both the county and the Orange city night ball leagues. The city league is planning to play three games each week, starting Monday, under auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Harry H. Nuffer heads the committee in charge of preparing the schedule for these games.

SEN. JOHNSON PETITION IS FILED TODAY

Sponsors of U. S. Senator Johnson as candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket today filed his nomination petition with County Clerk J. M. Backs, simultaneously with the filing of similar petitions by other sponsors in the various counties of Southern California.

Frank G. Pinkerton, of Santa Ana, who circulated Senator Johnson's petition in Orange county, filed it at the clerk's office with five signatures of sponsors.

These include Frank Was, Santa Ana banker; Mrs. J. E. Parker, citrus grower, of Orange; William F. Coulter, former mayor of Fullerton; A. B. Rousseau, president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce; and T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach mayor and former chairman of the county board of supervisors.

The state law limits the number of sponsors who may sign such a petition to five, Pinkerton explained today.

Details of the Elliott plan for flood control and water conservation were presented by M. N. Thompson, Orange county flood engineer, at a meeting of the Placentia Farm Center last night. R. D. Flaherty, Farm Bureau executive, showed slides of the sites of proposed projects included in the plan.

Graphs and figures were presented by Thompson in his explanation of the Elliott plan. He pointed out that it has been estimated that it would cost more than $11,000,000 to place the project in operation. He discussed the possibility of securing governmental aid on the proposed works.

One of the first projects to be taken up at the Y will be a model of the Orange county flood control district and the Santa Ana river, to be made in connection with the county flood control department.

Young persons under 18 years of age are asked not to attend the meeting tonight as a precautionary measure against infantile paralysis.

CAR FOUND STRIPPED
Completely stripped, the stolen car of D. M. Jellis, 1201 Highland street, was found yesterday by sheriff's officers in a field near the Southern Pacific railroad tracks a short distance west of Hansen road. The car was stolen June 7.

RULING HOLDS ATTORNEY TAX NOT INVALID

Decision of the appellate division of Los Angeles county superior court, holding that the Long Beach city ordinance levying a license fee upon attorneys is valid, is not out of harmony with the recent Orange county decision by Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine, of San Diego, who granted the appeal of Frank E. Ey, and set aside his conviction in Santa Ana police court on a charge of violating the license ordinance.

This was the view of local attorneys today, as they compared the two decisions upon city license ordinances, both of which were questioned by attorneys in test cases.

The test of the Santa Ana ordinance attempted by Attorney Ey when he refused to pay his city license fee on the ground that attorneys are licensed to practice by the state and cannot be required to have a city license, "misfired" as such test. When Ey's appeal came before Judge Turrentine, the court ruled only that the complaint against Ey was defective, no public offense having been stated under the ordinance. The phrasing of the complaint failed to show that Ey was conducting the business of an attorney, although it stated that he was an attorney, the court pointed out, in setting aside his conviction. The validity of the ordinance was not passed upon.

The Long Beach decision, however, upheld the validity of the city ordinance and the right of cities to license attorneys. "The tax is levied upon the business of practicing law rather than upon a person because he is an attorney," said the Los Angeles county court.

THREE MEN HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Charged with grand theft and burglary, three men arrested in Huntington Beach Wednesday will have their preliminary hearings in Santa Ana Tuesday at 10 a. m. They are being held in the county jail under $1000 bail each.

The men are Donald Jones, 24, Haskel E. Gaer, 25, and Charles S. Jones, 32, all of Montebello. They were arrested by Huntington Beach police shortly after having burglarized the Main street garage of nearly $350 in tools, which included a rebore and grinding machine, a rebar, valve facing machine and several wrenches.

The arrest was made after the front door of the garage was found open and police notified. Officers Gail, Bergy and Lavern Keller apprehended the three men in their car near the garage and found the tools in the back seat.

It is also believed that the men attempted to break into the Bob Hill service station and garage at Seventeenth and Huntington Beach boulevards about 11 p. m. Wednesday. Five windows were broken in the two building but nothing was taken, since a car driving up to the garage frightened the men away. Proprietors of a cafe near the garage saw the men as they fled.

$250 BAIL SET IN DRUNK DRIVING CASE

Arrested last night for drunken driving on Stanton avenue north of Stanton, Jose Hernandez, 32, Talbert, was arraigned today in justice court.

Acting Judge Chris Pann set the preliminary hearing for June 26 at 9 a. m. and fixed bail at $250. Hernandez was booked at the jail by California Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover.

ARREST NORDSTROM FOR BEATING WIFE

Paul T. Nordstrom, 39, 2104 Cypress street, was arrested for assault and battery at his home at midnight after beating his wife in the presence of Officers Joe Murillo and A. L. Steward.

Police were notified by neighbors who had been attracted by the screams of Mrs. Nordstrom, and Murillo and Steward were dispatched by radio. They arrived just as Nordstrom chased his wife into the yard, dragged her back in the house and then struck her several times while she was on the floor, according to police reports. He refused to open the door and admit the officers for several minutes, although they watched through the glass door and saw him strike his wife, they said.

He was booked at the jail at 12:40 a. m.

GROUPS SEEK SERA PROJECTS FOR S. A.

Further discussion on the securing of worthwhile projects for Santa Ana under the SERA program will be held Monday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, it was decided yesterday at a joint meeting of the planning commission and special SERA committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

W. C. Jerome, chairman of the booster group committee, presided at the meeting. City Engineer J. L. McBride was called in to offer suggestions and various enterprises were considered. At the Monday meeting, it is expected that many possible projects will be brought up, including drainage and sewer work, beautification of Santiago creek and possible expansion of Jack Fisher park along the creekbank, and building of new bandstand and restrooms in Birch park.

The group will present its findings before the city council, probably a week from Monday, so that action can be taken to have Santa Ana men put to work. No projects have been submitted to SERA officials to date by this city.

REAL ESTATE BROKERS WILL MEET TUESDAY

A meeting of all real estate brokers living in Santa Ana or vicinity and not members of the Santa Ana Realty Board is to be held at 7:30, Tuesday evening, June 19, at Ketter's cafe. It was announced today.

This meeting will nominate a real estate broker not affiliated with the local realty board to be one of the nominees for the district code control board. This board will cover Orange county as a tentative control district, the exact boundaries of which will be fixed later by the state control board.

The date of the election of the code board from among the nominees throughout the county will be announced later, and ballots sent to all qualified brokers.

The Real Estate Code became effective April 19, and while now operative, the local administrative machinery is now being formulated by the National Control Board, the details of which will be forwarded in the near future.

All real estate brokers automatically come under the code, and all standards, requirements or regulations of the state laws affecting brokers, which are more stringent than the provisions of the code, will remain operative.

An official copy of the code will be available at the meeting, from which information can be given to those present.

This musical family has traveled to every state in the Union, and have appeared before audiences in both secular and sacred programs. They have the highest recommendations from hundreds of religious leaders of every denomination, music experts, radio stations and service clubs.

The family consists of Charles English, his wife, son and daughter.

RENOVIZE YOUR PLUMBING

No. 22 of a Series

Look for No. 23 Monday

Put a

SANITARY ENGINEER

to Work!

When you put a licensed and bonded plumber to work in your home, you are securing the services of a Sanitary Engineer, whether he calls himself that, or not.

The plumber helps to avoid pestilence and epidemics, by keeping your sink, your bath, your toilets, and all the pipes, drains, and vents in workable, safe, and sanitary condition.

He crawls under the floor or into the attic, where you have never been, and sees that everything is in good shape, or else makes it that way.

He complies with the city, county, and state regulations for sanitary safety, and when the modern plumber gets through, you can enter and live in your home in peace of mind, knowing that your plumbing system is SAFE!

Sanitary laws were made for YOUR safety and YOUR CHILD'S safety; for the safety of your family and your tenants, and you cannot afford to countenance even the slightest evasion of their provisions.

Take your plumber's advice and let him put in the BEST, so that your gas pipes, your water pipes, and your drain pipes may reflect 100 per cent sanitation and safety.

Don't ask him to cheapen the job with inferior materials or workmanship, for such weakness is bound to show up in your home some day. And sometimes the price of weakness and inferiority and cheapness is too great to pay!

Get a reputable, established, and licensed Sanitary Engineer in whom you have confidence.

Then tell him how you want your plumbing system Renovized and extended and checked over and made safe.

Then agree to pay him a fair price for the work, including labor, material, and overhead cost, plus a reasonable profit, and YOU'LL GET FULL VALUE FOR EVERY DOLLAR!

You'll get a plumbing system that will stand the test of wear and tear and time. Anything less is not true economy or commonsense, or sanitary safety, which should be one of the first requirements in every home.

So, Put a Sanitary Engineer to Work this summer of 1934.

VOTERS DEFEAT VALENCIA HIGH BOND PROJECT

PLACENTIA, June 15.—Falling short 38 votes, the $200,000 bond issue for building a new Valencia high school was defeated by voters of the Placentia Union Grammar school district yesterday. The light vote cast, 867 of a registered total of 1397, showed that little interest was felt in the issue.

About one year ago Placentia Union Grammar school district held an election and voted to withdraw from the Fullerton Union High school district. Following a vote favoring withdrawal, a large group of residents of the Richfield and Yorba grammar school district, part of the Union Grammar school district, filed an injunction against formation of the district and have held the issue in court. During the campaign for the bond issue, a group objected on the grounds that those favoring withdrawal had declared there was to be a saving of taxes in the withdrawal of the district.

Placentia district, including the city of Placentia, voting at the Bradford school, passed the bonds, 457 to 64. Commonwealth district, also part of the Union district, defeated the issue, 77 to 64; Richfield district, 108 against and 17 for, and Yorba district voted 78 against and 8 for the bonds.

The problem facing the board now is to vote for direct taxation for building buildings for the Valencia high school, to hold classes in the grammar school, or to vote themselves back into a contingent school district. The board is to hold an adjourned meeting at 1:30 p. m. Monday, but whether the school problem will be discussed was not revealed by members yesterday.

The speaker touched upon the fight waged by Sinclair for the betterment of wage earners, making brief references to his books dealing with social and economic ills.

"Upton Sinclair is not in this campaign for fame or money, he has launched a crusade for the uplift of humanity the effects of which will transcend the borders of California," he observed.

The main portion of the address was devoted to an explanation of the legislative program outlined by Sinclair in his so-called "EPIC plan," dwelling at some length on tax features designed to relieve the burden of small taxpayers. Discussing the old age pension proposal, Pickrell said that it would automatically do away with the poor house, an institution which, in the opinion of the speaker, "has no place in our present civilization."

The speaker stressed the importance of electing members to the legislature who are in sympathy with Sinclair's program.

COUNTY BOARD TO GET SEWER PLANS JUNE 19

MIDWAY CITY, June 16.—Final plans for the proposed sewerage system here will be presented next Tuesday to the board of county supervisors by Engineer George Bates.

The cost of the proposed sewerage system is approximately $70,000. Of this amount it is expected to vote $25,000 if permission for the bond election is given by the supervisors, the remainder of the cost to be provided through SERRA.

Approval of the amount for all labor needed on the project has been granted. It is understood that materials must be furnished by the district. Purchase of the land for the sewerage farm must be made by the district.

If the election be held and the bonds passed the approximate expense in the way of taxes for land owners of the district would be $11 per $1000 valuation, it is stated by those in charge, a lot valued at $700 being taxed at 89 cents per year. This taxation would gradually drop each succeeding year.

Considering the upkeep of individual septic tanks and cesspools the committee declares that this rate of taxation would not add greatly to the present cost for the property owners.

The committee in charge consists of Pat Foran, Dr. Russell I. Johnson, Ed L. Hensley and E. N. McAllister.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

A Guide to Civilized Loafing, by H. A. Overstreet, published by W. W. Norton.

The author of "Influencing Human Behavior," "About Ourselves," "The Enduring Quest," etc., canvasses the field of possibilities for article loafing quite thoroughly. It is alarming in his approach for one does resent someone else's telling us how to dispose of our leisure time, if any. He makes a nice approach. "In the future," he says, "we shall grow leisure-wise. While we shall doubtless learn to put more dignity into work and to make it a fulfillment rather than a depletion, nevertheless, in our leisure we shall find the means for cultivating the interests, powers and delights that should be our human privilege."

Under the heading of civilized loafing comes the matter of being alone and at other times of being social, of building a skillful body, of the development of the sportsmanship spirit, of adventuring through thought, of realizing our environment, of handling material, of traveling, of mastering time, and of taking some things seriously.

It is a book which provokes the individual into constructive work on his leisure time. Everyone has some leisure time, these days, and if a reader thinks in reading this book through that most of the pleasures and joys which the author paints so attractively as the pleasures of loafing are closed, to him it is getting anything at all out of his leisure time for he isn't even aware of it.

This doesn't mean that he is wasting his loafing time but that he isn't getting most fun out of it. "It is sometimes suggested," says the author, "that people must be taught to improve themselves in their leisure time. There is something offensively moralistic about that—something long-faced and accusatory. We had best trust the more generous view of the poet Macfie, when he writes, 'The hours that make us happy make us wise.'"

"Guide to Civilized Loafing" is a helpful handbook for the study and pursuit of a fuller, more interesting and self-rewarding life.

The House in the Hills, by Somme Ratel, published by the Macmillan company.

"The House in the Hills" is an engaging novel about a woman's devotion to her children, her steadfast application to their welfare and, although it doesn't bring her through to the end of her life, it ends with the exemplification of her ultimate success. The book reminds one of "No Second Spring." In that book the woman was the mother of several children with whom she was delightfully companionable. Her husband was a dour minister. The setting was a break coast of Scotland where the community was isolated by fog from the rest of the world—a circumstance which had deleterious reaction on the people who lived there. There are pretty, joyous scenes of the wife romping with her children, broken into by the too serious husband and father who thought it very unbecoming for his wife to romp so with the children. Into that situation comes an individual who appeals by nature to the wife, and she to him. She renounces her own happiness which seems to be with this individual for the sake of her children. The end of the book is a bit dubious for the children all die. It was rather a cynical literary misfortune. "The House in the Hills" is more charming than "No More Spring" for the emphasis is on the children and the mother has more singleness of purpose. She never even has room for more than a maternal regard for the man who loves her. An interesting angle of the book is the study of the childhood conditioning of the husband and father on his adult life.

Whether or not one is interested in the theme from the standpoint of the problems in human relationships which it presents, the book is delightfully readable.

"Rebel Destiny," by Melville and Frances Herskovits, published by Whittlessey House.

The survivors of mutineers of "The Mutiny on the Bounty" fame might get together and compare notes with the descendants of the African Negro slaves who three hundred years ago revolted against their masters on the Dutch Guiana plantations and fled to the jungles. The authors of this book went into the Dutch Guiana jungles to have a look at the Africans, found they had preserved in them a bit of seventeenth century Africa more primitive, more native African than anything to be found in Africa today. They were uninfluenced by the white civilization which has influenced the African tribesman.

Frances Herskovits, one of the co-authors, was asked if it didn't need a special kind of high courage to venture into the less frequented corners of the earth. She replied, "I cannot persuade myself I am that brave new woman people like to picture. There was, for example, that incident in West Africa, when we noiselessly left our car to observe a herd of antelope, and I came back to find a field mouse in my seat. It is dreadful to think that the prestige of white women had suffered in that episode in the Ashanti bush...."

Summer is over, the old cow said, And they'll shut me up in a draughty shed by lamplight in the cold. To milk me by lamplight in the cold. But I won't give much for 1 am old.

It's long ago that I came here Gay and slim as a woodland deer; It's long ago that I heard the roar Of Smith's white bull by the sycamore.

And now there are bones where my flesh should be, My backbone sags like an old roof tree, And an apple snatched in a moment's frolic Is just so many days of colic.

I'm neither a Jersey nor Holstein now But only a faded sort of a cow. My calves are veal and I had lief That I could lay me down as beef; Somehow they always kill by halves—

Why not take me when they take my calves?

"LITTLE MAN" AT WEST COAST SCREEN MONDAY

"Little Man, What Now?" starring Margaret Sullivan, has been booked by Manager Lester J. Fountain to show for four days at the West Coast theater starting Monday, it was announced today. Eagerly awaited here, the picture is just now showing in Los Angeles. The second feature on the program is "Sing and Like It," with ZaSu Pitts and other noted comedians in a riotous, frivolous farce.

Taken from the famous novel by Hans Fallada, "Little Man, What Now?" is declared to be one of the most dramatic and absorbing films of the year. The action of the entire picture takes place in Germany, and concerns the most human and touching story of the times, telling of the lives of young couple's troubles in present day conditions, emerging from the depression.

Douglas Montgomery plays the leading role opposite Miss Sullivan. Others in the cast include Alan Hale, Catherine Doucet, DeWitt Jennings, Hedda Hopper, Muriel Kirkland, Donald Haines, Mas Marsh, Fred Kohler, Bodil Rosing, George Meeker, Paul Fix, Christian Rub and Sarah Padden.

"Sing and Like It" offers a delightful contrast to the other feature. The picture stars ZaSu Pitts and Pert Kelton, featuring Edward Everett Horton and Nat Pendleton. The story centers around the head of a gang of crooks who get himself and others into jams because of his weakness for sentimental songs. Convincing comedy villainy is contributed by Stanley Fields, Matt McHugh and Joe Sauers.

JOE E. BROWN FILM TO PLAY AT WEST COAST

With all its color, action, blare and beauty, the circus will be shown on the screen of the West Coast theater starting Friday for three days, where Joe E. Brown will appear in the First National picture, "The Circus Clown." The second feature on the program is "The Great Flirtation," the amazingly frank story of the private lives of a famous theatrical couple.

One of the greatest comedians in the history of filmdom, Joe E. Brown, has actually lived the life he depicts in "The Circus Clown." He is supported by an exceptionally capable company, including the entire cast of the Al G. Barnes circus. He brings to his audience a screamingly funny comedy that is replete with love interest, thrills and action and which at times has a touch of pathos.

Patricia Ellis plays the leading feminine role opposite Brown. Donald Dillaway, Dorothy Dunsen, Harry Woods, Gordon Sheehan, Bonnie Crosby, John Sheehan, Spencer Charters, Tom Duran, Earl Hodgins and Bobby Caldwell complete the cast. Elissa Landi, Adolphe Menjou and David Manners have the leading roles in "The Great Flirtation," written by Gregory Ratoff, while the supporting cast includes Lynne Overman, Adrian Rosley, George Baxter, Judith Vossell and Paul Porcasi. The film concerns the hectic love affair of Menjou, Budapest's greatest matinee idol, and Miss Landi, who he loves. She marries him, although she does not love him.

A Terrytoon cartoon, "Slow But Sure," with World News Events, is included on the program.

Birch turns yellow and sunac red, I've seen all this before, she said, I'm tired of the field and tired of the shed.

There's no more grass and no more clover; Summer is over, summer is over, —Collected Poems of Robert Hillier.

OAKIE COMEDY AT BROADWAY ON THURSDAY

"Shoot the Works," which won the hearty applause of a large audience which saw it at a "sneak" preview here last week, will open a three-day engagement at the Broadway theater Thursday, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Starring such famous comedians and players as Jack Oakie, Dorothy Dell, Allison Skipworth, Lew Cody, Roscoe Karns and Arline Judge, the picture was declared to be particularly enjoyable because of the wealth of music supplied the famous orchestra leader, Ben Bernier, the old maestro, and his orchestra.

Jack Oakie plays one of the strongest roles he has ever been given in "Shoot the Works," as a promoter who cannot resist gambling, even though it costs his success and nearly loses for him a singer with whom he falls in love. His pride keeps him from following the girl, who becomes famous as a vocalist with Bernier's orchestra.

Replete with comedy, the fast-moving picture is sprinkled generously throughout with music. Several new songs are presented in the picture.

Manager Fountain was able to obtain the latest Buster Keaton comedy, "Allez Oop," which, with a special selection of short subjects, completes the bill. The shorts include "Gulliver Mickey," a popular Mickey Mouse cartoon, a Chic Sale oddity, "Old Shep," and Register World News Events.

"CAROLINA" TO BEGIN RUN IN S. A. TOMORROW

"Carolina," the story of a poor Northern girl who goes South to grow tobacco on the plantation of a decadent but dignified old family, and the sorrow and happiness she finds there, comes to Walker's State theater tomorrow for a three day run on a double feature program.

The other feature is "Hold That Girl," starring Jimmy Dunn and Claire Trevor. Janet Gaynor as the girl who is nearly robbed of her happiness, and Lionel Barrymore as the old Southern Colonel, have the leads in "Carolina" and are supported by Robert Young and Henrietta Crosman. Janet inspires the son of the family to new heights of ambition, but meets great difficulties in his mother, who opposes her bitterly, living in the glory of the past and the poverty of the present until the girl shows them the way to wealth again.

"Hold That Girl" is the story of a young detective who falls in love with a girl reporter while they are both covering the same assignment and relates their exciting experiences in battling a gang of big city crooks. She is involved with the crooks and is ordered "put on the spot" and some of the most tense moments come as death hangs down on her in a careening car, while her lover speeds frantically in an effort to save her.

A novelty, "Sunny South," completes the bill.

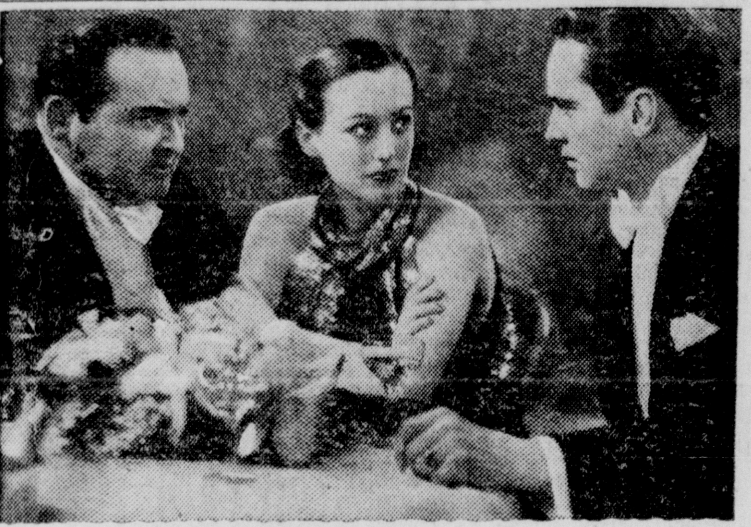

WESTERN THRILLER ENDS RUN TONIGHT

The final showing of George O'Brien in "The Last Trail," a Zane Grey story of racketeering activities transferred from the big city to the western plains, will be given at Walker's State theater tonight.

Short subjects on the program include a news reel; a cartoon, "Bully's End," a Harry Langdon comedy, "The Big Flash," and a chapter of the serial, "The Wolf Dog."

IN "SADIE M'KEE"

AT WEST COAST NOW

Warner Baxter and Rosemary Ames, below, as they appear in "Such Women Are Dangerous," a Fox comedy-drama combining romance, intrigue and tantalizing mystery which shows for the last times tomorrow at the West Coast theater with a mirthful comedy feature, "Here Comes the Groom," featuring Jack Haley, Mary Boland and Patricia Ellis.

IN STORY OF OLD SOUTH

TWO FEATURES NEW CRAWFORD CLOSE MONDAY FILM SUNDAY AT WEST COAST AT BROADWAY

Dashing, debonaire Warner Baxter plays the starring role in "Such Women Are Dangerous," new comedy-drama which opened yesterday and plays for the last times tomorrow at the West Coast theater, sharing the screen with a second feature, "Here Comes the Groom," a timely comedy filled with variety and action.

Three lovely women desire the thrill of Baxter's embraces and kisses in "Such Women Are Dangerous." He plays the role of a handsome bachelor-novelist. One of the women commits suicide, and Baxter is accused of the murder. The humorous and exciting developments through which he is extricated from the situation provide an amusing and interesting climax.

Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson, Mona Barrie, Herbert Mundin, Henrietta Crosman, Lily D. Stuart, Irving Pichel, Jane Barnes, Mat Moore, Richard Carle and others form the supporting cast.

"Here Comes the Groom" is an unusual story of a bewildered young piccolo player in love with one girl, but honeymooning with another. Jack Haley plays a hilarious, hard-boiled type, a sympathetic clown whose antics are always funny.

The supporting cast includes Mary Boland, Patricia Ellis, Neil Hamilton, Isabell Jewell, Larry Gray, Sidney Toler, E. E. Calvert, James Burtis, Ward Bond, James Farley, Snowflake, Arthur Treacher, Ernest S. Adams and Edwin Sturgis.

A Willie Whopper cartoon, "Insult to the Sultan," and World News Events are included in the program of selected short subjects.

Clark Gable Film Billed At Broadway

Three stars, Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy, united for the first time, come to the Broadway theater starting Sunday, June 24, in MGM's new production, "Manhattan Melodrama." It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Laid in New York, the picture presents Gable as a big-shot gambler and racketeer, powerful and dramatic figure of the city's smart night life. Powell is the district attorney, who, reared with Gable and always his friend, is forced to choose between faithfulness to his public trust and prosecution of his pal for murder. Miss Loy is the woman in both their lives, loved by both.

The supporting cast included Leo Carrillo, Pat Pendleton, George Sidney, Isabell Jewell, Muriel Evans, Thomas Jackson, Claudette Kaye, Frank Conroy, Noel Madison, Mickey Rooney and Jimmy Butler.

Litling music, gorgeous gowns, luxurious settings and Joan Crawford at the head of one of the most brilliant casts ever assembled for a motion picture are ingredients of "Sadie McKee," new MGM production which opens at the Broadway theater Sunday for a four-day engagement, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The music, supplied by Brown and Freed, ace song-writing team, includes the theme song, "All I Do Is Dream of You," "Please Make Me Care" and "I Looked in Your Eyes."

Joan Crawford plays one of the outstanding roles of her remarkable film career in "Sadie McKee." Franchot Tone plays the romantic male lead. With a supporting cast including such "names" as Gene Raymond, Esther Ralston, Edward Arnold, Earl Oxford, Jean Dixon, Leo G. Carroll and others, the story is said to be one of the most gripping ever translated to the screen. The story was written by the internationally famous Vina Delmar and was printed serially in Liberty.

"Sadie McKee" is a vivid dramatization of the average American girl, with the dramatic background set in a small town and in New York City. Tragedy, love and suspense combine to make the film outstanding.

The special selection of short subjects includes a comedy, "Mr. W's Little Game," a cartoon, "Bovary Daze," a Grantland Rice Sportlite, "What Price Speed," and Register World News Events.

KATHLEEN NORRIS STORY AND "SON OF KONG" COMING

"Son of Kong," a fantastic adventure story, and "Walls of Gold," from Kathleen Norris' novel by the same name, come to Walker's State theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

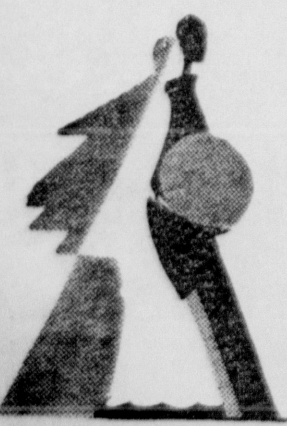

Fires, floods, earthquakes, buried treasure, gigantic prehistoric beasts and reptiles, a giant ape, a dauntless explorer and his beautiful sweetheart are combined in a thrilling story on the screen in "Son of Kong," in which the progeny of "King Kong," together with Robert Armstrong and Helen Mack, have the leads.

"Walls of Gold," with Sally Eilers and Norman Foster in the leads, is a story that deals with the problem of a young and beautiful girl who must choose between love and the comforts of wealth, and how she learns that gold can prove a wall to keep her from true happiness. "Harmonica Rascals," a novelty musical film, is included on the mid-week program of entertainment.

Ants—the Greatest Household Nuisance

But the Easiest to Control

The ordinary household ant is generally regarded as the most exasperating nuisance with which the housewife has to contend. What many women do not appreciate, however, is that it is the easiest to control. All that is necessary is to spread a little of that marvelous remedy, Kellogg's Ant Paste, where the ants are accustomed to enter, and in an amazingly short time there will not be an ant left in the house. It never fails. The winter rains followed by unusually warm weather have made conditions ideal for a big ant season. Be prepared by ordering a package now. Kellogg's can be obtained at all drug-gists. Insist upon the original.

New Officers Inducted
At Music Arts Club
Dinner Session

Music and song, friendly congratulations and readings leading up to an inspiring address, all contributed to the charm of the informal ceremonial which last night attended the advance to the presidency of Music Arts club, of Mrs. W. B. Snow, well known musician of the city and organist at First Methodist Episcopal church.

Installation was in connection with a dinner at The Corner House, attended by musicians and their friends from this city and Orange with a number of members of Long Beach Music Arts club as special guests. The dinner menu, planned under direction of Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, was served to the accompaniment of flowers and soft candlelight which make Corner House dinners so enjoyable.

Officers Presented

Mrs. Harry Matthews (Ollima Enlow Matthews), retiring president of the club, on a northern vacation trip with Mr. Matthews, telegraphed her greetings and congratulations to her successor, to whom she had delegated the pleasant duty of conducting the meeting. Mrs. Snow asked for introduction of visitors, who included Mrs. Alice Durham of the Long Beach group, acting as mistress of ceremonies in presenting to the Santa Ana club its new officers. These were Mrs. Snow, president; Clarence Gustlin, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, second vice president and membership chairman; Mrs. Edward Scales (Sally Lee Scales), third vice president and social chairman; Mrs. J. Leslie Steffensen (Mary Steffensen), secretary; Mrs. Jay C. Hamill, treasurer; Leon Eckles, parliamentarian; Earl Fraser, sergeant-at-arms, and Miss Carolyn Haughton, historian.

Mrs. Durham also introduced among the Long Beach guests, the new president of Music Arts club, the parent organization, Miss Pauline Farquhar, well known artist and teacher of that city.

Program Numbers

Program features of the evening, climaxing with the address by Dr. Bates Booth, member of the U.S.C. faculty and a deputy district attorney of Los Angeles county, opened with the host club's "Greetings Song," Mrs. Thomas H. Willets (Cecile Fross Willets), as program chairman, introduced the various features, including the Elks' double quartet with its director and accompanist, Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Messrs. Alex Garroway, John Miller, Fitzgibbon Gibbs, William Gillette, Henry Filer, Frank H. Pierce, Dr. H. K. Sutherland and Walter C. Vieira comprise this singing group, and a promise of what was to come last night was given in their clever introduction of themselves in a succession of sonorous chords. Opening with "Invictus," richly dramatic, they continued with their first interpretation of a jazz number, "Little Grass Shack;" "With a Song" with Mr. Pierce as baritone soloist, and as an encore number, "Wagon Wheels," with Mr. Filer in the solo part.

Miss Betty Jo Willets gave readings in marked variety, Don Blanding's "How to Know Hawaii," an amusing John V. A. Weaver sketch in the vernacular, and the beautiful William Butler Yeats poem, "Fiddler of Dooney" with Miss Armstrong playing a muted piano background. Edward H. Burns completed the musical program with "cello solos for which Miss Armstrong was accompanied by Matheson; "Cantilena" by Goltzman; "Scherzo" by Von Gons, and an encore number, Schumann's "Träumerei."

Mrs. G. K. Evans of Laurel, Miss., arrived Thursday morning for month's visit in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miller, 1310 Louise street. She has visited here on previous occasions and has many friends who will be happy to welcome her return.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miller had as house-guests earlier in the week in their Louise street home, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burnett of Arkansas City, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harvey have returned to Balboa Island from a week's stay at Arrowhead.

Inspiring Speaker
In opening his address, Dr. Bates Booth paid tribute to Byron Pitts, Los Angeles district attorney, for whom he was substitute speaker, declaring that the latter's fidelity to his duties caused him to give personal supervision to every minor case that came into the district attorney's office. Many of the problems deal with youth, and the speaker stated that it had been estimated that fully 120,000 roving children entered and left Los Angeles during the past year. The alarming growth in juvenile delinquency and troubles pertaining to wayward youth, he felt might be avoided if there were more music with its softening and refining influence, introduced into the American home. "Those with music in their hearts, cannot commit crimes of violence," he asserted.

It was Dr. Booth's opinion that treating existing crime conditions with values unless more treatment might be administered the cause of crime, and that education along cultural lines played a tremendous part in this treatment. In concluding his thought-inspiring talk, he told some of the dramatic and stirring features of life in the district attorney's office, especially in relation to recent crime developments in Los Angeles and its vicinity.

Before the evening came to a close announcement was made of the concluding club event of the year, the meeting of July 6 when retiring officers will present the program.

MISS RUTH DICKEY
When Miss Ruth Dickey this June completed her fourth year of teaching home economics and physical education in La Habra Grammar school, it was with the knowledge that she would soon apply the principles of her teaching to her own home. For at a smart May breakfast at Los Serenos Country club, she revealed her betrothal to Lyall Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sutton, pioneer residents of La Habra. Miss Dickey is the daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Dickey of Hemet, and her father will read the wedding service for the young people in June 20 at La Verne. They will make their home in Bakersfield where Mr. Sutton, a pharmacist graduating from U. S. C., is in business.

Quiet Church Ceremony
Unites Santa Ana
Couple

Miss Wanda Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gilbert, 517 West Fifth street and Lowell Cole were married yesterday morning at a quiet 8:30 o'clock ceremony in First Christian church. The pastor, the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, officiated.

Relatives and close friends of the young couple comprised the group of guests in attendance. The bride was charming in a pale green frock with which she wore matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and maiden-hair fern.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Cole made an early start for Tyler, Wash., where they will visit with the bridegroom's parents and other relatives. They plan to be away for about a month, returning to their residence in Santa Ana. Mr. Cole is employed with Crockett Cleaners. Mrs. Cole attended Santa Ana High school.

Successive Evenings
Devoted to Dinner
Bridge Functions

Having initiated a series of quite delightful social affairs with several bridge luncheons of recent date, Mrs. Irvin F. Landis and Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer continued their hospitalities into the current week with a duo of more formal affairs.

The beautiful big home of Mrs. Landis' father, C. W. Ellis, 602 South Birch street, was the scene of the later functions as it was for the luncheon series. There Lieutenant Commander Irvin F. Landis, Mrs. Landis and Mrs. Borgmeyer, last night welcomed some thirty-two guests to dine at the grouped small tables in advance of the evening's contract contest.

Soft candlelight and quantities of flowers enhanced the charm of crystal, silver, and fine linens apparent at the dinner hour each night. The flowers were especially lovely, and the majority of them had been sent by Mrs. James Irvine, for each of the two functions.

On Wednesday night when Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Landis and Mrs. Borgmeyer received their first group of dinner guests, eight tables were called into service both for the dinner hour and for its sequel of contract. High scores were made by Mrs. Wade Warner and Samuel W. Nau with Mrs. Leonard G. Swales and George Briggs making second high scores. Each was handsomely rewarded.

Last night when the same delightful plan prevailed, high scores were made by Mrs. Will A. Flood and H. T. Dunning, and second high by Mrs. Edmund R. Gregory and Clara T. Johnson.

Guests at the duo of dinners were all from Santa Ana and its vicinity with the exception of Mrs. Lowden of the Bay Cities who is in the Southland as house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine of Irvine ranch.

Bridge Players Enjoy Evening Party With Miss Dunbar

Members of an informal bridge club were entertained Thursday evening when they met in the home of Miss Dorothy Dunbar, 1117 South Garney street. Here an abundance of yellow gladioluses had been arranged together with fragrant Japanese lilacs as decorations.

Following the bridge session, first prize of a clever pottery vase was presented Miss Roselind Schilling, while second prize of guest bath soap went to Miss Marjorie Berkner. The hostess then spread card tables with crisp linens, and refreshments of a frozen fruit mold topped with whipped cream and cookies were served with coffee.

Present in addition to the hostess, Miss Dunbar were Mrs. Clyde Higgins, and the Misses Roselind Schilling, May Hasenjaeger, Helen Demetriou, Miriam Samuelson, Marjorie Berkner, and her house guest, Miss Leona Faltis, of Minneapolis, Minn.

April Bride Is Made
Honor Guest at Gift Shower

Complimentary to Mrs. Frank Musselman jr., the former Miss Evelyn Carney, was a party of delightful features given Thursday evening by Mrs. Dale Park in her home at First street and Tustin avenue.

Entertainment was provided by bridge and hearts, small tables being placed amidst the flower decorations of the home, in readiness for the arrival of the guests. Miss Frances Parks scored among the dozen bridge players, with Mrs. Lloyd Morris holding low score. Miss Shirley Groomer made high score at the single table where hearts were played. Each of the three received a pretty prize from their hostess.

For the refreshment hour succeeding the games interval, Mrs. Park had the assistance of her cousin, Mrs. Herbert L. Smith, and of Mrs. Harry Miller in arranging tables and in serving the dainty dessert course. This was enjoyed by candlelight, provided by the slender yellow or pale green tapers centering each linen draped table, and giving emphasis to the same pretty colors among the many flowers.

As a climax to the evening, Mrs. Musselman had the privilege of opening an assortment of packages and claiming the variety of lovely gifts which her friends had selected for the home she and her husband are establishing in Santa Ana. Their marriage was an event of mid-April.

Mrs. Park had as her guests, Mrs. Musselman and the latter's mother, Mrs. Ray E. Carney; her own mother, Mrs. E. O. Ahern, Miss Tom Musselman, Mrs. Mary Strader, Miss Mary Fitzpatrick, Miss Miriam Samuelson, Mrs. Herbert L. EAT AND GROW SLIM

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Beef stew with fresh vegetables
Jellied lime and grape fruit salad

Clear tea or black coffee.

Use steak ends or buy solid beef cut for stew. Your butcher will have it cubed in right sized pieces around fifteen cents per pound. A family of four will find 2 pounds ample for dinner.

Then the cubed beef in a hot skillet until well seared, then put it in a kettle with a little hot water, a bay leaf, onion, parsley, clove of garlic, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer until tender (2 or 3 hours). An hour before the meat is done add 1 bunches of new carrots, peeled and sliced, 2 cups of green peas, a small can of corn, and some string beans if available. Even mashed potato can go into this stew to help thicken the gravy and give "body" to the stew.

Cream has a habit of going sour on a hot day. When you have some you might try—

Sour Cream Waffles

1 cup flour
1-2 cups sour cream
1 tsp. soda dissolved in cream
1 egg white beaten stiff
1 tsp. vanilla

T-2 teaspoon nutmeg.

Add beaten yolk to cream and soda, a scant teaspoonful of salt as well, and mix with the cupful of sifted flour. Add the vanilla and nutmeg, whip well, and fold in the stiffly beaten white. Makes waffles for three.

A HEART-BREAKINGLY
PRETTY MORNING FROCK
PATTERN 1748
BY ANNE ADAMS

Here is a morning frock that women just love to see—and before you know it, you'll have one down like a snap. Maybe it is that feminine little frill at the edge of the yoke that does the trick and maybe it's the come-hither of those little puffed sleeves—and again maybe it's just the whole pretty business. As to the cause we are a bit hazy, but there is no doubt about the effect. If you are the kind of woman who just must improve upon a thing, however good—or if you need two new morning frocks—try making one of plain material with a contrasting yoke and belt trim.

Pattern 1748 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 3/8 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

The smartest warm weather fashions, the newest fabrics, and the summer season's outstanding accessories are illustrated and described in the NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK FOR SUMMER. WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Risen Lord

Text: Matt. 28:1-20
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 17.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Calvary was not the end of the gospel story. From its shadows and its darkness we merge into a new dawn.

The closing and permanent chapter came with the actual dawning of day as Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to the sepulchre before it was fully light, that they might be near the place where the Master whom they loved had been buried.

How beautiful an incident is this! Here were these women without any expectation that they would find anything but a sealed tomb. If there were hope in their hearts of a resurrection, if they had understood any of the mysterious things that Jesus had said concerning his return, we have no evidence of it in Scripture.

On the contrary, when they came to anoint the body of Jesus they were deeply concerned about the great stone that sealed the sepulchre and about how they should find someone to roll it away. There was not in their hearts any hope of finding an unsealed tomb and a risen Lord.

What a touching picture of love and loyalty! If any power might bring one back from the dead, would it not be the power of such faith and such loyal love? Perhaps it was not, after all, a mere coincidence that it was to such women as these that the living Christ was revealed.

It was not unnatural that the great emotion of the experience should have created in their hearts both fear and joy. They were in the presence of an incredible mystery, yet the thought that their Lord was living, and that they should see him again, was larger than any sense of fear or wonder. Then, as they went to tell the disciples, how simple was their meeting with Jesus. He confronts them in the way, and, bidding them "All hail," enjoins them to have no fear, but to go and tell his brethren that they shall see him in Galilee.

It is fitting that such a lesson as this should end in the great commission, in the gathering of his disciples, eleven instead of twelve, into a mountain, and the appeal of Jesus that they should go forth in his name and in his power to teach all nations. Here was launched a world-wide movement, the significance of which is only beginning even after nearly 2000 years.

We look back and we see all that this commission and the love and power back of it have accomplished in human life; yet we look around us in the world and we see how sin and selfishness are still established in high places, and how even the very progress of man in worldly knowledge is used to defeat his highest interests and ideals, as, for instance, in the power of destructive armaments, the organization of unrighteous causes, and many other false manifestations of progress.

We look forward and we see how even another 2000 years may be but a small time to fulfill nay-thing like the richness of the purposes that are promised in the gospel and that have been fulfilled in some measure as the gospel has taken hold of human life.

We, also, must go with Jesus into the mountain and receive the great commission if we would have faith and power. When we think of this world that these disciples saw, a world in which their Master had just been spurned and rejected and crucified, should it be harder for us than for them to have faith? Perhaps it is cheering to read that some doubted even in this group of earnest disciples. If we ourselves at times doubt, it may give us strength to keep within that circle of disciples where our doubts may be turned into glorious convictions.

There is no place where doubts become so small and faith and conviction become so great as in the presence of the Master.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KIM

The pretty maid sat on a stool and shortly said, "Now, as a rule, of bossy stands real still while I am getting milk from her."

"However, all you Tines had best stand far back. 'Twill be to bad, if she starts kicking up her heels. Such things, you know, occur."

"Aw, she looks too kind," Duncy said. "I'm going up and pat her head. With animals I always can make friends. I'll prove it, too!"

"There really is no cause for fright. When you talk kindly, you're all right." Then, when he patted bossy, Scouty said, "That's brave, for you."

The milkmaid then said, "Someone run and get some cups. 'Twill mean some fun for all of you, because I'm going to fill them to the top."

"If you do what I've asked you to, when you return I will be through with milking. I am good, you see, and never spill a drop."

Wee Scouty ran like everything, exclaiming, "I will gladly bring the cups. I'm very thirsty and the milk will taste just fine."

He reached the milkmaid's house and then was shortly running back again. The maid jumped up and said, "All right, tots, form into a line."

Each Tinykite soon has his fill. Then Duncy said, "I want the thrill of milking your bossy. I once lived upon a farm."

ORANGE COUNTY MUST BE KEPT CLEAN

The other evening The Register wrote editorially on some facts that were presented to the Law Enforcement League of Orange county by the sheriff.

These facts, together with evidence that The Register had in hand before, pointed very clearly to an attempt being made by gambling and other forces to get control of law enforcement agencies in the county. We pointed this out in an editorial.

The Orange News, we find, on the same day wrote along the same lines, and their editorial is so strikingly similar in tone that we are printing it herewith. It follows:

"Various rumors that liquor and gambling interests of Los Angeles are seeking a foothold in Orange county and to that end are engaged in a conspiracy to unseat the law enforcement officials whom they cannot control, were brought into the open by the County Law Enforcement League investigation.

"If there is a basis of fact for such rumors—and recent events seem to indicate that there is a planned effort to break down the effectiveness of the sheriff's office—it is time for the people of the county to turn their attention to the situation.

"In Orange county we cannot permit those interests which seek profit through the subversion of law and the corruption of our citizenship to gain a foothold. 'The county has always been free from protected vice and can remain free with reasonable vigilance.

"It by no means follows that Sheriff Jackson is the only man who could effectively fight such interests; but he is the man who is being placed 'on the spot' and it is certain that the gambling and liquor interests will gain little if the decent people of the county come to believe that he is the object of such a conspiracy.

"It is also certain that, to gain any foothold in this county, these interests must first remove the present sheriff. Whatever objections may be advanced against him, his integrity is above challenge and while he remains in office, underworld interests must seek other fields of operation. Orange county is not available for their uses.

"Without regard to the political hopes of individuals, the people of Orange county must meet the challenge of those who would break down the safeguards of law."

The Register does not believe that the editorial department of a newspaper should be used by its publisher to support friends and oppose those who may be unfriendly.

It has editorially endeavored to foster certain principles in government and ideals in social life, and to do so it has favored those men for public office, where there was any difference between candidates, who more nearly represented the purposes and ideals for which the paper was contending.

The field for public service ought to be open to all men, and with those equally prepared and whose aim is the highest form of service to the community, the engineery of a publication should not be used for one against the other.

When the interest of the taxpayer, or the principles of law, the support of our finest ideals and institutions, are embodied in one or more candidates, and are not so typified in other candidates, there is an obligation on all citizens who are familiar with such facts to point them out.

This The Register will continue to do, realizing that the masses of the people have not the means of knowing the facts as thoroughly as those who give their lives to the gathering and publishing of news.

PASSION-AROUSING PLOT FAILS
IN ORANGE COUNTY

We were glad to note that the sheriff called attention to the general peaceful times in Orange county, compared with the conditions in some of our surrounding counties, where hatred has been aroused and hostility created by charges, incriminations and recriminations from one group to another respecting labor.

There was a well-laid plan, that was being carried out, to create this same condition in Orange county. And a wonderful service was rendered this county when our sheriff served notice upon all people that he was going to fulfill his oath of office and uphold the constitution and the law and protect everyone, everywhere, in the exercise of their rights under the law and the constitution.

It is not difficult to arouse the passions of men, through misinformation and untruth, so that they will reach the point that, in the interest of institutions which they cherish, they will commit violence in order to protect their cherished institutions, which, however mistaken they may be, they have been made to believe by misstatements are in danger. This is the way all forms of war are carried on.

Those who are interested in armament will cause the statement to be given out that another nation is arming or that another nation is stirring up animosity against our own. In consequence of this, appropriations are made for the army and navy. Then the potential "enemy" notes it and, without one of the charges against him in the first instance being true, he becomes aroused and starts to arm. So the arming continues until finally, in the hates that have been created, war breaks out.

The Register knew full well that there was no menace existing in Orange county, and it revealed the actual facts. Those who had ulterior purposes in creating false impressions have not liked the work that The Register did at that time. But frankly we conceive it to be as good a service as this paper ever rendered upon any proposition since its beginning.

We think the conditions in Orange county prove it. We appreciate the part that the sheriff contributed toward that end.

UNIQUE PARK RULES

The Department of Public Parks of New York City has drawn up a new set of rules to govern the people making use of the parks of the city. One of them prohibits "arguing with, inciting, or abusing any bird or animal in the park or the zoo."

The language of the last two prohibitions is clear, but we fail to understand how a bird or an animal can be argued with. It has never occurred to us that it is possible to argue with a hawk, or a pheasant, or an eagle, or a monkey, or a seal.

Birds and animals need to be protected against those who would taunt them or poke at them. We cannot conceive that an argument with a bear or a monkey could have much effect upon them one way or another.

Another one of the rules requires that no one can carry a bouquet of flowers into any public park. It can be checked at the entrance as umbrellas and packages are checked in museums, but not carried into the park.

This, of course, is to prevent the picking of flowers within the limits of the park. No one can get away with a nice bouquet on leaving the parks of New York with the excuse that he carried it in.

Such rules ought to be unnecessary, but we know they are not. Never, perhaps, will all people be educated to respect property rights in a park or out of it.

It may be added that it is still permissible to feed peanuts to the elephant and to the monkey, and to debate with the parrot. But it will not be permissible to poke the seal with a stick to see him hop into the water, or pull the monkey's tail to hear him squeal.

This may spoil the enjoyment of some folks. We are inclined to believe, however, that it meets the wishes of the animals and the birds, and also the great masses of the people who visit the parks.

JUSTICE HOLMES STILL GOING
STRONG AT 94

Justice Holmes, retired, of the United States Supreme court reached his 94th birthday last week enjoying life as usual. He is reported as having sent a greeting to a friend of 76—a mere boy to the aged jurist—advising him to stay young.

No one has a better right to give that advice. Until nearly his 90th birthday, the distinguished justice carried on his work as a member of the court. At that age he had earned a vacation from the arduous duties of his high office. Not many can carry on so long. In these days, when the retiring age is being quite generally fixed at 65, Justice Holmes is a marvel.

But Justice Holmes is a marked exception. Very few men are actively worth much to society at that extreme age. Because he continued to function satisfactorily through the eighties, is no reason to believe that all men should continue on so long. Most men and women do well to recognize that there comes a time much before the eighties or the nineties when the younger generation should be permitted to have their fling in the world's great battlefield of life.

Animals Dumb? No!

The average man or woman who likes animals and is convinced that his or her pet understands a half dozen familiar commands may be surprised to learn that several "animal dictionaries" have been written.

Gabriele D'Annunzio, the Italian poet, has announced that he will include a complete glossary of the canine language in his new book, "Lives of Illustrious Dogs." The book is to be modeled after Plutarch's "Lives."

Other animals whose vocabularies have been recorded are the monkey, the horse and the cat. An American woman, Miss Blanch W. Learned, was responsible for classifying 32 terms of the chimpanzee, together with the meanings of each. Other scientists have tabulated 12 "words" of the marmoset language and 14 of the gibbons.

The horse is said to speak with "six words and three kinds of neighing." Cats produce 15 sounds, according to the experts, each with its distinct interpretation. There are 12 "words" in the hen's vocabulary and 5 in the rooster's.

From all this it seems that it is high time that the phrase, "our dumb friends," went into discard. It was always a libel.

Automobile Death List Commands

San Bernadino Sun

Statistics may seldom be taken "straight," but must be mixed with related circumstances and much common sense, if they are to be helpful. According to the report of a casualty company to the convention of the National Accident and Health association, automobile accidents comprise 49.7 per cent of all the mishaps in the United States that bring death, injury and destruction of property. Contrast was made with the records of horse and buggy days.

Everyone agrees that there is danger in the speedy automobile, too much danger and too much negligence. Well-considered effort is being made everywhere to reduce this hazard. But it is not clear thinking to convict the automobile as an enemy with the bald statement that it is responsible for half the accidents. If 99 per cent of the people of the United States were placed in wheel chairs tomorrow, we should see a record comparable to that just quoted. We would have our speeders and light crushers and hit-skippers as usual, not as deadly, of course, but as numerous.

ON RECEIVING A TRAVEL BROCHURE

Dear Messrs. Tourists Agents:
I quite agree with you
That some day I
Before I die,
Should fare this wide world through.
I'd like to visit China,
I want to see Japan,
I yearn to go
To Mexico
As well as Hindustan.

Your brochures are alluring;
I'd love to climb the Alps,
And spots where Reds

Took one another's scalps.
I long to visit Egypt
And climb a pyramid;
Had I my way
Some early day
I'd be the Travelled Kid.

One thing alone restrains me
What time I pine to roam;
If it did not
I'd quit the spot
That I perchance call home.
I'd swarm up Chimborazo
View Greenland's fields of ice,
If but I had
A rich old dad
To ante up the price.

Life

BY GLENN FRANK

A THREE-FOLD PRICE FALLACY

There is no public issue upon which, just now, there is, in my judgment, more loose thinking than upon the issue of prices.

There is a great body of Americans firmly convinced that a general rise in prices is vital to our full economic recovery, and that the slickest trick for reaching this end is a progressive depreciation of the currency.

I challenge the soundness of this contention.

We should not try to raise all prices but only those that have fallen disproportionately, such as farm prices. If we succeed in forcing a general lift in prices we shall but increase the cost of living for the millions. Unless, of course, we force a greater general lift in income. And that does not seem imminently in the picture.

Any single device, such as currency depreciation, if it succeeds at all, raises all prices. It does not produce a selective price rise.

It simply is not possible to offset a general rise in living costs by dictating a rise in wages generally, unless concurrently policies make possible a vast forward thrust of business volume and the creation of new profits out of which to finance the increased labor charges.

And, even if we could by edict make wages keep pace with prices, there is no conceivable justification for thinking higher prices generally are desirable. Higher prices are, I repeat, desirable in those fields where prices have been jammed below the line of reason and minimum production cost. But otherwise sound social policy suggests lower prices wherever economically possible. Only so can volume and sounder consumption standards prevail.

It is becoming daily more important that we examine proffered remedies in terms of their ultimate effect upon the day-to-day living habits and living standards of America's millions.

GRADUATION DAY

Boys and girls: Graduation Day marks the end of one stage of your growth and the beginning of another. You are about to start your in-between time now and that is very important indeed. These in-between years have a great deal to do with what you are to become by and by.

You leave elementary school today. That is an indication that you have grown to the stage where you are about to leave off being a child and begin on that period where you are partly a child and partly a grownup. As you advance you grow toward the mature end of the period. You are more a grownup than a child, but always you have some of that child in you to keep you happy and hopeful and ready to grow.

This in-between time is trying for you and for your teachers. You aren't sure of yourself and yet you feel that you ought to be. You are as big as the teacher, maybe bigger. You feel that you ought to be as wise and as dignified and as responsible. You try that idea out and the first thing you know you are in trouble. The teachers are annoyed and your parents are troubled. You can't see why. You did what you wanted to do and you thought it was all right and they are upset about it. They think you are mistaken and you can't see why.

That all happens after you graduate. You really don't know just how to manage in this new stage of growth and you make mistakes. Take a commonsense look at the whole matter. Why not go a little slowly at first. Listen to what the high school teacher is trying to say to you. He wants to head you right. He wants to show you the easiest way about. Welcome his suggestions. Do your best to cooperate with him. If you do there will be little of that storm and stress that so often upsets the lives of adolescent high school boys and girls. Remember that you are a child in a large part of you yet. You have to grow out of that stage and into young manhood and womanhood. High school provides the time and place and opportunity for that growth. If you make good use of it you will be well out of childhood and heading

Resolution Provides That President Establish Boards for Mediation.

Resolution Called Up in Senate on Unanimous Consent of All Present.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—The House approved today the administration's proposal for dealing with the rapidly widening threats of serious labor disputes. The joint resolution was sent to the Senate where it was first introduced after days of wrangling as a substitute for the highly controversial Wagner Labor Disputes bill.

The House considered the bill only about 10 minutes. The leadership brought the measure up unexpectedly in the House, previously having indicated Senate action should come first.

The resolution authorizes the President to establish a board or boards to deal with capital-labor controversies developing out of interpretations of the famous "Section 7-A" of collective bargaining provision of the National Recovery Act.

A board under the resolution would be empowered to order and conduct secret ballot elections for collective bargaining purposes in industrial units. House passage of the resolution left the chamber in a position to agree to conference reports on other "must" measures having completed passage of the long list of legislation demanded by the administration this session.

The resolution was called up by House Majority Leader Joseph W. Byrnes who asked unanimous consent for immediate consideration. Various members preserving the right to object, however, have had questions before agreeing to have the measure considered. No debate followed, and the resolution was approved without a division vote.

ELK GROVE BRANCH BANK IS HELD UP

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 16.—(UP)—Two bandits who obtained $600 from the Elk Grove branch of the Bank of America were believed to be hiding in the Sierras between here and Reno today.

Peace officers throughout the mountainous region and in other sections of northern California kept a watch on highways but found no trace of the men. The bandits entered the bank just before closing time yesterday. While one forced August Rutishauser, teller, to hand the money to him, the other warned George M. Tavenner, vice president, to remain in the rear of the bank.

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(UP)—A blonde young woman identified as Lucille Young, 30, fell or leaped to her death from the fourth story window of her apartment early today. Police believed she killed herself.

The apartment house manager told police the victim, with another girl and two men, rented the apartment early yesterday, stating they had just arrived from San Francisco. The other woman and the two men left almost immediately, declaring they would return, officers were informed. The manager said Miss Young appeared nervous and tired.

Communications in Path Of Storm Disrupted; One Reported Killed

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—(UP)—Communication with towns in the path of a hurricane was disrupted this afternoon when the fury of the storm swept in from the Gulf of Mexico. The wind reached a velocity of 75 miles an hour at Morgan, La., sweeping telephone and telegraph lines from poles. One man was reported killed at Graceland when a telephone pole was blown down. Homes were abandoned. Townsfolk took shelter in downtown buildings.

Trees were laid flat and communication systems disrupted. Rising tides were reported all along the Gulf coast. At Pensacola, Fla., the tide was nearly two feet above normal.

The weather bureau predicted no more than moderate to strong southeast winds for New Orleans. A driving rain fell intermittently. The barometer dropped to 29.32.

The Bascobel, a tug with a tow of barges en route from Mobile to Houston, was reported in the path of the storm.

The present storm appeared east of Yucatan June 8, and then moved slowly across the peninsula and centered in the western Gulf of Mexico until June 13, when it took a northeasterly course headed toward the Louisiana coast.

All frame homes were abandoned at Morgan, Ferriday, Franklin and New Iberia and frightened families congregated in brick buildings. Several buildings, including a

MUSSOLINI AND HITLER PARLEY HELD SUCCESS

Austrian Independence Is Believed to Be Greatest Achievement

VENICE, June 16.—(UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, seemingly a bit dazed by it all, left by airplane today for the peace and quiet of Nazi Germany after a bewildering two-day visit to Premier Benito Mussolini which may prove of diplomatic importance.

Rising early from the Barbara Hutton-Alexis Mdivani honeymoon bed at his suite in the Grand hotel, Hitler left Lido, airport at 8:17 a. m. on the two-hour flight to Munich. There were two planes for his party of 16, including Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath. Mussolini was waiting at the airport.

During their two-day discussions, the Nazi fuhrer and the Fascist duce reached purely informal agreement that:

1. Austria shall maintain its independence.

2. The European armaments situation should be stabilized before actual disarmament is attempted, and Germany should be permitted to build up its armaments toward equality with its neighbors during a six-year period.

3. Mussolini's battered four-power peace treaty intended to bind Italy, Germany, France and Great Britain to keep the peace for ten years should be the framework of security treaties.

The agreement on Austrian independence probably is most important.

Austria has complained that Germany is sheltering Austrian Nazis who are conducting a campaign of terrorism and would like to start a revolution in Austria.

Italy is determined that Austria shall remain independent. Mussolini plans next to have a conference with Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, and he hopes that the Hitler and Barthou conferences will open up a way for Germany to return to Europe's diplomatic councils, which she left last October 14.

PORT PROJECT WORK TO START EARLY MONDAY

Test Borings at Newport Harbor Are Ordered by Major Stickney

FIRST ACTUAL development work on the Newport Harbor project as a federal government undertaking will start Monday, when test borings will be undertaken throughout the harbor area, according to word today from Major Stickney, U. S. engineer at Los Angeles, in charge of the harbor development work.

The contract for the boring is held by the Standard Dredging company of Los Angeles, which, it is reported, plans to start work on the county channel north of Lido Isle and gradually be extended over the entire harbor.

Approximately 150 test holes will be drilled for the purpose of determining the kinds and quantities of materials to be dredged to attain depths of 20 feet at low tide in the main channels, 15 feet in the yacht basin, and 10 feet over the entire remaining area of the bay. There will be approximately 150 houses of drilling, it is reported, according to C. S. Hildebrand, resident engineer for the government.

Following completion of the dredging operations, the results will be checked and specifications drawn up for the dredging operations, for which bids will then be called.

Recently-submitted bids for jetty extensions and repair have been checked and forwarded to the district engineer at San Francisco, and the contract will be awarded immediately upon definite appropriation of money for the work in Washington, according to word today from Major Stickney's office.

ESCAPED PRISONER CAUGHT IN ILLINOIS

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., June 16.—(UP)—Randall E. Norwell who escaped while serving a life term for the kidnaping of August Luer, was recaptured here today.

Norwell was captured in the three-room cottage of Peter Couch in a surprise raid.

He surrendered peacefully as officers threatened to "come and get you with a machine gun." He was taken immediately to the county jail at Belleville.

Norwell escaped April 28 by crawling through a sewer. He and two others were given life sentences on September 30 for abducting Luer, 77-year-old Alton, Ill., banker and holding him a prisoner for six days and nights. Two men involved in the kidnaping received five-year sentences and another a 20-year term.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Sen. Robert M. La Follette, R., Wis., today abandoned his attempt to substitute the original Wagner labor bill for the pending labor disputes bill on the request of Sen. Robert E. Wagner, D., New York.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 16.—World records for the mile and half-mile were shattered by Glenn Cunningham of Kansas and Ben Eastman of Stanford during an invitational track meet here today. The old record, made last year by Jack Lovelock of New Zealand, was 4 min. 7.6 sec.

Compromise To Be Sent Roosevelt

Workers Listen to Appeal Of President Green to Put Off Walkout

PITTSBURGH, June 16.—(UP)—Threat of an immediate paralyzing steel strike was ended today, pending reception of labor's compromise proposals which are to be placed directly before President Roosevelt in Washington.

A committee representing the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, dominant labor organization, will submit the proposals to the president. If the suggestions entailing setting up a commission to supervise all transactions between the companies and the men are rejected, the strike will be called immediately.

It was emphasized that the union "war" is abandoned only temporarily. If a strike comes, union strategy will be to take the men out of the mills without notice. No further meetings will be necessary. The leaders have the authority, voted them overwhelmingly, to declare the walkout.

Offers Compromise
Michael F. Tighe, conservatively-minded president of Amalgamated, will present the compromise plan to Mr. Roosevelt on Monday. In brief, it includes setting up an "impartial labor board of three members, to be appointed by the president," which will rule on all complaints arising from alleged violations of section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act, and more closely defines the right of employees to bargain collectively through their own organizations, chosen by vote "off company property."

The forceful oratory of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, swung the men back of the new plan and overcame a decided atmosphere of bitterness and insubordination upon which the mill owners should not be permitted to choose their own time and their own battlefield of one of the most effective points of his address.

Green's Proposals
Under Green's proposals, the president would appoint a board of three members which would have four duties and powers. It would:

1. Receive complaints and investigate and adjust violation of the labor provisions of the code.

2. Mediate and conciliate any disputes arising between employers and employees under the code.

3. Offer its service as arbitrator in any dispute between employers and employees "provided such dispute is voluntarily submitted for arbitration by both parties."

4. Hear and determine any matter of discrimination against or discharge of any employee in violation of section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act.

The board also would be clothed with authority to order elections by the men and to supervise such elections.

Finally, it would have the highest authority in determining issues of hours, wages and conditions of employment, when such matters cannot be determined through collective bargaining.

ANNA DALL ARRIVES IN RENO ON SUNDAY

RENO, Nev., June 16.—(UP)—Preparations for a quiet welcome for Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, only daughter of President Roosevelt, to establish residence for a divorce, were underway today.

The train bearing Mrs. Dall and her two children, Sisle and Buzzie, will enter Nevada at 2:38 a. m. Sunday. It will arrive here at 1:15 p. m.

Instead of detouring here, Mrs. Dall will continue to Truckee, Cal., from where she will be driven to a cottage overlooking Lake Tahoe. She plans to live at the cottage during most of her six week residence.

AGREEMENT SIGNED AT NOON TODAY BRINGS TO END STRIKE OF PACIFIC COAST DOCKMEN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(UP)—An agreement was signed today which ended the Pacific Coast Longshoremen's strike, it was announced here by the Industrial association.

The signers were Joseph P. Ryan, president of the I. L. A.; Michael Casey, head of the San Francisco teamsters, and representatives of the Waterfront Employers' association and the Industrial association. Ryan was the last to sign.

The signing of the agreement came after a conference in which both sides were represented, together with members of the industrial association.

As the negotiators went into the office of Mayor Angelo Rossi, A. E. Boynton, managing director of the industrial association, pointed to Ryan and said:

"He has the signed document." Ryan refused to comment. It could not be learned immediately whether the settlement required a referendum vote by members of I.L.A.

Mayor Rossi was of the opinion the agreement would end immediately the 38-day strike which has paralyzed shipping in Pacific coast ports. He said the peace proposal had been discussed with leaders in other coast ports and he believed all cities will be affected by the settlement. The strike was called May 9 and gripped ports from Seattle to San Diego, Los Angeles, although affected by strike-breaking methods. Most of the traffic with Oriental ports was conducted through Los Angeles.

Huge freighters lay idle in San Francisco Bay and along the waterfront docks. The same condition existed in Oakland, Portland and Seattle.

Bloody clashes occurred almost daily between police and strike-breakers on one side and union men on the other. Several lives were lost and scores of men and women were injured. Gas bombs, revolvers, clubs and stones came into play as weapons.

After the conference, they mutually denied foreign rumors that war impends between their countries over questions of supremacy in the far east.

The diplomatic representatives discussed the fisheries question, attacks by Russians on foreign boats on the Amur river, the sale of the Chinese Eastern railroad, and demonstrations and plots of their nationals against the other nation. Their attitudes were conciliatory.

Deny Rumors
At the conclusion of the conference Hirota and Yurenev mutually denied foreign rumors that Russia and Japan are contemplating warfare for control of the far east.

Yurenev expressed regret that Russian soldiers had fired on Manchukuan vessels in the Amur river, bordering Manchukuo and Siberia. The Soviet diplomat insisted, however, that the action of Russian was entirely legal because the boats had ventured on the Soviet side of the river.

Hirota suggested that the Soviet soldiers should have given notice that the boats were encroaching before opening fire.

Protection Asked
The Soviet ambassador told of recent demonstrations by Japanese patriotic organizations in the vicinity of his embassy. He asked for extra police protection to guard against annoyances.

He informed Hirota that white Russians are plotting against the Japanese in certain areas, presumably in Korea. The Japanese

TWO NATIONS LOOK FOR MISSING WOMAN

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—Police of Canadian and American cities today entered the international search for Agnes C. Tutverson, 45-year-old woman attorney, who disappeared 16 days after her marriage to Ivan Poderjay last December 4.

While Poderjay, arrested in Vienna on a local charge remained in custody, New York's missing persons bureau enlisted the aid of officials at Halifax, N. S., Boston, Philadelphia and New Orleans on the theory that the Detroit and New York woman may have fled the country.

The body of a woman found in the East River a week ago was to be viewed in the morgue today. Police said the body did not correspond with the description of Miss Tutverson.

SENATE AND HOUSE RUSH LEGISLATION

PRESIDENT WATCHES

Chief Executive Announces He Will Leave on June 30 for Trip to Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Congress in a bill-a-minute burst of speed reached the half-way mark in today's adjournment race shortly after 1 p. m. when the senate passed the administration $1,000,000,000 housing bill and the house completed legislative action on the $1,750,000,000 deficiency appropriation.

Adjournment tonight seemed certain.

The senate immediately began consideration of the labor disputes bill designed to prevent a steel strike and generally to calm restless labor.

The house continued through mid-day to lead the senate toward adjournment. Strict house rules discouraged discussion. Only the forbearance of senators prevented windy debate.

Rep. Tom D. McKeown, D., Okla., tossed into the house mill a controversial and complicated bill to aid bankrupt farmers. It would amend the bankruptcy bill to permit farmers to avoid foreclosures by small payments over a six-year period.

President to Sail
President Roosevelt followed the show from the other end of Pennsylvania avenue. Two hours convinced him that congress was going home. He announced he would depart for his Pacific ocean cruise June 30.

Sen. James P. Pope, D., Idaho, moved to increase the senate's adjournment load with a favorable report from the agriculture committee on several AAA amendments. They would permit refunds of processing taxes on floor stocks of commodities when the AAA decreases or abandons any levy.

The senate hurried through adoption of a conference report on the Wagner-Hatfield bill to establish old age pensions for railway employees. It still requires house assent but is not classed among major legislation.

First Threat
Simultaneously came the first threat to adjournment plans when Sen. Edward P. Costigan, D., Colo., said he would attempt to

DOTSERO CUT-OFF IS OPENED TODAY

BOND, Colo., June 16.—(UP)—Another victory over the mighty Colorado Rockies was recorded by man today when the Dotsero cut-off was opened, giving the nation a new transcontinental rail route.

Built by the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, the cut-off supplies the link in the transportation system which puts Denver on a through coast-to-coast route and brings the two capital cities of Utah and Colorado 175 miles closer together.

While 3000 persons stood by, the clear tones of a locomotive bell pealed through the signal that the 38-mile long Dotsero cut-off was officially ready to receive its cargo of trains.

These Sunday evening union services will extend to September 2, located each Sunday at a different church, and with the various ministers or laymen presiding and preaching.

ACTIVITIES IN WASHINGTON TO BE DISCUSSED

J. F. Burke, who recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he conferred with high governmental officials and members of the president's cabinet and congress concerning matters of vital importance, will be the speaker at an open public meeting Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building, it was announced today by Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary of the Y.

Smedley said that he asked the publisher particularly to discuss the momentous statements made by President Roosevelt in his recent message to the congress on security of homes, jobs and old age.

It is expected that the speaker will pay particular attention to an analysis of the present plans of the national administration, including the much-discussed old age pension plan and unemployment insurance. The speaker also will discuss the general situation as he sees it in the nation at the present time and what he believes the administration plans are now.

The public is invited by Secretary Smedley to attend the meeting.

URGES CHECKING ON SANITATION SYSTEM

During slack periods of regular farm work, the sewage disposal system should be checked up on, according to W. M. Cory, assistant county farm advisor, to see that it will not cause trouble in the near future. "Perhaps by so doing time will be avoided," he said. "Cesspools, sewer lines and even drainage lines from septic tanks have a habit of stopping up occasionally."

"It is better to anticipate trouble when the time can be spared than to wait until time can be taken very inconveniently from other tasks."

"Plans and specifications on the construction of household sewage disposal systems can be obtained from the farm advisor's office. Recommendations on the installation of such systems will be given upon request."

DISTRICT WILL SHIP 400 CARS IN WEEK'S TIME

Approximately 400 cars of citrus fruits will be shipped from this district during the coming week, comprising close to 200,000 boxes of packed fruit, according to estimates today following release of pro-rate figures.

Total shipments of Valencia oranges and grapefruit as fixed by the California-Arizona pro rate committee provide for 1490 cars from Southern California and ten cars from Tulare county. This figure does not include lemon shipments, which are not covered by the pro rate agreements.

Houses affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange will ship 307 cars of oranges during the coming week, one car more than last week's figures. It is estimated these houses will also ship more than 40 cars of lemons to the eastern markets.

The four M. O. D. houses in the Orange district, located at Orange, Olive, Tustin and Garden Grove will have combined pro rate shipments of some 50 cars of Valencia, divided as follows: Orange Mutual, 22 cars; Olive Hillside Grove, 8 cars, 97 boxes; Garden Grove Mutual, 7.2 cars and Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual, 13 cars.

Total shipments exceeding 10 cars are in prospect for the Garden Grove Mutual, according to Manager E. J. Smale, including this week's pro rate of 7.2 cars of Valencia, two cars held over from the past week, and export shipments of 525 boxes. The Orange Mutual Citrus association plans to ship four cars of lemons, in addition to the 22 cars of Valencia provided in the pro rate, according to Manager L. P. Finley.

The American Fruit Growers' house in Orange shipped nine cars of Valencia the past week, according to Manager F. R. Valencia, and will ship an approximate amount during the coming week. The American Fruit Growers' plant in San Juan Capistrano will probably ship seven cars of fruit during the coming week, according to Manager F. W. Rogers.

GETS JAIL TERM ON CHECK CHARGE

Mrs. Dorothy Sullivan who has a penchant for political clubs and bogus checks, and who occasionally has combined the two activities, received a sentence of six months in the county jail late yesterday from Superior Judge James L. Allen, as punishment for her latest lapse in the matter of bad checks.

Mrs. Sullivan, who first came to notice in Santa Ana through her activities in organizing a Garner club before the last presidential election, became involved at that time in check difficulties, and was forced to serve part of a six-months jail sentence as a condition of three years probation granted her May 6, 1932.

Following her release she went to northern California and has recently been connected with organization of political clubs in San Francisco. She also passed two more bogus checks there, according to information laid before the court here yesterday by San Francisco police. Mrs. Sullivan had been arrested and returned to Orange county for a hearing on the matter of revoking her probation. Judge Allen yesterday lectured her severely, but allowed her to remain on probation, with a six-months jail sentence attached.

tion of the sweat shop and outlawing of child labor.

Abuse of child workers had been a blight on the whole industrial era. Law-makers, courts, and humane societies sought in vain to end the baneful practices. Practically every code now directly forbids employment of children under 16 years of age. Industry, labor and government brought about this shining achievement without any express mandate in the law.

The index of factory payrolls which stood at $8 a year ago has risen to 67, a gain of over 72 per cent, touching the highest peak of the last three years.

In hearings on the first 200 codes more than 1,800 unfair and destructive trade practices were disclosed. Worst of all was the expedient of selling below cost. It set up a vicious circle which ended in destruction of the consumer market and hysterical competitive underpayment and overworking of employees. Purchasing power was still further depressed.

"Loss Leader"
Although earlier attempts at rigid price fixing have been abandoned, the present NRA policy outlawing willfully destructive price-cutting and its eventual effect of selling below cost. The "loss leader" which formerly lured customers into stores is generally prohibited.

A multitude of favorable reports show that the upward trend of industry, businesses large and small. The bureau of labor statistics reported in April only two manufacturing industries out of 90 failing to show employment gains over last year. Every one showed pay roll gains which enormously increased purchasing power.

The outbreak of labor disputes which invariably accompanies better times has been immeasurably relieved through efforts of the national labor board which has adjusted disputes affecting 2,000,000 employees.

Industrial Peace
Industrial peace has been brought to many industries, and will come to others, through industrial relations boards functioning under the code. A special board of this type swung the automobile industry away from a serious strike threat early this spring.

The first anniversary of the day on which the president signed the recovery act sees all of American industry and trade mobilized in a practical plan to bring about complete economic recovery and to assure a more secure future for the whole nation.

The recovery administration, as such, will not go on forever. I shall not always guide the blue eagle's flight. I am absolutely certain, however, that a great many lessons learned in these trenches warring against the sinister elements of unfair competition and oppression of labor, never will be lost from our guidebooks of business economy.

POLICE WARN ON ALLEGED BEGGAR

Housewives and citizens have been warned by police to watch for an alleged war veteran who represents himself as being deaf and dumb and asks for money.

When the man came to the home of Dr. Elizabeth Tock yesterday, she phoned veteran officials to verify his credentials. He fled from the house and is being sought by officers. It was learned that he secured a free license from the city clerk to sell pencils, but is in no way connected with local veteran organizations, it was said.

He is about 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, is 40 years of age and was wearing a brown suit.

Court Notes

Mrs. Esther Enz, arrested for drunkenness Thursday on Seventeenth street, was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence in police court yesterday on condition of good behavior.

Jesus Gonzales, charged with drunkenness, was given a 10-day suspended jail sentence yesterday in police court.

Francis R. Widemeyer, Wilmington, paid $15 of a $25 fine and Roscoe Reeves, Orange, paid an $8 fine yesterday in police court on speeding charges.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, June 16.—(To the Editor of The Register)—Now that the prize fight is out of the road, the American people can settle down to the trivial things of life. The steel strike looks better than it has in weeks. Looks like a mighty fair proposal that Mr. William F. Green, president of the whole American Federation of Labor made, whereby the President is to appoint three disinterested men. Now if the steel men will agree to that, why it looks like that would finish it. Funny how long it takes people to see what to do, when there ain't but one thing to do. If Mr. Roosevelt can just get that strike fixed, and get those Congressmen out from under those government - paid - for electric fans by July 1, he will be sitting pretty.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

It has been the experience of most men who became great that what they planned to do appeared to be frustrated and what they yearned to enjoy was put out of their reach. Amid adversity their souls expanded and they accomplished the seemingly impossible.

Your experience is like theirs and, with God's help, you too will fulfill the mighty tasks which rest upon your shoulders.

AIRPORT OWNER GETS TERM IN SAN QUENTIN

W. F. Crawford, owner of a Seal Beach airport, who had pleaded guilty to a statutory offense against a 15-year-old girl whom he had employed in his office, was sentenced to a term of from one to 50 years at San Quentin, late yesterday after Superior Judge James L. PAYROLL WILL RUN $45,000 EACH MONTH

Developments in the program to put 1000 residents of Orange county to work on the new SERA program came fast today as the county SERA committee, with Charles Schottland, state field agent, and W. M. Braley, state auditor, agreed on a number of important appointments in various departments of the administrative setup.

At a meeting this morning, W. J. Tway, former assistant director of the CWA program in Orange county, was named manager of the placement bureau. Tway will have charge of placing the persons to be given work relief on the jobs.

Dan Mulholland will be construction supervisor and his duties will include assisting political subdivisions which sponsor SERA projects in preparing them and to supervise construction projects from the standpoint of requisitioned labor. It was announced.

Harry G. Wetherell, who has had many years of experience in banking and financial institution, was recommended by Braley for the position of assistant auditor. The committee reacted favorably on the recommendation. Wetherell's duties will be to take charge of the accounting for the county SERA project. Wetherell is giving up his other interests, it is learned.

Robert Walker, former assistant disbursing agent with the CWA, following considerable discussion, was named paymaster. Members of the committee pointed out that Walker's employment on CWA because his wife is employed at the courthouse by the county. However, at the meeting today, Walker told the committee that his wife will either quit her job at the courthouse or take a six month's leave of absence. This was agreeable with all members of the SERA committee. Yesterday the committee adopted a general policy of not hiring anyone for jobs in the administrative positions if other members of their families are working, unless the circumstances are exceptional and are carefully considered by the committee.

Helen Cox, who is employed by the state SERA and who is paid from federal funds, will have charge of case supervision and all investigations of cases.

Using the $45,000 or more a month which the federal government, through the SERA, will spend in the work relief program in Orange county, those who have been on the relief rolls as of May 15 and at the present time, will be given work relief.

Schottland will stay here for about two weeks to act as director until a permanent director of the work relief program is named. Schottland said today that he is rushing the completion of the administrative setup and expects men to be working in about a week.

Yesterday the local committee set the maximum budget for large families at $50 monthly and planned to strike an average of $35 monthly for heads of families employed on relief rolls. Those employed will be paid in cash, while those on direct relief will be given orders.

JUDGE RULES LEGISLATORS CLOSING LAW TALK TAXES AT IS NOT VALID TEACHER MEET

The midnight-closing clause of the Santa Ana city liquor ordinance was declared unconstitutional and in conflict with state regulation of the liquor traffic, in a decision given late yesterday by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, who granted a writ of habeas corpus sought by A. N. Caspari, Hof Brau cafe manager, arrested for violation of the ordinance.

Caspari had violated the midnight-closing clause by arrangement, in order to bring a test of the ordinance before the court. Attorney Z. B. West represented him in applying for a writ of habeas corpus, which was heard by Judge Ames yesterday afternoon.

West contended that the city has no jurisdiction to regulate liquor traffic, which control is vested exclusively in the state by section 22 of article 20 of the state constitution, which was voted by the people of the state as "amendment No. 2" on the ballot two years ago, a companion measure to the repeal amendment.

The attorney further pointed out that the state legislature, acting under authority of the constitution, enacted regulations that provide for closing between 2 a. m. and 6 a. m. and that municipal laws lack authority for enacting conflicting legislation. The court upheld these contentions.

City Attorney Clyde Downing, opposing the writ, contended that the general police powers of the city gave it the right to enact regulations that might be more stringent than those of the state. Downing stated today that the court decision is appealable and that it undoubtedly will be carried up to the appellate court for a final decision. He expects to confer Monday with members of the state board of equalization regarding the question.

FIVE AUTOISTS IN COURT ON DRUNK CHARGES

Of five motorists appearing before Superior Judge James L. Allen at yesterday's regular criminal calendar, charged with drunk driving, two pleaded not guilty and demanded trial, while two others pleaded guilty and applied for probation.

The fifth, Joe Silva, had previously pleaded guilty and asked for probation, which was granted him at a hearing yesterday for a period of three years, on condition that he spend Sunday nights and Sundays for the next six months in the county jail. His driving license was suspended for six months.

The court's ruling with respect to the jail sentence permits Silva to retain his employment during the week. The offense charged against him was committed May 6 at Ocean avenue and Huntington Beach boulevard.

Charles L. Hacker, arrested May 7 on highway 101 near county hospital, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for July 11. Trial of Thomas R. Griffith, who also pleaded not guilty, was set for July 18. Griffith was arrested May 10 on Pomona avenue, Brea.

AIRPORT OWNER GETS TERM IN SAN QUENTIN

W. F. Crawford, owner of a Seal Beach airport, who had pleaded guilty to a statutory offense against a 15-year-old girl whom he had employed in his office, was sentenced to a term of from one to 50 years at San Quentin, late yesterday after Superior Judge James L. Allen had denied his application for probation.

The court, in denying probation, spurned the excuse of the middle-aged airport owner that the young girl had made advances to him and had tried to sell herself to him. His further plea that he had offered marriage and was helping support her parents, also failed to gain clemency.

"I do not believe this man's story and, even if it were true, how are we going to build up protection for the young girls and boys of our communities by overlooking such offenses as this?" Judge Allen commented in denying probation.

Louis Trujillo, arrested May 31 for a statutory offense against a 14-year-old American girl, pleaded guilty and asked for probation. Hearing was set for June 22.

JUDGE RULES LEGISLATORS CLOSING LAW TALK TAXES AT IS NOT VALID TEACHER MEET

The midnight-closing clause of the Santa Ana city liquor ordinance was declared unconstitutional and in conflict with state regulation of the liquor traffic, in a decision given late yesterday by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, who granted a writ of habeas corpus sought by A. N. Caspari, Hof Brau cafe manager, arrested for violation of the ordinance.

Caspari had violated the midnight-closing clause by arrangement, in order to bring a test of the ordinance before the court. Attorney Z. B. West represented him in applying for a writ of habeas corpus, which was heard by Judge Ames yesterday afternoon.

Cussing expenditures and budget

One solution of the school finance problem rests in the sales tax, said Craig, who declared that only the sales tax, which had the slim margin of one vote in passage, kept the California schools open last term.

California and New York, he said, were the only states in the Union which maintained their schools in session 100 per cent. Both states have the sales tax plan.

A determined attempt will be made at the next session of the legislature, Craig warned, to repeal the sales tax, and it is probable that it will, in any event, be reduced to two cents, instead of two and a half cents.

The state's financial situation, according to Craig, is not as alarming as represented by state estimates that the treasury is $140,000,000 in the red. The deficit, he said, is only $30,000,000, which is by no means as serious as the deficits of other states. Those who have referred to a deficit of $140,000,000 mean that there could be such a deficit by the transfer of public utilities tax revenues from the state to the county, and the transfer of the county's school tax burden to the state, without some tax revenue plan to meet such transfers, Craig stated.

Craig complimented the teachers on their service and expressed his favor for tenure or some other plan to protect the teachers from becoming victims of the political spoils system. This protection is not primarily for the interest of the teacher, but for the interest of the child, he declared.

The present make-up of the state legislature, said Craig, is conservative, and he believes it will refuse to repeal such measures as the sales tax, or tenure, until some better plan is shown. He advised clear thinking and careful voting, after sifting out the facts from among the mass of agitation and propaganda of a political campaign.

Assemblyman Utt spoke briefly upon the state budget, saying that less than half of the budget is expended on education, the next largest item being highways. The expense of the legislature itself is only .003 of the whole, he said, so that if the legislature was entirely dispensed with, the saving would be negligible.

Principal H. G. Nelson of Julia Lathrop introduced the speakers. Besides the Lathrop faculty, those in attendance included County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson, Assistant Superintendent Arthur Corey, Principal A. Haven Smith of Orange high school, and others.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON

By George Durne

Veterans of the union labor movement are following the struggle in the steel industry with mixed emotions.

One group of oldtimers that grew up with the American Federation of Labor privately is cheering the belligerent Rank and File Committee. They feel that some aggressive leadership is being given the workers after a lapse of too many years. They are happy to speak for the element which thinks William Green has been too pacifistic in his direction of the labor cause.

Another group views the situation with grave misgivings. Their minds turn back to the bloody Homestead strike of 1892 wherein the radical element took charge and public sympathy turned against the steel workers. They are afraid history may repeat itself.

The first school of thought raises a cynical eyebrow in the direction of Mike Tigue, veteran president of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers. They say Tigue has been too ready to conciliate and compromise. Their sympathies are with William J. Spang and Earl J. Forbeck, chief spokesmen for the Rank and File Committee.

Other men, equally well versed in organized labor history, say Spang and Forbeck lack essential qualities of real leadership. Also, they advise that Pat Kush, spokesman for the radical Industrial Steel Workers, has been battling shoulder to shoulder with Spang and Forbeck in the preliminary negotiations. Kush was active in the Homestead strike and in subsequent labor disorders.

These conservative-minded union card-holders do not see how General Johnson was able to differentiate between Spang and Forbeck on the one hand and Kush and the other. All three have been demanding the same thing - recognition by the steel barons on threat of strike.

The riots of the Homestead strike almost assumed proportions of civil war. The control of the situation away from A. F. of L. leaders. The public finally turned definitely against the strikers when Alexander Berkman, an anarchist, attempted to assassinate the late Henry C. Frick, head of the Carnegie mill. Other disastrous strikes followed in 1901 and 1902, the union falling in its objectives.

Many service-striped union men are praying ardently that 1934 won't witness a repetition of those walk-outs.

FISCAL

Treasury officials remain mute on the possibility of a further devaluation of the dollar, as predicted yesterday in the New York half of this column.

Secretary Morgenthau will say only - and he does it significantly - that "the Treasury is operating on a 24-hour basis." He declines to speculate on what may happen in the monetary field.

Administration officials are watching with interest the manner in which gold stocks have jumped on the Exchange in the last week. They are watching the British pound much closer.

Morgenthau was a disappointed man the other day. Last Saturday, 5,000,000 ounces of silver purchased in London arrived at New York. It was one of the largest shipments in history.

The Secretary had visions of headlines the following morning telling of the big purchase. Not a line appeared. He had to announce the arrival belatedly himself.

CHANGE

When the Treasury made public the fact that an extraordinary demand for subsidiary coins - half dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and cents - has almost exhausted the government's reserve supplies, Morgenthau told the newspaper men he didn't know the reason why such a demand had developed. More probably he was depending on them to put the proper interpretation on this situation.

It means that small business must be picking up five-and-ten stores, grocery stores, etc., are in need of more change all over the country apparently in order to transact increasing business.

All three mints are running at capacity, with quarters most in demand.

LUCK

Inspection time frequently is quite necessary in the conduct of Uncle Sam's business. Sometimes they are to such places as to furnish the lucky official making the inspection with a virtual vacation.

Secretary of Commerce Dan Roper is about to take off for Alaska to look into the salmon cannery situation.

With him will go his Assistant, Chester H. McCall, and Commissioner of Fisheries Frank T. Bell. Also some members of his family. It is understood.

BOOST

Dr. Willard Thorp, the Amateur professor whom the Senate refused to confirm as Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce because he was a Republican, and for other reasons best known to themselves, has landed a job in NRA as predicted in this column.

Thorp is attached to the Consumers' Advisory Board on a per diem basis, which means he draws between $10 and $25 a day. Mrs. May Harriman Rumsey, chairman of the Board, is his chief sponsor. She tried to place him with the National Emergency Council but there was no spot open at the moment.

It is planned to send Thorp out on a speech-making tour in the interests of the consumers.

JAZZ

Vladimir Romm, correspondent for the official Soviet newspaper Izvestia, just arrived on these shores from Russia, probably knows more popular American songs than most professional singers.

Romm has never been in the United States before, although he was in Geneva as the Americanized Russian. While in Tokyo as a correspondent several years ago he decided to learn to speak English.

He did so with the aid of phonograph and all the American jazz records he could lay his hands on.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

AMBITIONS

The big business men who will meet shortly at Hot Springs have ambitions. They aim to chart a detailed course through conservative channels for Skipper Roosevelt's guidance and then sell him the idea of steering by it.

Most members of this self-appointed steering committee also belong to Secretary Roper's Advisory and Planning Council and many have served a term on the Industrial Advisory Board. Their ideas about New Deal mistakes have crystallized and they figure the time is ripe to set the administration's feet gently on the right path.

Their discussions will embrace all phases of industry's relations to government. They will focus on the theme that Washington's main job henceforth is to encourage private initiative in every possible way as the only sure road to reemployment and recovery. This of course will imply less regulation through NRA and especially greater freedom of employers to deal with labor according to their own lights.

The conference is almost certain to recommend creation of a permanent advisory board of business executives reporting directly to the President instead of to NRA. Participants believe the President should be kept posted to the minute on industrial sentiment. "Not on statistics - he gets tired of these - but the real low-down on what Business thinks of his policies without any intermediaries to twist what we say. He can't have recovery unless he learns to play ball with us."

From which you might correctly deduce that large business is feeling its oats again as the works in the national economy.

SHIFT

A number of industrialists who keep in close touch with Washington have the knife out for General Johnson.

They've been maneuvering sub rosa for some time to get him eased out of the picture and replaced by someone more in tune with their ideas. They've thought they had him on the skids more than once but each time he bounced back stronger than ever. Now they're just about ready to call it quits and wait for a complete shift in the NRA setup to eliminate the General.

Insiders expect that shift - when it comes - to bless the Federal Trade Commission with a bigger stepchild than all its other charges put together. But they also predict the transition will not occur until the NRA itself has been more perceptibly softened up.

SPENDING

The informed interpreter Mr. Roosevelt's request for $225,000,000 for drought relief as a significant sign of federal spending ahead which will make the proverbial sailor look like a Scotchman on a desert island. They point out that the government has $34 billion available for spending between now and January and could easily have taken the drought money out of that modest nest-egg if it didn't have definite plans for pouring the cash out elsewhere.

They also anticipate final abandonment of the old self-liquidating theory of public works and substitution of the principle that the only good dollar is a dollar in circulation - for almost any purpose.

CITY

The New York banks are fussing with the city fathers under Fusion just as they did under Tammany. At present both sides are privately calling each other all kinds of harsh names.

It's all because the banks are nervous about the city's load of short term debt and tried to get the city to convert it into a long-term 4 1/2 per cent issue when the yield on outstanding bonds made that possible.

The city balked and its bonds rose to a 4 1/4 yield basis. Now the Fusion folks are sore because they think the banks tried to chisel them out of an extra quarter cent and plan to hold out until they can raise long-term money at 4 per cent. The bankers don't think the city's credit will ever become that good and are hot because the authorities passed up a chance for "sound financing."

FARES

But Wall Street is pleased at the smooth manner in which a higher subway fare is being nudged across as a tax for relief pur-

SOCIAL HELD BY METHODIST CLASS

ORANGE, June 16.—Chimexing a successful membership contest, members of the recently organized Junior-Adult Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, met Thursday evening in the Epworth hall for a social get together.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warner, leaders of the ladies' side in the contest, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robinson, were hosts. The evening was spent playing progressive rummy. Prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Bell and Walter Adams.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mr. and Mrs. George Horton, Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Clapold, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Abersold, G. W. Serr, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nuffer, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Roddeck, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Warner, Dr. Dunning, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilton, Mrs. Lela Hughes, Mrs. M. L. Bride Is Guest At Shower Affair

ORANGE, June 16.—Complimenting Mrs. L. McCoy (Elsie Wenholz), who was married last week in Pomona, Mrs. Hazel Carr of 212 South Orange street entertained with a lovely miscellaneous shower at her home Thursday evening. Lovely garden flowers decorated the home for the occasion.

Evening hours were spent playing whist, after which a midnight supper, served buffet style, was shared. Miss Carr was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. George S. Carr.

Guests of Miss Carr included Mrs. Esther Brewer, Mrs. Jewell Sudbrook, Miss Anna Winter, Miss Bertha Peterkin, Miss Ethel Suffer, Mrs. Edna Higgins, Mrs. Thelma Pee, Mrs. Mabel Reid, Mrs. Mildred Chandler, Mrs. Frances Sorenson, Mrs. Frieda Over and Mrs. Anna Casto and the honoree.

Higher fare advocates believe this will neatly spike the opposition to such a tax for the city's general fund. Anyone who bucks a reasonable solution of the relief problem will have to do a lot of explaining.

Once the subway rate is raised its dollars to fill pickles on straphanger's squawk will ever reduce it again. The city's idea of buying the BMT lines as a prelude to unification also fits nicely into the Wall Street conception of a well-ordered world.

REGULATION

The Stock Exchange community has examined the revised regulation bill with care and finds it not so dreadful after all. Exchange authorities retain a higher degree of autonomy than they really expected - always provided a hard-hearted commission doesn't decide to take it away.

Instead of the prophecies of woe so common a few weeks ago you find most brokers indulging in silent prayers of gratitude that it wasn't worse.

"Now all we have to do is convince the customers we were only kidding when we told them everything was going to hell. What we need around here is more silver-tongued boy orators."

20-30 CLUB IS WINNER, 4-2, AS PARK DEDICATED

ORANGE, June 16.—A crowd of several hundred people gathered at the new city park on Santiago creek and South Glassell street last night to take part in dedication of the night ball field, and saw the Orange 20-30 team take the Brea Lions aggregation to the tune of 4 to 2 in the first game played on the new field.

Mayor C. J. Hessel, principal speaker, told of the activity in connection with construction of the lighted ball park, and short talks were also made by Councilmen A. H. Helm, E. M. Chapman, Cal D. Lester and J. E. Riley, and City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake. Hessel told how the work, which had lagged following cessation of the CWA program, was completed by the city upon presentation of petitions by the Orange 20-30 club, which sponsored the dedication ceremonies.

Stan Wilson, retiring president of the 20-30 club, acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced the speakers. Mayor Hogue of Brea, a member of the old city Lions delegation, was introduced and took a bow, as also did former Councilmen Watson and Dierker, who were members of the city board when the park project was initiated.

The new ball park is said to represent an investment of some $1600 in municipal funds, required to finish the project for use, after preliminary leveling had been done with CWA funds.

The field will be used by both the county and the Orange city night ball leagues. The city league is planning to play three games each week, starting Monday, under auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Harry H. Nuffer heads the committee in charge of preparing the schedule for these games.

SEN. JOHNSON PETITION IS FILED TODAY

Sponsors of U. S. Senator William Johnson as candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket today filed his nomination petition with County Clerk J. M. Backs, simultaneously with the filing of similar petitions by other sponsors in the various counties of Southern California.

Frank G. Pinkerton, of Santa Ana, who circulated in Orange county, filed it at the clerk's office with five signatures of sponsors.

These include Frank W. Was, Santa Ana banker; Mrs. J. E. Parker, citrus grower, of Orange; William F. Coulter, former mayor of Fullerton; A. B. Rouselle, president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce; and T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach mayor and former chairman of the county board of supervisors.

The state law limits the number of sponsors who may sign such a petition to five, Pinkerton explained today.

FLOOD ENGINEER EXPLAINS PROGRAM

Details of the Elliott plan for flood control and water conservation were presented by M. N. Thompson, Orange county flood control engineer, at a meeting of Placentia Farm Bureau executive, showed slides of the sites of proposed projects included in the plan.

Graphs and figures were presented by Thompson in his explanation of the Elliott plan. He pointed out that it has been estimated that it would cost more than $11,000,000 to place the projects in operation. He discussed the possibility of securing governmental aid on the proposed works.

LOOT RECOVERED AS TRIO ARRESTED

Recovery of four valuable guitars and a large amount of tools and radio parts was made by police Thursday with the arrest of three 14-year-old boys who admitted burglarizing the home of E. H. Layton, 415 North Bristol street, this week and breaking into the William Junior High school, Roosevelt school and McKinley school about a month ago.

Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford took the boys into custody and placed them in the juvenile home. They admitted taking the musical instruments, valued at $250, from the Layton home, and also a pair of shoes, tray of guitar picks and a flashlight. All the loot was recovered.

In addition, radio parts and tools valued at $25 were found in the possession of the youths. Entrance to the schools was gained after they had broken windows, it was reported.

All the youths were arrested on similar charges about a year ago and were placed on probation by juvenile authorities.

The Santa Anans went east to see the graduation exercises at Central college, Fayette, Missouri, where their son, Cecil Aker, was in the senior class. En route home, they stopped in Iowa City to attend the graduation of their niece, Miss Jean Aker, from Iowa University.

On the return trip, they were accompanied by their son and Harold Tompkins of Anaheim, medical student at Washington University, in St. Louis. Cecil Aker will enter that school next year to pursue a medical course.

MODEL MAKING SUBJECT AT Y MEET TONIGHT

Demonstrations and lessons in model making, specimens of geology and curios and tricks from all parts of the world will be among the features of a free mass meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A., called by Arthur C. Terrill, science instructor of the Fullerton junior college.

Terrill will give preliminary instruction in a new and rapid method of making models of topography, advertising art, motion picture sets, and other things. He terms the art of model making a new profession and says it will prove valuable in advertising, schools, flood control work and map making.

Terrill will exhibit more than 100 valuable mineral specimens from all parts of the world. Dan H. Churchill of Fullerton will show curios collected on a world tour, and E. F. Westcott of Santa Ana will perform tricks.

Peterson of Anaheim, graduate of Fullerton junior college this year, will assist Terrill in giving lessons at the Y. Terrill is a nationally known geologist, lecturer and engineer. He has been superintendent of municipal parks and recreation in Glendale, taught at San Bernardino junior college, has been in Y.M.C.A. work since 1909 and has held teaching positions at the University of Oregon, University of Idaho, University of Kansas and Cal-Tech.

One of the first projects to be taken up at the Y will be a model of the Orange county flood control district and the Santa Ana river, to be made in connection with the county flood control department.

Young persons under 18 years of age are asked not to attend the meeting tonight as a precautionary measure against infantile paralysis.

Increased flying in Alaska has made it necessary for Eugene Vidal, director of aeronautics, to appoint Murray Hall to serve as a full time inspector there with headquarters at Juneau, Alaska. He will have a specially equipped plane for Alaskan flying conditions.

CAR FOUND STRIPPED
Completely stripped, the stolen car of D. M. Jellis, 1201 Highland street, was found yesterday by sheriff's officers in a field near the Southern Pacific railroad tracks a short distance west of Hansen road. The car was stolen June 1.

RULING HOLDS ATTORNEY TAX NOT INVALID

Decision of the appellate division of Los Angeles county superior court, holding that the Long Beach city ordinance levying a license fee upon attorneys is valid, is not out of harmony with the recent Orange county decision by Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine, of San Diego, who granted the appeal of Frank F. Ey, and set aside his conviction in Santa Ana police court on a charge of violating the license ordinance.

This was the view of local attorneys today, as they compared the two decisions upon city license ordinances, both of which were questioned by attorneys in test cases.

The test of the Santa Ana ordinance attempted by Attorney Ey when he refused to pay his city license fee on the ground that attorneys are licensed to practice by the state and cannot be required to have a city license, "mistaken" as such test. When Ey's appeal came before Judge Turrentine, the court ruled only that the complaint against Ey was defective, no public offense having been stated under the ordinance. The phrasing of the complaint failed to show that Ey was conducting the business of an attorney, although it stated that he was an attorney, the court pointed out, in setting aside his conviction. The validity of the ordinance was not passed upon.

The Long Beach decision, however, upheld the validity of the city ordinance and the right of cities to license attorneys. "The tax is levied upon the business of practicing law rather than upon a person because he is an attorney," said the Los Angeles county court.

THREE MEN HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Charged with grand theft and burglary, three men arrested in Huntington Beach Wednesday will have their preliminary hearings in Santa Ana Tuesday at 10 a. m. They are being held in the county jail under $1000 bail each.

The men are Donald Jones, 24, Haskel E. Gaer, 25, and Charles S. Jones, 32, all of Montebello. They were arrested by Huntington Beach police shortly after having burglarized the Main street garage of nearly $350 in tools, which included a rebore and grinding machine, electric grease equipment, blow torch, valve facing machine and several wrenches.

The arrest was made after the front door of the garage was found open and police notified. Officers Gall, Bergy and Lavern Keller apprehended the three men in their car near the garage and found the tools in the back seat.

It is also believed that the men attempted to break into the Bob Hill service station and garage at Seventeenth and Huntington Beach boulevards about 11 p. m. Wednesday. Five windows were broken in the two building but nothing was taken, since a car driving up to the garage frightened the men away. Proprietors of a cafe near the garage saw the men as they fled.

$250 BAIL SET IN DRUNK DRIVING CASE

Arrested last night for drunken driving on Stanton avenue north of Stanton, Jose Hernandez, 32, Talbert, was arraigned today in justice court.

Acting Judge Chris Pann set the preliminary hearing for June 26 at 9 a. m. and fixed bail at $250. Hernandez was booked at the jail by California Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover.

They arrived just as Nordstrom chased his wife into the yard, dragged her back in the house and then struck her several times while she was on the floor, according to police reports. W. C. Jerome, chairman of the booster group committee, presided at the meeting. City Engineer J. L. McBride was called in to offer suggestions and various enterprises were considered. At the Monday meeting, it is expected that many possible projects will be brought up, including drainage and sewer work, beautification of Santiago creek and possible expansion of Jack Fisher park along the creekbank, and building of new bandstand and restrooms in Birch park.

The group will present its findings before the city council, probably a week from Monday, so that action can be taken to have Santa Ana men put to work. No projects have been submitted to SERA officials to date by this city.

REAL ESTATE BROKERS WILL MEET TUESDAY

A meeting of all real estate brokers living in Santa Ana or vicinity and not members of the Santa Ana Realty Board is to be held at 7:30, Tuesday evening, June 19, at Ketter's cafe, it was announced today.

This meeting will nominate a real estate broker not affiliated with the local realty board to be one of the nominees for the district code control board. This board will cover Orange county as a tentative control district, the exact boundaries of which will be fixed later by the state control board.

The date of the election of the code board from among the nominees throughout the county will be announced later, and ballots sent to all qualified brokers.

The Real Estate Code became effective April 19, and while now operative, the local administrative machinery is now being formulated by the National Control Board, the details of which will be forwarded in the near future.

All real estate brokers automatically come under the code, and all standards, requirements or regulations of the state laws affecting brokers, which are more stringent than the provisions of the code, will remain operative.

An official copy of the code will be available at the meeting, from which information can be given to those present.

They have the highest recommendations from hundreds of religious leaders of every denomination, music experts, radio stations and service clubs.

The family consists of Charles English, his wife, son and daughter.

RENOVIZE YOUR PLUMBING

No. 22 of a Series

Look for No. 23 Monday

Put a SANITARY ENGINEER to Work!

When you put a licensed and bonded plumber to work in your home, you are securing the services of a Sanitary Engineer, whether he calls himself that, or not.

The plumber helps to avoid pestilence and epidemics, by keeping your sink, your bath, your toilets, and all the pipes, drains, and vents in workable, safe, and sanitary condition.

He crawls under the floor or into the attic, where you have never been, and sees that everything is in good shape, or else makes it that way.

He complies with the city, county, and state regulations for sanitary safety, and when the modern plumber gets through, you can enter and live in your home in peace of mind, knowing that your plumbing system is SAFE!

Sanitary laws were made for YOUR safety and YOUR CHILD'S safety; for the safety of your family and your tenants, and you cannot afford to countenance even the slightest evasion of their provisions.

Take your plumber's advice and let him put in the BEST, so that your gas pipes, your water pipes, and your drain pipes may reflect 100 per cent sanitation and safety.

Don't ask him to cheapen the job with inferior materials or workmanship, for such weakness is bound to show up in your home some day. And sometimes the price of weakness and inferiority and cheapness is too great to pay!

Get a reputable, established, and licensed Sanitary Engineer in whom you have confidence.

Then tell him how you want your plumbing system Renovized and extended and checked over and made safe.

Then agree to pay him a fair price for the work, including labor, material, and overhead cost, plus a reasonable profit, and YOU'LL GET FULL VALUE FOR EVERY DOLLAR!

You'll get a plumbing system that will stand the test of wear and tear and time. Anything less is not true economy or commonsense, or sanitary safety, which should be one of the first requirements in every home.

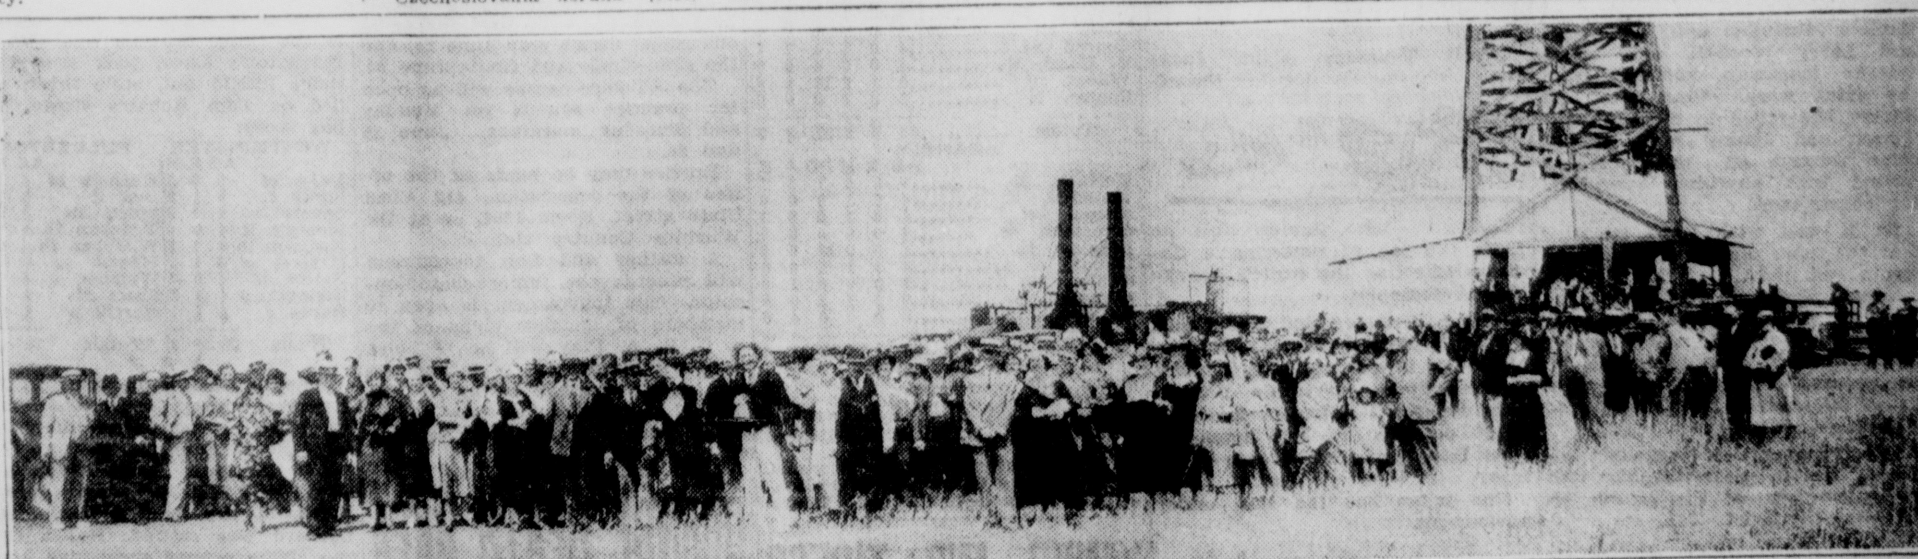

So, Put a Sanitary Engineer to Work this summer of 1934.

Orange County Citizens—This Is Your Day! Come! Hear Professor Marshall!

By HARRY GRAYSON

It is fitting that Charles Leonard Gehring, a native son, should lead the Detroit Tigers out of the morass of the second division.

There are not enough home town boys with home town clubs. There are fewer than a score who come under this classification, even though you include adjacent territory.

I can name only 10 offhand—Columbia Lou Gehrig and Fordham Johnny Murphy, of the Yankees; Joe Voshell, of the Phillies; Jimmy Wilson, catcher-manager, and Chick Fullis, of the Phillies, who is a resident of Girardville, Pa.; Tony Cucinello, of the Dodgers; Larry Benton, of the Cardinals; Shanty Hogan, of the Braves; and Hal Schumacher, of the Giants, who registers from Delgerville, in up-state New York, which is close enough.

I thought much of the story book stuff we like to find in sports was taken out of both clubs when the Giants swapped flashy Frankie Frisch to the Cards for Rogers Hornsby during the winter of 1926. Frisch, Fordham university's most famous athletic product, was and still is—a New Yorker through and through. He performed the remarkable feat of jumping from the campus to a pennant-seeking outfit, and supplanting such a renowned second baseman as Larry Doyle.

ST. LOUIS LOVED RAJAH

Hornsby was—and still is—close to a 100 per cent St. Louisian as a chap born on the plains of west Texas possibly could be. Until the Rajah was traded as a reward for guiding the Red Birds to their first flag and world title in the 35 years that they had been in the National league, everything that meant anything to him started and finished in the Mound City, which was—and still is—his home. He had become an immortal there, six of his seven batting championships having been won in Cardinal livings.

There was real romance in Hornsby's return to his old stamping ground at the start of the 1935 whirlwind. With all his faults—St. Louis loved him still. They can say all they please about Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, but his taking Hornsby back, after the Rajah had been given the run-around in New York, Boston, and Chicago, was a mighty fine gesture. Breadon found a place for Hornsby despite his Achilles' tendon.

BLAME INJURIES AS ROGERS SHOOT'S 70, TOUTED SEALS FALL TOPS WESTERN OPEN

The San Francisco Seals, the club picked to replace Los Angeles as Pacific Coast league champions, stood well below the .500 mark in games won and lost today and appeared headed for regions even lower than fourth place.

The collapse of the Seals has been due largely to injuries. Joe DiMaggio, the club's best hitter, has been out of the lineup a lot. Funk, another batting star, and Fulton, the steady first baseman, also are on the cripple list. The team was without the services of Catcher McMullen until last week, and Larry Woodall, only other veteran mascot, suffered from the extra work. Then too, Len Baeker has failed to hit, and Sam Gibson and Jimmy Zinn haven't come through on the pitching mound with anything approaching consistency.

So it was with little surprise that the news came out of Sacramento last night that the up-and-coming Senators defeated the Seals for the third time this week. The score was 4-2, with Gregory beating Gibson in a hurlers' duel. Sacramento entrenched itself more firmly in third place through the victory.

Ray Thomas, Los Angeles' unbeaten hurler, achieved his 13th successive win of the season by defeating Oakland, 9-1.

Santa Ana today celebrated its first night baseball victory over Anaheim since the championship playoff series of 1932. Seven times in succession the Stars had bowed in defeat before their old rivals before the worm finally turned at Anaheim last night. Behind the masterful pitching of Jim Coates, the long-happy Harry Helmsman showed the way with .595, the hustling second baseman in no sense can be regarded as a spring daisy. Gehring scarcely can be expected to maintain his current .400 clip, but his major league average since Ty Cobb assigned him to Frank O'Rourke's position early in 1926 is .316.

Like most home-grown players, Gehring cost the Detroit club little or nothing, old Bobby Veach picking him up on the sandlots. There are diamonds in the rough at the feet of every magnate. All he has to do is look around. And there's nothing quite so vociferous as a neighborhood rooting section, and somehow professional baseball wouldn't seem quite so commercial were there a few more of them.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

A Detroit newspaper has received a letter from an old Tiger fan of 20 years' standing... who writes to reserve seats for the 1934 world series in Detroit... even though he now lives in Dallas, Tex. He thinks Mickey Cochrane's philosophy "they can't beat us" will kick the Tigers in... Firpo Marberry, Tiger pitcher, got three hits in a recent game with the White Sox... and he collected only 11 all last season... Frankie Frisch batted cross-handed when he broke into the majors... Who wears the flashiest bathrobe in the prize ring? He thinks Loughran... his raiment blinds you... Remember Bill Fortune, one of the University of Michigan's former grid greats?... He's going great in Chicago now... as a lawyer... Knuckles Boyle, a Pennsylvania coal miner, has been signed by the New York Giants pro grid team... He's a 232-pound tackle.

Coates Shades McDonnell

Coates had slightly the better of "String" McDonnell in what was strictly a pitcher's duel. Jim allowed only four hits, struck out and did not issue a single base on balls. "String" yielded seven blows, fanned 8, passed none. Except in the eighth, when the Valencians scored, Coates was in trouble only once. After McNabb had fanned in the first, Thrasher was safe on Young's error and Norton singled him to third but Comstock popped out and Higgin's perished on strikes.

In addition to winning the contest with his hit, Conrad turned in the evening's fledgling feature. Leading off in the ninth, Comstock rifled a line drive off Young's glove at third base. Conrad rushed back of Young, poked up the ball and retired Comstock at first on a close play.

Judge's Decision On Baer Contract Suits Important

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—(UP)—Max Baer's crushing victory placed a heavy load on the shoulders of Superior Judge Malcolm Glenn.

Until Thursday night, Judge Glenn was merely deciding the affairs of a prize fighter. Now he faces the job of rendering a decision affecting the world's heavyweight champion.

Judge Glenn presided over a suit involving Baer's managerial troubles. His former manager, J. Horace Lorrimer, sued his present manager, Anell Hoffman; Hoffman sued Lorrimer, and both managers sued Baer for a cut of his earnings.

The judge has the case under advisement.

Bob Kiesel Out Of N. C. A. A. With Bad Knee

BERKELEY, June 16.—(UP)—Coach Brutus Hamilton of the University of California track forces today scratched his ace sprinter, Bob Kiesel, from the dash events of the N. C. A. A. meet at Los Angeles next week-end.

A knee injury will prevent Kiesel, considered the best sprinter in college circles, from competing.

MISS MEAD IS CUP VICTOR IN 19-HOLE FINAL

Lolita Mead today became the first to have her name engraved on the Women's President Cup at the Santa Ana Country club. Climaxing the first tournament of this kind, Miss Mead, former U. C. L. A. co-ed, yesterday won President G. C. Ross's trophy by defeating Mrs. C. B. Talbert, one up, in a match that went 19 holes. Miss Mead took a 4 to Mrs. Talbert's 6 in the extra hole.

Given a stroke allowance on the fourth, ninth, fifteenth and sixteenth holes, Mrs. Talbert led all the way until the eighteenth where Miss Mead bagged a par five to square the match. Miss Mead's medal score was 45-45 for a 91. Mrs. Talbert had 45-45-94.

Mrs. Talbert won the first hole, went two up on the second, three up on the sixth, four up on the seventh. Miss Mead out to lead to two up at the turn but Mrs. Talbert was three up again after the eleventh hole. Miss Mead then took three holes in succession, evening matters on the fourteenth. Mrs. Talbert won the next two holes, but dropped the seventeenth and eighteenth—and then the deciding nineteenth.

On her way to the championship, Miss Mead eliminated in succession Mrs. R. A. Tiernan, Mrs. C. V. Doty, Miss Lu Pomero, Miss Marguerite Way, Mrs. Don Woodington and then Mrs. Talbert.

Preston Piper and A. A. Beard meet tomorrow in a 36-hole final to the Men's President Cup tournament.

ORANGE BEATS BREA AT NEW BALL PARK

ORANGE COUNTY NIGHT LEAGUE Fullerton 7, L. P. 6. Orange 6, Brea 2. Long Beach 5, Brea 3. Huntington Beach 3, Brea 3. Anaheim 2, Brea 3. Olive 0, Brea 8.

Orange moved into undisputed possession of second place in the Orange County Night Ball league today, after beating Brea, 4-2, in an important first-half contest at Orange last night. The scuffle was the first at Orange's new ball park.

Brea got off in front, scoring in the second and third, but Orange tied the score in the third, and added runs in the fifth and seventh. The score: R. H. E. Brea 2 8 2 Orange 4 8 1

Batteries: Brea—Montgomery and Stives; Orange—Dugan and Welty.

TEI KEN, TOMMY DRAW HOLLYWOOD, June 16.—(UP)—Jo Tei Ken and Young Tommy travelled to a 10-round draw in a fast-moving feature bout at Hollywood Legion stadium last night.

Neither could gain an advantage although each threw all his skill and power into the contest.

BAER'S FUTURE UNDECIDED BUT LAYOFF LIKELY

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—Max Baer, new heavyweight champion, was yachting on the high seas today with his broker-pal, Leo Friede.

Primo Carnera was nursing a badly swollen ankle, undergoing X-ray examinations at a New York hospital, and grieving over what friends in Italy were saying about him.

But the men behind the guns were chewing pencil stubs up in Madison Square Garden's inner sanctum, doping out the most profitable way to make use of the California "butcher boy's" explosive fists. Possibilities are:

1. A September fight, under Garden auspices, with Walter Neusel of Germany or Steve Hamas in the other corner.

2. An elimination tournament, in which Neusel, Hamas, Max Schmeling, Tommy Loughran, Art Lasky and Ray Impellitteri take part, the winner to meet Baer.

3. The projected Schmeling-Neusel fight in Hamburg, Germany, in August, the winner to meet Baer in February.

4. No fight for a year.

The last possibility is as strong as the first three. Baer has a radio contract and a flock of movie offers, and the champion likes movie scenery. Also Anell Hoffman, Baer's manager, must be sure the foe will "draw" if Baer is to accept. That is in Baer's contract with the Garden, which calls for one more fight. It also is intimated Hoffman is anxious to wind up the Garden contract so Baer can fight for Jack Dempsey next summer.

Baer met all comers in the admiration brigade yesterday, but slipped out later and was off yachting in the evening. He expects to be away for the week-end. His first official act was to arrange for 25 suits of clothing "for movies, you know."

PLAN S. A. CHAPTER OF WALTON LEAGUE

Pledged to do their part in the conservation of wild life as well as game and fish, sportsmen of the Santa Ana district gather Monday night, at 7:30, to organize a local chapter of the Izaak Walton league. Chapters already have been established at Anaheim and Fullerton.

The meeting will be held in the Otto Haan garage, 505 South Main street. George Sloop, president of the league's state council, will explain the aims and ambitions of the organization. W. M. Clayton, Santa Ana educator, will show stereopticon views taken in the high Sierras. Officers will be elected.

HELEN JACOBS, MISS PALFREY WIN, KEEP CUP

WIMBLEDON, England, June 16.—(UP)—America's women's tennis squad today retained the Wightman Cup, symbolic of Anglo-American team tennis supremacy. The issue was decided when Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., defeated Peggy Scriven of England, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6, in the fifth match.

This victory marked America's eighth series victory against four for the English women, during 12 years of play.

Miss Palfrey, who proved the sensation of the series with her smashing upset yesterday over Miss Scriven's 5-1 lead in the third set. She beat the smooth-stroking English girl at match-point in the seventh with a service ace, and then won five games in a row to lead 6-5. She lost the next game, but took the subsequent two.

When the Brookline girl left the court, she was given one of the most rousing ovations ever accorded any player at Wimbledon because of her strong performance. The crowd rose to its feet and roared its approval of Miss Palfrey's magnificent tennis and a fighting heart that turned almost certain defeat in her match to victory.

The series was virtually wrapped up in the Stars and Stripes when Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., the United States champion, defeated Dorothy Round in the fourth match which opened today's play. The score was 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Jacobs' victory followed two triumphs in yesterday's three matches, in which Miss Palfrey upset Miss Round and Miss Jacobs downed Miss Scriven. England's lone victory came when Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Dearman defeated Carolyn Babcock and Josephine Cruikshank.

England registered its second victory of the series when Betty Nuthall defeated Miss Babcock, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

In the final match of the series, Misses Jacobs and Palfrey scored a 5-7, 6-3, 6-2 doubles victory over Mrs. Godfree and Miss Nuthall. This gave the American team a total of five matches to two in the series.

SWIMMING LESSONS TO BE GIVEN AT 'Y'

Co-operating with precautionary measures being taken against the spread of infantile paralysis, the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. has temporarily discontinued all classes for boys and girls but will begin Monday with individual and adult instruction in swimming given by Thomas Coffin, Whittier college student and swimming star.

The organized classes for children were dropped at the suggestion of the county health department, to prevent large groups of children coming together. The building will continue to remain open for children but they will not be invited to attend for the present. The usual classes for adults will be continued.

Coffin will serve as swimming instructor and life guard in the pool and will give individual lessons in swimming and life saving. He is a letterman in swimming from Whittier high school, Western school of Pennsylvania and the past two years at Whittier.

Pete DePaolo Badly Hurt At Barcelona

BARCELONA, Spain, June 16.—(UP)—Pete DePaolo, noted American racing driver, who once won the Indianapolis Speedway classic, was gravely injured in a racing crash here today.

DePaolo's car overturned in Montjuich stadium where he was making a practice run in preparation for a race tomorrow.

The noted racing driver suffered a concussion of the brain and injuries about the body. X-ray examination revealed, however, that there were no fractures.

Though physicians said his condition was very serious, they believe he will recover.

PRIMO, ANKLE FRACTURED, IN N. Y. HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—Primo Carnera's right ankle was fractured in his championship fight with Max Baer Thursday night, X-ray photographs showed today.

Dr. Vincent Panoni, Carnera's physician, said the former champion will remain in the Columbus hospital several days.

He said Primo will be unable to fight for at least three months. Primo went to the hospital this morning, although everything had been arranged for his entrance since yesterday afternoon, including an extra size bed.

Examination showed that Carnera also had a torn ligament in his right leg.

He said he had sent Mussolini a message explaining everything and that the people in Italy would understand the cause of his defeat.

"They call Baer the giant-killer," Carnera explained. "I am ready to fight any time, all the money to go to the winner. If I lose I am still willing to give Baer $50,000."

"I am not a big bum. You fix it up nice. I can't say those nice things. Tell the American people that I blame myself for slipping in the ring. I was never hurt by his punches. He pushed me over every time. A man can't keep himself from being pushed over when he has only one leg, can he?"

"I saw every punch, but I was so crippled that I couldn't get away. They call him a superman. How, how, how?"

"I am praying I'll get him in the ring again, but big show-off. He is champing now but there isn't any fun whipping a crippled man. I can't understand why the referee stopped the fight."

MILWAUKEE, June 16.—(UP)—Capt. Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette university's Negro sprint champion, and James Jessel, a quarter-miler, left today for Los Angeles to compete in the National Intercollegiate track meet June 22 and 23. GOLF By Art Krenz

While the club is in the action of the downsizing, the head, the anchor of the golf swing, should remain still. If it does, the club-head will travel in the right groove and the hands will be kept in the proper place.

You have heard the expression keep your eye on the ball. It is another way of informing the golfer to keep his head still.

Control of the shoulders is lost if the head is lifted. It results in lifting the shoulders out of their proper plane, and produces topping and other miserable shots.

SCHOOL PLANS OUTLINED FOR LAGUNA LIONS

LAGUNA BEACH, June 15.—Interesting details connected with the high school program now being worked out for the opening of school next September featured talks made Thursday night by Linton Simmons, newly elected superintendent of the Laguna Beach school district, and Maurice Guyer, newly elected member of the high school faculty, at the regular weekly meeting of the Lions club held at the White House cafe. President John C. Gibson presided over the meeting and Addison C. Van Loenen was in charge of the program.

Superintendent Simmons assured his listeners that the people of Laguna would receive satisfactory returns on their investment in a high school, in which connection he added that as full and comprehensive program as possible with a limited teaching force and resources will be given. He explained that while the program would be somewhat restricted for the first year, by the second year the institution would be in full running order, comparing favorably with any other small town high schools in the state. For obvious reasons, he added, the high school library would be limited in its equipment and facilities. Because of this handicap, the speaker addressed an appeal to the residents of the community asking them for donation or loan of suitable books. Volumes dealing with science, history, economics, as well as text books and reference material would be particularly welcome, he said. Members of the Laguna Beach Lions club will be glad to call at any residence for books either donated or loaned to the school, it was announced.

Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., there will be Bible study on the subject "God as Spirit," and devotions conducted by the pastor.

The Daily Vacation Bible school will be omitted this year. Due to the presence of cases of infantile paralysis in other parts of the county, it was advised by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, that all daily vacation Bible schools be omitted.

David Sayers preaching. Music will be furnished by the Methodist church choir.

Special speakers and special music will be arranged for from time to time during the summer.

LAGUNA MAYOR ASKS ELECTION AS SUPERVISOR

LAGUNA BEACH, June 15.—Mayor Frank Champion of Laguna Beach today announced his candidacy for the office of supervisor of the fifth district at the August 28 election.

"In announcing my candidacy," said Champion today, "I feel that my experience for the past 29 years in this district gives me the necessary qualifications to serve every portion of the district, and, if elected, I will give the people an honest and businesslike administration and my utmost cooperation."

Champion came to Orange county in 1905 and was a leading factor in the incorporation of the city of Laguna Beach in 1928. In 1927 he was a member of a committee that succeeded in forming the Laguna Beach Water district and securing the present supply of domestic water for the city and has served as a director since its formation. He was also elected a director of the Orange County Water district. Champion served two years as a director of the Ortega highway district. He is a supporter of the Newport Harbor development and has participated in many other community and county activities.

Brea Ball Clubs Open Season Soon

BREA, June 15.—Sponsored by the Brea Woman's club, the city league baseball nine captained by Perry Thayer will play the second of the double-header game at the opening of the league season at the Brea-Olinda field Tuesday night. The team has won three practice games, having defeated the teams from the Congregational, Christian and Nazarene churches. They meet the team from the Baptist church on Tuesday night.

The line-up is: Harold Daniel, catcher; Thayer, pitcher; Calvin Varner, Bud Easton and Bud Phillips, first, second and third basemen; Clyance Johnson, short stop; Hank Montgomery, left field; Ted Woodward, center; John Killian, right field; Jim Bloom, utility.

A delegation of club women plan to be on hand at the opening game to support the club team.

VOTERS DEFEAT VALENCIA HIGH BOND PROJECT

PLACENTIA, June 15.—Falling short 38 votes, the $200,000 bond issue for building a new Valencia high school was defeated by voters of the Placentia Union Grammar school district yesterday. The light vote cast, 867 of a registered total of 1397, showed that little interest was felt in the issue.

About one year ago Placentia Union Grammar school district held an election and voted to withdraw from the Fullerton Union High school district. Following a vote favoring withdrawal, a large group of residents of the Richfield and Yorba grammar school district, part of the Union Grammar school district, filed an injunction against formation of the district and have held the issue in court. During the campaign for the bond issue, a group objected on the grounds that those favoring withdrawal had declared there was to be a saving of taxes in the withdrawal of the district.

Placentia district, including the city of Placentia, voting at the Bradford school, passed the bonds, 457 to 84. Commonwealth district, also part of the Union district, defeated the issue, 77 to 54; Richfield district balloted 108 against and 17 for, and Yorba district voted 78 against and 8 for the bonds.

The problem facing the board now is to vote for direct taxation for building buildings for the Valencia high school, to hold classes in the grammar school, or to vote themselves back into a contingent school district. The board is to hold an adjourned meeting at 1:30 p. m. Monday, but whether the school problem will be discussed was not revealed by members yesterday.

Robinson; two daughters, Evelyn and Eleanor, of La Habra; a son, James Varney Robinson, and a grandson, James Varney Jr., of Montebello; a sister, Mrs. William Snow, and a brother, Charles E. Varney, also of La Habra.

The following boys put on a first aid skit under the direction of John Desmond Hearn, who also took part, Harold Mutt, Malcolm Maxson, Donald McCollough. The troop was in charge of Johnny Murphy, junior assistant Scoutmaster.

CARNIVAL GROUP ARRANGES FOR BAY EVENT NEXT WEEK

NEWPORT BEACH, June 15.—At a meeting of the Balboa Island Water Carnival association, held last night, the group outlined plans for a second Venetian Nights carnival and regatta to be held on Newport Bay June 23.

Secretary Joseph A. Beek, chairman for the event, announced that for the second carnival there will be 10 stations on the island for watchers to occupy, as compared with the procedure last month, when the audience lined the banks on all sides.

Antonio Melillo, chairman of music for the event, said that plans have been made for 10 boats carrying groups of performers, with the boats making 10-minute stops at each of the stations for their serenades. Many of the organizations contributing their services for the last month's regatta will again participate, among them the Siegfried chorus, under the direction of Harriet Siegfried Underwood, and the Mountaineers from Possum Trot Holler, a Pomona organization, it was announced.

Following the business session the present were entertained by music from some of next week's performers, among them Mrs. Rose Kinley Mellett, Mrs. C. A. Custer, Mrs. Harry Schick and Mrs. Lona Griffin. Secretary Beek and Fred White entertained with a vocal duet, Beek accompanying on the accordion.

Others elected were Rodney Collins first vice president; Dr. A. C. Robbins, second vice president; Vernon Bruders, secretary and treasurer; Dr. M. H. Beach, hon. tamer; Virgil Sparks, tall twister; Lester Frink, assistant tall twister; Charles Lake, Irvine German and J. W. Crill, directors. L. W. Schauer and Ray Johnson were held over on the board of directors.

The date of installation will be announced later.

The speaker touched upon the fight waged by Sinclair for the betterment of wage earners, making brief references to his books dealing with social and economic ills.

"Upton Sinclair is not in this campaign for fame or money, he has launched a crusade for the uplift of humanity the effects of which will transcend the borders of California," he observed.

The main portion of the address was devoted to an explanation of the legislative program outlined by Sinclair in his so-called "EPIC plan," dwelling at some length on tax features designed to relieve the burden of small taxpayers.

Discussing the old age pension proposal, Pickrell said that it would automatically do away with the poor house, an institution which, in the opinion of the speaker, "has no place in our present civilization."

The speaker stressed the importance of electing members to the legislature who are in sympathy with Sinclair's program.

LAGUNA BEACH, June 15.—A suggestion that all new streets which may be opened in the course of community development be named after illustrious personages in the realm of art, thus adding to the distinctive atmosphere which characterizes the art colony, is contained in a letter addressed to the city council by Herbert E. Palmer, of 284 Forrest avenue.

The adoption of his suggestion, Palmer contends in his communication, would bring to mind the circumstances that attended the founding of the city, having been originally settled by a small number of artists who came here to live and work. Moreover, he said, the naming of Laguna's streets after famous artists would in itself be a graceful tribute to the cause of art and lend charm to its community life.

Farewell Dinner Held for Couple

BARBER CITY, June 15.—A farewell dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Upham of Barber City, who are moving to Long Beach, was held Wednesday evening at the Zeigler park in Westminster.

COUNTY BOARD TO GET SEWER PLANS JUNE 19

MIDWAY CITY, June 15.—Final plans for the proposed sewerage system here will be presented next Tuesday to the board of county supervisors by Engineer George Bates.

The cost of the proposed sewerage system is approximately $70,000. Of this amount it is expected to vote $25,000 if permission for the bond election is given by the supervisors, the remainder of the cost to be provided through SERRA. Approval of the amount for all labor needed on the project has been promised, it is understood. Materials must be furnished by the district. Purchase of the land for the sewerage farm must be made by the district.

If the election be held and the bonds passed the approximate expense in the way of taxes for land owners of the district would be $11 per $1000 valuation. It is stated by those in charge, a lot valued at $70 being taxed at 89 cents per year. This taxation would gradually drop each succeeding year.

Considering the upkeep of individual septic tanks and cesspools the committee declares that this rate of taxation would not add greatly to the present cost for the property owners.

The committee in charge consists of Pat Foran, Dr. Russell I. Johnson, Ed L. Hensley and E. N. McAllister.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Donna Gabriel, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To get her partner, Madeline Siddal, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be a girl. She is ashamed of this deception but keeps it up, even when Bill Siddal, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. Amos Siddal, Madeline's grandfather who owns the farm, is blind. Mrs. Planter, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy.

Donna and Bill are married. Meanwhile Madeline has married Con, a circus animal trainer, and takes part in the animal act. Amos Siddal has a stroke. In New Orleans Madeline goes into the cage with the Bengal tiger and is killed. Con is discharged. Unable to get work, he decides to go to the Siddal farm.

From the nearby town he sends a note to Donna. She agrees to meet him the next afternoon. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXV
Mrs. Planter's head was in a whirl. She had just uncovered the choicest bit of scandal it had ever been her luck to come across. Whether Madeline Siddal had gone through a marriage ceremony with the animal trainer or not, whether they had ever been lovers and parted, one thing was certain. The good-looking young animal trainer had come to Lebanon for only one purpose and that was to hold a rendezvous with Bill Siddal's wife!

Women who secretly met men other than their husbands were Jezebels in the opinion of Mrs. Planter and should be ostracized. Madeline might hold her head in the air now, but after tomorrow she would not do so!

At first Mrs. Planter was uncertain just how to make use of her information. She had visions of following the guilty couple and telling Madeline what she thought of her. She soon dismissed this thought as too trivial a revenge for a terrible insult.

If she had been at liberty for the afternoon she could have spread the news to a few cronies who could be trusted to see that it would kindle and flame like a forest fire before 24 hours passed, becoming the chief subject of conversation at Lebanon dinner tables. But Mrs. Planter knew only too well that the person most concerned in the affair might never hear this scandal. Madeline might meet her lover over and over again and everyone in town be aware of it without Bill Siddal learning what was going on. Hadn't Doc Freeman's wife been traipsing around with their boarder since last June? Everybody for miles around knew about it, but Doc didn't. Poor fool! Maybe when he found out about Clara and Bill found out about Madeline, the two men could console each other.

Not that Clara Freeman was as ornery as Madeline. She might have some excuse—with a doctor for a husband and him chasing off day and night, never able to take her any place.

Mrs. Planter recalled, with righteous pride, that when the sewing circle of the church had held a meeting to discuss the advisability of telling Doc Freeman he should keep a closer watch on his wife, she had voted against it. That she had voted thus because the minister's wife was opposed to meddling did not rob Mrs. Planter of feeling that she was a kindly, generous soul.

But no meeting to determine whether or not Bill should be kept in ignorance need be held. In the first place, neither Madeline nor Bill attended the same church as Mrs. Planter. In the second, Mrs. Planter intended to get the information to Bill in some manner and with proof that could not be doubted.

To telephone him would be out of the question. She knew Bill's habits too well to believe he might be in the farmhouse to answer the phone himself. If he was, an answer she would see to it that he did not get the message.

The information must reach Bill in less than four hours if he were to witness the meeting between his wife and the circus performer, as Mrs. Planter intended. She would have to get busy at once. Going out to the farm to talk to him was not to be thought of. Mrs. Planter knew Bill's temper. Eventually he would thank her for opening his eyes to the facts, but she could hear his recriminations when he was first told that Madeline was unfaithful. Mrs. Planter had no wish to take part in such a scene.

Studying over the problem, she went about preparations for the noon day meal. Janie Sabar, one of the chambermaids, assisted, with the cooking—peeling potatoes, onions and carrots, opening cans of beans and peas, and slicing the bread.

Always at noon the Commercial House offered roast beef, roast pork and a choice of two kinds of pie, but on the day after Thanksgiving there was cold turkey and mince pie left, and Mrs. Planter's tasks were light.

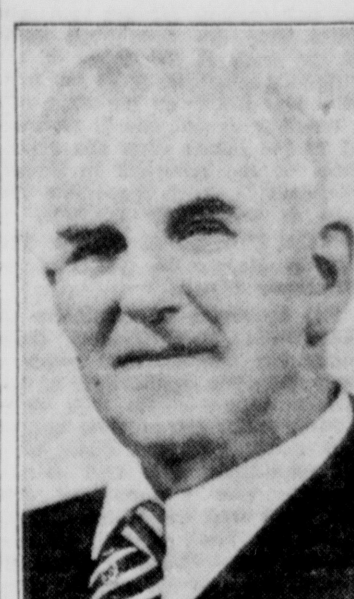

She was no nearer the solution of her problem when Rader came into the kitchen to see if the meal were ready. "There's a crowd in there," he said. "Better fry up some steak, in case the turkey runs out. Got enough pie?"

"Yes."

Clerks from the drug store, Blaney who was the lawyer, besides Dempster, the postmaster, besides some drummers who had arrived from an early train filed into the dining room. Mrs. Planter was busy dishing up food for Mabel's trays, and momentarily put Madeline and Bill Siddal out of her thoughts.

The contract was awarded for the bid price of $300. Contract for the electrical work was awarded to D. W. Collier, local electrician as the lone bidder for the job at $48.

BOOK REVIEWS

A Guide to Civilized Living, by H. A. Overstreet, published by W. W. Norton.

The author of "Influencing Human Behavior," "About Ourselves," "The Enduring Quest," etc., canvases the field of possibilities for artistic living quite thoroughly. He is diametric in his approach for one does resent someone else's telling us how to dispose of our leisure time, if any. He makes a nice approach. "In the future," he says, "we shall grow leisure-wise. While we shall doubtless learn to put more dignity into work and to make it a fulfillment rather than a depletion, nevertheless, in our leisure we shall find the means for cultivating the interests, powers and delights that should be our human privilege."

Under the heading of civilized living comes the matter of being alone and at other times of being social, of building a skillful body, of the development of the sportsmanship spirit, of realizing our environment, of handling material, of traveling, of mastering time, and of taking some things seriously.

It is a book which provokes the individual into constructive work on his leisure time. Everyone has some leisure time, these days, and if a reader thinks in reading this book through that most of the pleasures and joys which the author paints so attractively as the pleasures of living are closed to him it is probably because he isn't getting anything at all out of his leisure time for he isn't even aware of it.

This doesn't mean that he is wasting his leisure time but that he isn't getting most fun out of it. "It is sometimes suggested," says the author, "that people must be taught to improve themselves in their leisure time. There is something offensively moralistic about that—something long-faced and accusatory. We had best trust the more generous view of the poet Macfarlane, when he writes, 'The hours that make us happy makes us wise.'"

"Guide to Civilized Living" is a helpful handbook for the study and pursuit of a fuller, more interesting and self-rewarding life.

The House in the Hills, by Somewhere Ratel, published by the MacMillan Company.

"The House in the Hills" is an engaging novel about a woman's devotion to her children, her steady application to their welfare and, although it doesn't bring her through to the end of her life, it ends with the exemplification of her ultimate success. The book reminds one of "No Second Spring." In that book the woman was the mother of several children with whom she was delightfully companionable. Her husband was a dour minister. The setting was a break coast of Scotland where the community was isolated by fog from the rest of the world—a circumstance which had doleful reaction on the people who lived there. There are pretty, joyous scenes of the wife romping with her children, broken into by the too serious husband and father who thought it very unbecoming for his wife to romp so with the children. Into that situation comes an individual who appeals by nature to the wife, and she to him. She renounces her own happiness which seems to be with this individual, for the sake of her children. The end of the book is a bit dubious for the children all die. It was rather a cynical literary misfortune.

more charming than "No More Spring" for the emphasis is on the children and the mother has more singleness of purpose. She never even has room for more than a maternal regard for the man who loves her. An interesting angle of the book is the study of the childhood conditioning of the husband and father on his adult life. Whether or not one is interested in the theme from the standpoint of the problems in human relationship which it presents, the book is delightfully readable.

"Rebel Destiny," by Melville and Frances Herskovits, published by Whittlesey House.

The survivors of mutineers of "The Mutiny on the Bounty" fame might get together and compare notes with the descendants of the African Negro slaves who three hundred years ago revolted against their masters on the Dutch Guiana plantations and fled to the jungles. The authors of the book went into the Dutch Guiana jungles to have a look at the Africans, found they had preserved in them a bit of seventeenth century Africa more primitive, more native African than anything to be found in Africa today. They were uninfluenced by the white civilization which has influenced the African tribesman.

Frances Herskovits, one of the co-authors, was asked if it didn't need a special kind of high courage to venture into the less frequented corners of the earth. She replied, "I cannot persuade myself I am that brave new woman people like to picture. There was, for example, that incident in West Africa, when we were left out of our car to observe a herd of antelope, and I came back to find a field mouse in my seat. It is dreadful to think that the prestige of white women had suffered in that episode in the Ashanti bush...."

MOO

Summer is over, the old cow said, And they'll shut me up in a draughty shed To milk me by lamplight in the cold, But I won't give much for I am old.

It's long ago that I came here Gay and slim as a woodland deer; It's long ago that I heard the roar

Of Smith's white bull by the bycane.

And now there are bones where my flesh should be: My backbone sags like an old roof tree,

And an apple snatched in a moment's frolic Is just so many days of colic.

I'm neither a Jersey nor Holstein now

But only a faded sort of a cow. My calves are veal and I had lief That I could lay me down as beef; Somehow they always kill by halves—

Why not take me when they take my calves?

"LITTLE MAN" AT WEST COAST SCREEN MONDAY

"Little Man, What Now?" starring Margaret Sullivan, has been booked by Manager Lester J. Fountain to show for four days at the West Coast theater starting Monday. It was announced today. Eagerly awaited here, the picture is just now showing in Los Angeles. The second feature on the program is "Sing and Like It," with ZaSu Pitts and other noted comedians in a riotous, frivolous farce.

Taken from the famous novel by Hans Fallada, "Little Man, What Now?" is declared to be one of the most dramatic and absorbing films of the year. The action of the entire picture takes place in Germany, and concerns the most human and touching story of the times, telling of the lives of young couples' troubles in present day conditions, emerging from the depression.

Douglas Montgomery plays the leading role opposite Miss Sullivan. Others in the cast include Alan Hale, Catherine Doucet, DeWitt Jennings, Hedda Hopper, Muriel Kirkland, Donald Haines, Mae Marsh, Fred Kohler, Bodil Rosing, George Meeker, Paul Fix, Christian Rub and Sarah Padden.

"Sing and Like It" offers a delightful contrast to the other feature. The picture stars ZaSu Pitts and Pert Kelton, featuring Edward Everett Horton and Nat Pendleton. The story centers around the head of a gang of crooks who gets himself and others into jams because of his weakness for sentimental songs. Convincing comedy villainy is contributed by Stanley Fields, Matt McHugh and Joe Sauers.

JOE E. BROWN FILM TO PLAY AT WEST COAST

With all its color, action, blare and beauty, the circus will be shown on the screen of the West Coast theater starting Friday for three days, where Joe E. Brown will appear in the First National picture, "The Circus Clown." The second feature on the program is "The Great Flirtation," the amazingly frank story of the private lives of a famous theatrical couple.

One of the greatest comedians in the history of film, Joe E. Brown, has actually lived the life he depicts in "The Circus Clown." He is supported by an exceptionally capable company, including the entire cast of the Al G. Barnes circus. He brings to his audience a screamingly funny comedy that is replete with love interest, thrills and action and which at times has a touch of pathos.

Patricia Ellis plays the leading feminine role opposite Brown. Donald Dillaway, Dorothy Burgess, Harry Woods, Gordon Westcott, Ronnie Crosby, John Sheehan, Spencer Charters, Tom Dugan, Earl Hodgins and Bobby Caldwell complete the cast.

Elissa Landi, Adolphe Menjou and David Manners have the leading roles in "The Great Flirtation," written by Gregory Ratoff, while the supporting cast includes Lynne Overman, Adrian Rosley, George Baxter, Judith Vosselli and Paul Porcasi. The film concerns the hectic love affair of Menjou, Budapest's greatest matinee idol, and Miss Landi, who he loves. She marries him, although she does not love him.

A Terrytoon cartoon, "Slow But Sure," with World News Events, is included on the program.

Birch turns yellow and sumac red. I've seen all this before, she said, I'm tired of the field and tired of the shed.

Summer is over, summer is over.

OAKIE COMEDY AT BROADWAY ON THURSDAY

"Shoot the Works," which won the hearty applause of a large audience which saw it at a "sneak" preview here last week, will open a three-day engagement at the Broadway theater Thursday. It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Starring such famous comedians and players as Jack Oakie, Dorothy Dell, Allison Skipworth, Lew Cody, Roscoe Karns and Arline Judge, the picture was declared to be particularly enjoyable because of the wealth of music supplied the famous orchestra leader, Ben Bernie, the old maestro, and his orchestra.

Jack Oakie plays one of the strongest roles he has ever been given in "Shoot the Works," as a promoter who cannot resist gambling, even though it costs him success and nearly loses for him a singer with whom he falls in love. His pride keeps him from following the girl, who becomes famous as a vocalist with Bernie's orchestra.

Replete with comedy, the fast-moving picture is sprinkled generously throughout with music. Several new song hits are presented in the picture.

Manager Fountain was able to obtain the latest Buster Keaton comedy, "Allez Oop," which, with a special selection of short subjects, completes the bill. The shorts include "Gulliver Mickey," a popular Mickey Mouse cartoon, a Chic Sale oddity, "Old Shep," and Register World News Events.

"Hold That Girl" is the story of a young detective who falls in love with a girl reporter while they are both covering the same assignment and relates their exciting experiences in battling a gang of big city crooks. She is involved with the crooks and is ordered "put on the spot" and some of the most tense moments come as death bear down on her in a careening car, while her lover speeds frantically in an effort to save her.

A novelty, "Sunny South," completes the bill.

TWO FEATURES NEW CRAWFORD CLOSE MONDAY AT WEST COAST AT BROADWAY

Dashing, debonair Warner Baxter plays the starring role in "Such Women Are Dangerous," new comedy-drama which opened yesterday and plays for the last times tomorrow at the West Coast theater, sharing the screen with a second feature, "Here Comes the Groom," a timely comedy filled with variety and action.

Three lovely women desire the thrill of Baxter's embraces and kisses in "Such Women Are Dangerous." He plays the role of a handsome bachelor-novelist. One of the women commits suicide, and Baxter is accused of the murder. The humorous and exciting developments through which he is extricated from the situation provide an amusing and interesting climax.

Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson, Mona Barrie, Herbert Mundin, Henrietta Crossman, Lily D. Stuart, Irving Pichel, Jane Barnes, Mat Moore, Richard Carle and others form the supporting cast.

"Here Comes the Groom" is an unusual story of a bewildered young piccolo player in love with one girl, but honeymooning with another. Jack Haley plays a hilarious, hard-boiled type, an anti-climatic clown whose antics are always funny.

The supporting cast includes Mary Boland, Patricia Ellis, Nell Hamilton, Isabella Jewell, Larry Gray, Sidney Toler, E. E. Calvert, James Burtis, Ward Bond, James Farley, Snowflake, Arthur Treacher, Ernest S. Adams and Edwin Sturgis.

The supporting cast included Leo Carrillo, Pat Pendleton, George Sidney, Isabel Jewell, Muriel Evans, Thomas Jackson, Claudette Kaye, Frank Conroy, Noel Madison, Mickey Rooney and Jimmy Butler.

Litling music, gorgeous gowns, luxurious settings and Joan Crawford at the head of one of the most brilliant casts ever assembled for a motion picture are ingredients of "Sadie McKee," new MGM production which opens at the Broadway theater Sunday for a four-day engagement. It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The music, supplied by Brown and Freed, ace song-writing team, includes the theme song, "All I Do Is Dream of You," "Please Make Me Care" and "I Looked in Your Eyes."

Joan Crawford plays one of the outstanding roles of her remarkable film career in "Sadie McKee." Franchot Tone plays the romantic male lead. With a supporting cast including such "names" as Gene Raymond, Esther Ralston, Edward Arnold, Earl Oxford, Jean Dixon, Leo G. Carroll and others, the story is said to be one of the most gripping ever translated to the screen. The story was written by the internationally famous Vina Delmar and was printed serially in Liberty.

"Sadie McKee" is a vivid dramatization of the average American girl, with the dramatic background set in a small town and in New York City. Tragedy, love and suspense combine to make the film outstanding.

The special selection of short subjects includes a comedy, "Mr. W's Little Game," a cartoon, "Bovary Daze," a Grantland Rice Sportline, "What Price Speed," and Register World News Events.

KATHLEEN NORRIS STORY AND "SON OF KONG" COMING

"Son of Kong," a fantastic adventure story, and "Walls of Gold," from Kathleen Norris' novel by the same name, come to Walker's State theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

"Walls of Gold," with Sally Eilers and Norman Foster in the leads, is a story that deals with the problem of a young and beautiful girl who must choose between love and the comforts of wealth, and how she learns that gold can prove a wall to keep her from true happiness.

"Harmonica Rascals," a novelty musical film, is included on the mid-week program of entertainment.

But the Easiest to Control

The ordinary household ant is generally regarded as the most exasperating nuisance with which the housewife has to contend. What many women do not appreciate, however, is that it is the easiest to control. All that is necessary is to spread a little of that marvelous remedy, Kellogg's Ant Paste, where the ants are accustomed to enter, and in an amazingly short time there will not be an ant left in the house. It never fails. The winter rains followed by unusually warm weather have made conditions ideal for a big ant season. Be prepared by ordering a package now. Kellogg's ant can be obtained at all drug-gists. Insist upon the original.

Introduced by Mrs. Thompson, chairman of the afternoon, Mrs. Lula Hall, president, gave a word of greeting and then introduced Mrs. Grey to the group. After the department president's address, other department officers were introduced. They included George M. Lockwood, senior vice-commander; Irma Jones, junior vice-president; Sophia Dawson, treasurer; Gladys McDonald, secretary; and five members of the executive board. Grace Willard, past national president and president of Federated Patriotic societies, brought greetings from the latter group.

Past department presidents were Mrs. Geneva Algy, who is also a national patriotic instructor; Rita Johnson, council; Alice Yount, Santa Ana; Cora Abbott, Ida Griley.

The afternoon program included vocal solos by Miss Helen Gillooly; piano numbers by Miss Olive Eleanor Schweitzer; readings by Miss Kristine Nielsen; flag day reading by Mrs. Meta Caldwell; poem, "Rocking of the Cradle," read by Mrs. Geraldine Beall.

New Officers Inducted At Music Arts Club Dinner Session

Music and song, friendly congratulations and readings leading up to an inspiring address, all contributed to the charm of the informal ceremonial which last night attended the advance to the presidency of Music Arts club of Mrs. W. B. Snow, well known musician of the city and organist at First Methodist Episcopal church.

Installation was in connection with a dinner at The Corner House, attended by musicians and their friends from this city and Orange with a number of members of Long Beach Music Arts club as special guests. The dinner menu, planned under direction of Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, was served to the accompaniment of flowers and soft candlelight which make Corner House dinners so enjoyable.

Officers Presented

Mrs. Harry Matthews (Ollinas Enlow Matthews), retiring president of the club, on a northern vacation trip with Mr. Matthews, telegraphed her greetings and congratulations to her successor, to whom she had delegated the pleasant duty of conducting the meeting. Mrs. Snow asked for introduction of visitors, who included Mrs. Alice Durham of the Long Beach group, acting as mistress of ceremonies in presenting to the Santa Ana club its new officers. These were Mrs. Snow, president; Clarence Gustlin, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, second vice president and membership chairman; Mrs. Edward Scates (Sally Lee Scates), third vice president and social chairman; Mrs. J. Leslie Steffensen (Mary Steffensen), secretary; Mrs. Jay C. Hamill, treasurer; Leon Eckles, parliamentarian; Earl Fraser, sergeant-at-arms, and Miss Carolyn Houghton, historian.

Mrs. Durham also introduced among the Long Beach guests, the new president of Music Arts club, Miss Pauline Farquhar, well known artist and teacher of that city.

Program Numbers

Program features of the evening, climaxing with the address by Dr. Bates Booth, member of the U.S.C. faculty and a deputy district attorney of Los Angeles county, opened with the host club's "Greetings Song," with Mr. Gustlin at the piano. Mrs. Thomas H. Willets (Cecile Fross Willets), as program chairman, introduced the beautiful features, including the "Elks" double quartet with its director and accompanist, Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Messrs. Alex Garraway, John Miller, Fitzhugh Gibbs, William Gallienne, Henry Filer, Frank H. Pierce, Dr. H. K. Sutherland and Walter C. Vieira comprise this fine singing group, and a promise of what was to come last night, was given in their clever introduction of themselves in a succession of sonorous choruses. Successive Evenings Devoted to Dinner Bridge Functions

Having initiated a series of quite delightful social affairs with several bridge luncheons of recent date, Mrs. Irwin F. Landis and Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer continued their hospitalities into the current week with a duo of more formal affairs.

The beautiful big home of Mrs. Landis' father, C. W. Ellis, 602 South Birch street, was the scene of the later functions as it was for the luncheon series. There Lieutenant Commander Irwin F. Landis, Mrs. Landis and Mrs. Borgmeyer, last night welcomed some thirty-two guests to dine at the grouped small tables in advance of the evening's contract contest.

Soft candlelight and quantities of flowers enhanced the charm of the affair, and the fine linen appeared at the dinner hour each night. The flowers were especially lovely, and the majority of them had been sent by Mrs. James Irvine, for each of the two functions.

On Wednesday night when Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Landis and Mrs. Borgmeyer received their first group of dinner guests, eight tables were called into service both for the dinner hour and for its sequel of contract. High scores were made by Mrs. Wade Warner and Samuel W. Nau with Mrs. Leonard G. Swales and George Briggs making second high scores. Each was handsomely rewarded.

Last night when the same delightful plan prevailed, high scores were made by Mrs. Will A. Flood and H. T. Dunning, and second high by Mrs. Edmund R. Gregory and Clare T. Johnson.

Guests at the duo of dinners were all from Santa Ana and its vicinity with the exception of Mrs. Lowden of the Bay Cities who is in the Southland as houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine of Irvine ranch.

Bridge Players Enjoy Evening Party With Miss Dunbar

Members of an informal bridge club were entertained Thursday evening when they met in the home of Miss Dorothy Dunbar, 1117 South Garnsey street. Here an abundance of yellow gladioluses had been arranged together with fragrant Japanese lilacs as decorations.

Following the bridge session, first prize of a clever pottery vase was presented Miss Roselind Schilling, while second prize of guest bath soaps went to Miss Marjorie Berkner. The hostess then spread card tables with crisp linens, and refreshments of a frozen fruit mold topped with whipped cream and cookies were served with coffee.

April Bride Is Made Honor Guest at Gift Shower

Complimentary to Mrs. Frank Musselman Jr., the former Miss Evelyn Carney, was a party of delightful features given Thursday evening by Mrs. Dale Park in her home at First street and Tustin avenue.

Entertainment was provided by bridge and hearts, small tables being placed amidst the flower decorations of the home, in readiness for the arrival of the guests. Miss Frances Parks scored among the dozen bridge players, with Mrs. Lloyd Morris holding low score. Miss Shirley Groomer made high scores and in serving the tables where hearts were played. Each of the three received a pretty prize from their hostess.

For the refreshment hour succeeding the games interval, Mrs. Park had the assistance of her cousin, Mrs. Herbert L. Smith, and of Mrs. Harry Miller in arranging tables and in serving the dainty dessert course. This was enjoyed by candlelight, provided by the slender yellow or pale green tapers centering each linen draped table, and giving emphasis to the same pretty colors among the many flowers.

As a climax to the evening, Mrs. Musselman had the privilege of opening an assortment of packages and claiming the variety of lovely gifts which her friends had selected for the home she and her husband are establishing in Santa Ana. Their marriage was an event of mid-April.

MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Dinner
Beef stew with fresh vegetables
Jellied lime and grape fruit salad
Clear tea or black coffee
Calory total 475.
Use steak ends, or buy solid beef cut for stew. Your butcher will have it cubed in right sized pieces around fifteen cents per pound. A family of four will find 2 pounds ample for dinner.
Toss the cubed beef in a hot skillet until well seared, then put it in a kettle with a little hot water, a bay leaf, onion, parsley, clove of garlic, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer until tender (2 to 3 hours). An hour before the meat is done add 2 bunches of new carrots, peeled and sliced, 2 cups of green peas, a small can of corn, and some string beans if available. Even mashed potato can go into this stew to help thicken the gravy and give "body" to the stew.

Cream has a habit of going sour on a hot day. When you have some you might try—
Sour Cream Waffles

1 cup flour
1 1/2 cups sour cream
1 tsp. soda dissolved in cream
2 egg white beaten stiff
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.
Add beaten yolk to cream and soda, a scant teaspoonful of salt as well, and mix with the cupful of sifted flour. Add the vanilla and nutmeg, whip well, and fold in the stiffly beaten white. Makes waffles for three.

Today's Recipe

Current Jelly
Select red currants slightly under-ripe. Look over for spoiled ones, strip from the main stalk but not from the small ones. Wash and drain thoroughly. Put the cleaned currants into a kettle, over a low flame, without a drop of water. Mash the fruit to release juice and simmer until the fruit is thoroughly cooked. Stir occasionally until the juice is well out. Drip through a jelly bag over night. In the morning put the juice over a hot fire, bring to a hard boil and time the boiling from then on for exactly 20 minutes. Take off the fire and measure, and for each cup of juice add 1 cup of sugar. Put back on fire, stir while coming to a boil, then boil just 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir for a few minutes before putting the jelly into glasses.

This same method is perfect for grape jelly. It was one of the first recipes to come my way when I was a young housekeeper, struggling with rosy syrupy jelly. I recommend it to all young housewives, and advise them to store the paraffined jelly on a top shelf for one month, then remove to the fruit closet. The heat on the top shelf is the right temperature for setting a soft fruit jelly.

Au Revoir until Monday.
ANN MEREDITH.

A HEART-BREAKINGLY PRETTY MORNING FROCK

PATTERN 1748

BY ANNE ADAMS

Here is a morning frock that women just love on sight—and before which impressionable males go down like ninny-pins. Maybe it is that feminine little frill at the edge of the yoke that does the trick and maybe it's the comeliness of those little puffed sleeves—and again maybe it's just the whole pretty business. As to the cause we are a bit hazy, but there is no doubt about the effect. If you are the kind of woman who just must improve upon a thing, however good—or if you need two new morning frocks—try making one of plain material with a contrasting yoke and belt trim.

Pattern 1748 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 3/8 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.
The smartest warm weather fashions, the newest fabrics, and the Summer season's outstanding accessories are illustrated and described in the NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK FOR SUMMER. WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Risen Lord

Text: Matt. 28:1-20
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 17.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of Advance
Calvary was not the end of the gospel story. From its shadows and its darkness we merge into a new dawn.

The closing and permanent chapter came with the actual dawning of day as Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to the sepulchre before it was fully light, that they might be near the place where the Master whom they loved had been buried.

How beautiful an incident is this! Here were these women without any expectation that they would find anything but a sealed tomb. If there were hope in their hearts of a resurrection, if they had understood any of the mysterious things that Jesus had said concerning his return, we have no evidence of it in Scripture.

On the contrary, when they came to anoint the body of Jesus they were deeply concerned about the great stone that sealed the sepulchre and about how they should find someone to roll it away. There was not in their hearts any hope of finding an unsealed tomb and a risen Lord.

What a touching picture of love and loyalty! If any power might bring one back from the dead, would it not be the power of such faith and such loyal love? Perhaps it was not, after all, a mere coincidence that it was to such women as these that the living Christ was revealed.

It was not unnatural that the great emotion of the experience should have created in their hearts both fear and joy. They were in the presence of an incredible mystery, yet the thought that their Lord was living, and that they should see him again, was larger than any sense of fear or wonder. Then, as they went to tell the disciples, how simple was their meeting with Jesus. He confronts them in the way, and, bidding them "All hail," enjoins them to have no fear, but to go and tell

S. A. CATHOLICS WILL ATTEND CELEBRATION

A large delegation from Santa Ana will attend a gathering of Catholics in Southern California to mark the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the Holy Name society with outdoor religious exercises in Navy Field, San Pedro Sunday afternoon. It was announced today by Clyde Ashen.

St. Joseph's church Holy Name society delegation will be headed by the Rev. Father Galvin and President F. O. Kaps, while St. Anne's church delegation will be headed by the Rev. Father Marino and President Joe Williams.

One thousand seats have been reserved for the Orange county delegation, and between three and four hundred are expected to attend from Santa Ana. George F. Ravenskamp of Santa Ana is provincial director for Orange county.

The ceremonies will begin at 2:30 o'clock with a colorful procession of more than 400 Holy Name banners and United States flags, followed by lay leaders of the society and church dignitaries. The color guard of the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus will escort the distinguished ecclesiastical officials.

The program is dedicated by His Excellency, Most Rev. John J. Cantwell, bishop of Los Angeles and San Diego, to the heroic St. Aloysius of Gonzaga, patron of youth.

Members of the Sodality from Catholic high schools, academies, colleges and Loyola university, together with several hundred Boy Scouts and the hundreds of laity who are participating in the Holy Name athletic program, will be specially featured.

Robert H. McGrath, diocesan president of the Holy Name Union, will preside, and an outstanding musical program of patriotic and religious numbers will be given.

THE TINYMITES

The pretty maid sat on a stool and shortly said, "Now, as a rule, ol' bossy stands real still while I am getting milk from her."

"However, all you Tinies had best stand far back. 'Twill be to bad, if she starts kicking up her heels. Such things, you know, occur."

"Aw, she looks too kind," Duncy said. "I'm going up and pat her head. With animals I always can make friends. I'll prove it, too!"

"There really is no cause for fright. When you talk kindly, you're all right." Then, when he patted bossy, Scouty said, "That's brave, for you."

The milkmaid then said, "Someone run and get some cups. 'Twill mean some fun for all of you, because I'm going to fill them to the top."

"If you do what I've asked you to, when you return I will be through with milking. I am good, you see, and never spill a drop."

Wee Scouty ran like every thing, exclaiming, "I will gladly bring the cups. I'm very thirsty and the milk will taste just fine."

He reached the milkmaid's house and then was shortly running back again. The maid jumped up and said, "All right, tots, form into a line."

Each Tinykite soon has his fill. Then Duncy said, "I want the thrill of milking your ol' bossy. I once lived upon a farm."

OLD TIMERS OF ANAHEIM HOLD PICNIC TODAY

ANAHEIM, June 16.—Pioneers from all sections of Orange county are gathering in the Anaheim city park today for their annual "Old Timers' Picnic," one of the outstanding annual events of the community. It is expected that more than 300 "old timers" and their families will attend the reunion which is being sponsored by the Mother Colony of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The celebration will start at noon with a basket picnic dinner. Families will bring their own dinners and the D. A. R. will serve coffee. The Rev. T. H. Walker will give the invocation and after that the program will be under direction of L. A. Lewis as master of ceremonies. Edward Backs, son of one of the pioneer families, will sing several selections.

It has been announced that during the lunch hour many of the old timers will be called upon for brief messages or stories of the early days in Orange county. During the afternoon The Pioneer house will be open to the public. The program was arranged by Mrs. Leo Sheridan assisted by Mrs. David Toms and Mrs. Frank Ritchie, general chairman.

ORANGE COUNTY MUST BE KEPT CLEAN

The other evening The Register wrote editorially on some facts that were presented to the Law Enforcement League of Orange county by the sheriff.

These facts, together with evidence that The Register had in hand before, pointed very clearly to an attempt being made by gambling and other forces to get control of law enforcement agencies in the county. We pointed this out in an editorial.

The Orange News, we find, on the same day wrote along the same lines, and their editorial is so strikingly similar in tone that we are printing it herewith. It follows:

"Various rumors that liquor and gambling interests of Los Angeles are seeking a foothold in Orange county and to that end are engaged in a conspiracy to unseat the law enforcement officials whom they cannot control, were brought into the open by the County Law Enforcement League investigation.

"If there is a basis of fact for such rumors—and recent events seem to indicate that there is a planned effort to break down the effectiveness of the sheriff's office—it is time for the people of the county to turn their attention to the situation.

"In Orange county we cannot permit those interests which seek profit through the subversion of law and the corruption of our citizenship to gain a foothold.

"The county has always been free from protected vice and can remain free with reasonable vigilance.

"It by no means follows that Sheriff Jackson is the only man who could effectively fight such interests; but he is the man who is being placed 'on the spot' and it is certain that the gambling and liquor interests will gain little if the decent people of the county come to believe that he is the object of such a conspiracy.

"It is also certain that, to gain any foothold in this county, these interests must first remove the present sheriff. Whatever objections may be advanced against him, his integrity is above challenge and while he remains in office, underworld interests must seek other fields of operation. Orange county is not available for their uses.

"Without regard to the political hopes of individuals, the people of Orange county must meet the challenge of those who would break down the safeguards of law."

The Register does not believe that the editorial department of a newspaper should be used by its publisher to support friends and oppose those who may be unfriendly.

It has editorially endeavored to foster certain principles in government and ideals in social life, and to do so it has favored those men for public office, where there was any difference between candidates, who more nearly represented the purposes and ideals for which the paper was contending.

The field for public service ought to be open to all men, and with those equally prepared and whose aim is the highest form of service to the community, the engineery of a publication should not be used for one against the other.

When the interest of the taxpayer, or the principles of law, the support of our finest ideals and institutions, are embodied in one or more candidates, and are not so typified in other candidates, there is an obligation on all citizens who are familiar with such facts to point them out.

This The Register will continue to do, realizing that the masses of the people have not the means of knowing the facts as thoroughly as those who give their lives to the gathering and publishing of news.

PASSION-AROUSING PLOT FAILS
IN ORANGE COUNTY

We were glad to note that the sheriff called attention to the general peaceful times in Orange county, compared with the conditions in some of our surrounding counties, where hatred has been aroused and hostility created by charges, incriminations and recriminations from one group to another respecting labor.

There was a well-laid plan, that was being carried out, to create this same condition in Orange county. And a wonderful service was rendered this county when our sheriff served notice upon all people that he was going to fulfill his oath of office and uphold the constitution and the law and protect everyone, everywhere, in the exercise of their rights under the law and the constitution.

It is not difficult to arouse the passions of men, through misinformation and untruth, so that they will reach the point that, in the interest of institutions which they cherish, they will commit violence in order to protect their cherished institutions, which, however mistaken they may be, they have been made to believe by misstatements are in danger. This is the way all forms of war are carried on.

Those who are interested in armament will cause the statement to be given out that another nation is arming or that another nation is stirring up animosity against our own. In consequence of this, appropriations are made for the army and navy. Then the potential "enemy" notes it and, without one of the charges against him in the first instance being true, he becomes aroused and starts to arm. So the arming continues until finally, in the hates that have been created, war breaks out.

The Register knew full well that there was no menace existing in Orange county, and it revealed the actual facts. Those who had ulterior purposes in creating false impressions have not liked the work that The Register did at that time. But frankly we conceive it to be as good a service as this paper ever rendered upon any proposition since its beginning.

We think the conditions in Orange county prove it. We appreciate the part that the sheriff contributed toward that end.

UNIQUE PARK RULES

The Department of Public Parks of New York City has drawn up a new set of rules to govern the people making use of the parks of the city. One of them prohibits "arguing with, inciting, or abusing any bird or animal in the park or the zoo."

The language of the last two prohibitions is clear, but we fail to understand how a bird or an animal can be argued with. It has never occurred to us that it is possible to argue with a hawk, or a pheasant, or an eagle, or a monkey, or a seal.

Birds and animals need to be protected against those who would taunt them or poke at them. We cannot conceive that an argument with a bear or a monkey could have much effect upon them one way or another.

Another one of the rules requires that no one can carry a bouquet of flowers into any public park. It can be checked at the entrance as umbrellas and packages are checked in museums, but not carried into the park.

This, of course, is to prevent the picking of flowers within the limits of the park. No one can get away with a nice bouquet on leaving the parks of New York with the excuse that he carried it in.

Such rules ought to be unnecessary, but we know they are not. Never, perhaps, will all people be educated to respect property rights in a park or out of it.

It may be added that it is still permissible to feed peanuts to the elephant and to the monkey, and to debate with the parrot. But it will not be permissible to poke the seal with a stick to see him hop into the water, or pull the monkey's tail to hear him squeal.

This may spoil the enjoyment of some folks. We are inclined to believe, however, that it meets the wishes of the animals and the birds, and also the great masses of the people who visit the parks.

JUSTICE HOLMES STILL GOING

Justice Holmes, retired, of the United States Supreme court reached his 94th birthday last week enjoying life as usual. He is reported as having sent a greeting to a friend of 76—a mere boy to the aged jurist—advising him to stay young.

No one has a better right to give that advice. Until nearly his 90th birthday, the distinguished justice carried on his work as a member of the court. At that age he had earned a vacation from the arduous duties of his high office. Not many can carry on so long. In these days, when the retiring age is being quite generally fixed at 65, Justice Holmes is a marvel.

But Justice Holmes is a marked exception. Very few men are actively worth much to society at that extreme age. Because he continued to function satisfactorily through the eighties, is no reason to believe that all men should continue on so long. Most men and women do well to recognize that there comes a time much before the eighties or the nineties when the younger generation should be permitted to have their fling in the world's great battlefield of life.

Animals Dumb? No!

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

The average man or woman who likes animals and is convinced that his or her pet understands a half dozen familiar commands may be surprised to learn that several "animal dictionaries" have been written.

Gabriele D'Annunzio, the Italian poet, has announced that he will include a complete glossary of the canine language in his new book, "Lives of Illustrious Dogs." The book is to be modeled after Plutarch's "Lives."

Other animals whose vocabularies have been recorded are the monkey, the horse and the cat. An American woman, Miss Blanch W. Learned, was responsible for classifying 32 terms of the chimpanzee, together with the meaning of each. Other scientists have tabulated 12 "words" of the marmoset language and 14 of the gibbon's.

The horse is said to speak with "six words and three kinds of neighing." Cats produce 15 sounds, according to the experts, each with its distinct interpretation. There are 12 "words" in the hen's vocabulary and 5 in the rooster's.

From all this it seems that it is high time that the phrase, "our dumb friends," went into discard. It was always a libel.

Automobile Death List Commands

San Bernardino Sun

Statistics may seldom be taken "straight," but must be mixed with related circumstances and much common sense, if they are to be helpful. According to the report of a casualty company to the convention of the National Accident and Health association, automobile accidents comprise 49.7 per cent of all the mishaps in the United States that bring death, injury and destruction of property.

Contrast was made with the records of horse and buggy days.

Everyone agrees that there is danger in the speedy automobile, too much danger and too much negligence. Well-considered effort is being made everywhere to reduce this hazard. But it is not clear thinking to convict the automobile as an enemy with the bald statement that it is responsible for half the accidents. If 99 per cent of the people of the United States were placed in wheel chairs tomorrow, we should see a record comparable to that just quoted. We would have our speeders and light craters and hit-skipppers as usual, not as deadly, of course, but as numerous.

ON RECEIVING A TRAVEL BROCHURE

Dear Messrs. Tourists Agents:
I quite agree with you
That some day I,
Before I die,
Should fare this wide world through.
I'd like to visit China,
I want to see Japan,
I yearn to go
To Mexico
As well as Hindustan.

Your brochures are alluring;
I'd love to climb the Alps,
And spots where Reds
With feathered heads
Took one another's scalps.
I long to visit Egypt
And climb a pyramid;
Had I my way
Some early day
I'd be the Travelled Kid.

One thing alone restrains me
What time I pine to roam;
If it did not
I'd quit the spot
That I perchance call home.
I'd swarm up Chimborazo
View Greenland's fields of ice,
If but I had
A rich old dad
To ante up the price.

Life

BY GLENN FRANK

A THREE-FOLD PRICE FALLACY

There is no public issue upon which, just now, there is, in my judgment, more loose thinking than upon the issue of prices.

There is a great body of Americans firmly convinced that a general rise in prices is vital to our full economic recovery, and that the slickest trick for reaching this end is a progressive depreciation of the currency.

I challenge the soundness of this contention.

We should not try to raise all prices but only those that have fallen disproportionately, such as farm prices. If we succeed in forcing a general lift in prices we shall but increase the cost of living for the millions. Unless, of course, we force a greater general lift in income. And that does not seem imminently in the picture.

Any single device, such as currency depreciation, if it succeeds at all, raises all prices. It does not produce a selective price rise. It simply is not possible to offset a general rise in living costs by dictating a rise in wages generally, unless concurrently policies make possible a vast forward thrust of business volume and the creation of new profits out of which to finance the increased labor charges.

And, even if we could by edict make wages keep pace with prices, there is no conceivable justification for thinking higher prices generally are desirable. Higher prices are, I repeat, desirable in those fields where prices have been jammed below the line of reason and minimum production cost. But otherwise sound social policy suggests lower prices wherever economically possible. Only so can volume and sounder consumption standards prevail.

It is becoming daily more important that we examine proffered remedies in terms of their ultimate effect upon the day-to-day living habits and living standards of America's millions.

Boys and girls: Graduation Day marks the end of one stage of your growth and the beginning of another. You are about to start your in-between time now and that is very important indeed. These in-between years have a great deal to do with what you are to become by and by.

You leave elementary school today. That is an indication that you have grown to the stage where you are about to leave off being a child and begin on that period where you are partly a child and partly a grownup. As you advance you grow toward the mature end of the period. You are more a grownup than a child, but always you have some of that child in you to keep you happy and hopeful and ready to grow.

This in-between time is trying for you and for your teachers. You aren't sure of yourself and yet you feel that you ought to be. You are as big as the teacher, maybe bigger. You feel that you ought to be as wise and as dignified and as responsible. You try that idea out and the first thing you know you are in trouble. The teachers are annoyed and your parents are troubled. You can't see why. You did what you wanted to do and you thought it was all right and they are upset about it. They think you are mistaken and you can't see why.

That all happens after you graduate. You really don't know just how to manage in this new stage of growth and you make mistakes. Take a commonsense look at the whole matter. Why not go a little slowly at first. Listen to what the high school teacher is trying to say to you. He wants to head you right. He wants to show you the easiest way about. Welcome his suggestions. Do your best to cooperate with him. If you do there will be little of that storm and stress that so often upsets the lives of adolescent high school boys and girls. Remember that you are a child in a large part, you yet. You have to grow out of that stage and into young manhood and womanhood. High school provides the time and place and opportunity for that growth. If you make good use of it you will be well out of childhood and heading for maturity when you graduate the next time. A high school graduate ought to be pretty well grownup and ready for the serious job of undertaking his life-work.

These graduations are not final events. They are markers on the road to growth. They tell you that you have traveled so far along the road to maturity but they point ahead to the next stage. You have a great deal of growing still to do. In fact, you will keep on growing until you grow out of this body and graduate into the spirit. Until then, the more you think about growing, about going forward, about being less childish and more of a person, the more intelligent and the more successful you will be.

Graduations are celebrations of progress. It is fine to reach them and to enjoy them. But remember they are not the end of the journey but stations by the way. Keep right on going.
